Three Presidency Campaigns Will be Directed from National City

Coolidge and Butler Hold Meetings in Planning Details of Fight

By R. B. Armstrong
"Times" Staff Correspondent
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, July 21.—While the titular political headquarters of the coming campaign may be in New York, Chicago and other cities the real political center will be in Washington. Today President Coolidge spent several hours in consultation with Chairman Butler who will head the actual political effort to re-elect the President to four years more in the White House. From time to time similar conferences will be held here and the official notification of his nomination will be made here on August 14. It is certain that President Coolidge will make several speeches in the East and especially in New York State.

Nor is the activity of the Republican party alone concentrated in Washington. The actual motive power of the Democratic party will be here and whatever the campaign activities of John D. Davis are they will be controlled and planned by conferences here. When Davis is notified at Clarksburg, W. Va., the plans and details will all be worked out here and from that time on Washington conferences will determine the scope and location of the hard fighting advocated by Davis and his aides.

PLANS INVASION

La Follette and Wheeler, the radical leaders assailing the old parties, who will make the fight for preference in the Electoral College as independents, will direct their fight from Washington and La Follette today announced that he would stump the entire country, starting in New York and going west to the limit of the time available. Wheeler is determined to invade the Coolidge camp and will make his first speech of the campaign in Boston and from there follow La Follette west on a tornado of speeches demanding the support of all radicals to this independent movement.

Most of President Coolidge's messages to the country will go from the White House to the people of the country via radio except his acceptance of the formal notification of nomination. This will be broadcast from the Daughters of the American Revolution Hall where the international conference for disarmament was held and will reach many millions of persons listening in.

HEAT WAVE IN CHICAGO AFTER GALE

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, July 21.—Another heat wave hovered over the city today and brought sweltering temperatures despite the cooling gale, rain and thunder shower of last night, which swept out of a clear sky.

By 5 p.m. today the mercury had climbed from a humid 74 morning reading to 92, which evening breezes failed to lower, the indications being for a higher climb tomorrow.

Overcome by the glare of the sun, William J. Lawlor, 57 years of age, 4343 South Michigan avenue, collapsed at the corner of Washington and Clark streets. He died shortly afterwards at Iroquois Memorial Hospital.

In the storm of last night houses were struck by lightning, telephone, telegraph and light wires were torn from their supporting poles, and many basements, especially in the Cottage Grove avenue, Wilson avenue and Washington and Ashland Boulevard districts, were flooded.

More than 2000 telephones in the loop, including those in the Federal Building and the Great Northern Hotel, were put out of service. Water in the manholes which soaked the cables was given as the cause of the trouble.

Evanston and Wilmette were swept by the storm, but the other North Shore towns escaped with nothing more than a few large drops of rain. In the Evanston Police Station water stood a foot deep in the lockup, and the two prisoners there were placed in the courtroom over night.

Wolfgang Sends Appeal for Life to Court by Air

SAN FRANCISCO, July 21.—With every legal recourse exhausted except that of successful appeal to the Supreme Court of the United States to save the life of Isaac Wolfgang, application for a writ of error was tonight en route to Washington by day and night air mail, in an effort to reach the national capital in time for action before sentence of death can be carried out at San Quentin early Thursday morning.

Wolfgang was convicted in Los Angeles for killing a policeman who arrested him for stealing a bottle of milk.

FIRE PATROL IS MOBILIZED

Federal Forest Trails to Be Protected by Regular Soldiers; Officials Back Governor

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN FRANCISCO, July 21.—Federal troops to patrol the national forests of California as fire guards will be on the march this week, following conferences here today between United States Army and Forestry Service officials.

With District Forester Paul G. Redington reporting the fire situation "well in hand," it was decided to use "somewhat less than 100 enlisted men and seven or eight officers" in patrolling the national reserves, Col. A. V. P. Anderson, chief-of-staff of the Ninth Corps Area, announced at the Presidio after the conference.

Col. Anderson's announcement emphasized that the soldiers will not fight forest fires, "except in grave and immediate emergency," but will augment forest rangers in guarding the woods closed to the public and enforcing fire laws in restricted areas.

Details of the soldier guards will be stationed in the Los Angeles-San Bernardino region, in the vicinity of Newhall, and in California National Forest. For the most part selected infantrymen will patrol the main traveled roads of the forests on motorcycles and afoot, Col. Anderson said, the use of cavalry troops not being anticipated at present.

"It is expected that these men will be on the ground prior to the end of this month and before the hunting season opens," the chief of staff announced, "because the necessity for employment of troops is mainly dependent on the hunting season."

IN COMPLETE HARMONY

District Forester Redington and Gov. Richardson were "in complete harmony" that the Federal troops should not be employed to actually fight the fires except in emergencies, Col. Anderson continued.

The fires in the national forests of California were well under control, according to reports received today by the Forestry Service here. The Forest Hill divide fire in Tahoe National Forest, Placer county, has been checked and forces of extra fire fighters conscripted to fight the flames are being paid off and returned to their homes, 120 being released today and 250 more to be paid off tomorrow. The Plumas National Forest fire was reported under control, with forty men left on patrol duty.

A fire was reported on State land near Magalia, Butte county, with State Fire Warden L. H. Holland and ninety men on the lines to check it.

Every game warden of the State Fish and Game Commission was appointed a State fire warden by agreement today between the Fish and Game Commissioners and the State Forester. The new fire wardens are being instructed to enforce obedience to all fire laws, invoke their authority to impress able-bodied men into service to fight fires, and to take fire-law violators before the nearest Justice Court.

GREATLY ENCOURAGED

Gov. Richardson today announced the receipt of a telegram from Acting Secretary of Agriculture Howard M. Gore saying that "The department is greatly encouraged by the improved conditions in the fire situation in national forests of California."

State Forester M. B. Pratt reported to the Governor that Humbolt and Mendocino counties, visited personally by him, were free from fire. Deputy State Forester W. B. Rider reported to the Governor that "an alleged forest fire" on Mt. Hamilton, Santa Clara county, recently was in grass and brush and did no damage.

The Governor also made public today a statement by Assemblyman Ernest Dozier of Redding, charging that the "policy of the national forest reserve is responsible for the fire conditions in national forests." While he did not minimize the danger, Dozier said, the national Forest Service must bear the blame "because it has

PERSIANS EXPRESS REGRET

High Officials of Teheran Government Manifest Their Sorrow at Killing of American Vice-Consul

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, July 21.—Minister Kornfeld at Teheran advised the State Department today that the Persian Prime Minister, the Foreign Minister and representatives of the Crown Prince had called on him to express their regrets at the slaying by a mob of American Vice-Consul Imbrie.

The Persian charge d'affaires today called on Acting Secretary of State Grew to express the deep regret of the Persian government over the slaying and to assure the United States that all measures and reparations called for would be fulfilled.

DIPLOMATS CONCERNED

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

TEHERAN (Persia) July 20.—Developments in the investigation into the killing of Robert Imbrie, American Vice-Consul, indicating that parts at least of the Persian government's protective forces failed in their duty of defending his life when he and Melin Seymour, another American, were attacked by a fanatical mob last Friday, have caused anxiety here and the diplomatic body is addressing a serious note to the Persian government, it was stated today.

The assault occurred in a crowded thoroughfare and although it is declared that numbers of armed police and soldiers were present, it does not appear that a shot was fired in defense of the victims. It is even alleged that solders formed a part of the mob.

SABER-CUT ON HEAD

The autopsy on the body of Mr. Imbrie confirmed the report that there was a saber-cut on his head and those acquainted with the equipment of the defensive forces say that only the military police carry sabers.

The Mejliis, the Persian Parliament, in open session, expressed its sorrow and profound horror at the crime and urged the government to pursue the investigation relentlessly. Many arrests have been made among civilians.

BOYS' FATE UP TO ONE

Leopold and Loeb Plead Guilty

Chief Justice of Criminal Court Will Decide on Noose or Prison

Court Stunned as Defense Says Aim is Life Incarceration

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

CHICAGO, July 21.—The fate of Richard Loeb and Nathan F. Leopold, Jr., kidnapers and slayers of 13-year-old Robert Franks, was today placed in the hands of one man—John R. Caverly, chief justice of the criminal court of Cook county—when they pleaded guilty.

Apparently the only question remaining to be decided is whether they shall hang or be imprisoned for a double crime without parallel in this jurisdiction.

Clarence S. Darrow and Benjamin Fachrach, attorneys for the defense, announced in court their purpose to see their clients "safely incarcerated for life."

DARROW'S STATEMENT

"We have no intention of trying to restore them to society," explained Mr. Darrow.

Thus he answered a question which had been widely discussed since the killing whether the combined wealth of two of the oldest and richest families of Chicago, more than $10,000,000, would be used to try to set free their two minor sons.

The unexpected denouement stunned a courtroom crowd of attorneys, newspaper men, court attaches and a few privileged spectators, and upset all plans for the trial, which had been scheduled to begin August 4.

Instead, starting Wednesday, there will be a judicial hearing before an empty jury box.

That the defense was content to await the developments from this hearing was emphasized by the sphinx-like silence that was maintained by all concerned with the defendants.

The boys themselves, their parents, special counsel of the families and the active defense attorneys all declined to discuss the proceedings.

The prosecution was a bit more communicative.

ADMITS SANITY

"The plea of guilty admits the sanity of the defendants," said Mr. Crowe tonight. "The question of insanity is entirely out of the case now. All the defense can offer at the hearing is evidence tending to mitigate the punishment. Whethgr they can establish that remains to be seen.

"I am going to ask the death penalty in the interest of society. I have about seventy-five witnesses and will present all the facts in the possession of the State so that the court may be fully advised as to the exact nature of the crime. It will take from ten days to two weeks to do this."

In their statements to the court, today the defense attorneys acknowledged the correctness of the facts in the case "substantially as published in the newspapers." By this they admitted formally that their clients on May 21 enticed Robert Franks into a rented automobile, stunned him with a blow from a tape-wound chisel and strangled him to death. They thus admitted, too, that the body was conveyed to a lonely spot across the Indiana line, and there stuffed, nude, into a small culvert under a railroad track. They formally acknowledged that the two young men destroyed the clothing of their victim, posted a letter demanding $10,000 ransom from the boy's father, and tossed into a park lagoon the typewriter on which the missive was written.

OFFERED TO SUBMIT CASE

The defense offered to submit the case on a statement of facts by the State's attorney, but Mr. Crowe declined to agree. They also asked that alienists employed by State and defense confer and "iron out differences," but again the prosecutor objected.

"There could be no object in such a proceeding unless these boys were pleading both insane and guilty," he said. "But if they are pleading insanity, the State wishes a hearing on that question before a jury."

The defense explained that their only object was to prevent the case from becoming a "vaudeville show" but Judge Caverly held that he had no power under Illinois law to order such a conference.

Jacob Franks, fother of the victim, was outspoken in his denunciation of this phase of the case.

"This talk about insanity is nonsense," he said. "If ever there was a case deserving the death penalty, this is one. There is some satisfaction of course in their pleas of guilty, as that will save much time."

HUGHES ASSURES EUROPE OF AMERICAN ASSISTANCE

Declares Country Will Co-operate in Economic Revival but Not by Governmental Action

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

LONDON, July 21.—Charles Evans Hughes, the American Secretary of State, whom the Prince of Wales referred to as visiting England "incognito," delivered an eloquent and forceful speech as president of the American Bar Association at the Pilgrims' dinner tonight, interpreting American ideals and explaining convincingly the part the United States could be exepected to take in European affairs.

The dominant note of the secretary's address was that America's devction to the cause of peace could be counted upon, as well as America's purpose to co-operate with Great Britain and others in every way congenial with American institutions in the interest of peace.

For the economic rehabilitation of Europe dependence could be put on American assistance. "And," added the secretary, "it does not matter that this aid is not given by the government."

He put stress on the Dawes plan and the participation of American experts with the liberty of constructive effort, and declared: "We believe that the Dawes plan opens the path of confidence and prosperity. For that reason we are deeply interested in its prompt execution."

Mr. Hughes explained that any attempt to make America's contribution a governmental matter would have meant hopeless debate and no adequate action.

The dominant sentiment in the United States, he was sure, was absolutely opposed to commitments which would promise action by Congress in unknown contingencies.

DISTINGUISHED GROUP

The American Secretary of State spoke before one of the most distinguished gatherings of men prominent in the public life of England and America that has ever assembled in London and his words were enthusiastically heard by 400 members of the Pilgrims and their guests. Remarkable tributes to Mr. Hughes were paid by the Duke of Connaught, who presided, and the Earl of Balfour, who said that the secretary had provided a new understanding between Great Britain and the country across the Atlantic, its people and government.

Mr. Hughes was seated at the center of the great banqueting board between the American Ambassador, Frank B. Kellogg, and the Prince of Wales.

Ranged around them were almost as many Americans as British. Andrew Mellon, American Secretary of the Treasury, sat on the other side of the Prince and nearby were Owen D. Young and Col. James A. Logan, Jr., from the inter-Allied conference; Consul-General Robert P. Skinner, Edwin G. Booth of the United States Shipping Board, and numerous figures in American finance and business, among them Thomas Lamont and A. C. Bedford.

The British notables included Viscount Chelmsford, John Robert Clynes, Deputy leader of the Labor government; Sir Auckland Geddes, former Ambassador at Washington; Arthur Henderson, Home Secretary; the Earl of Balfour, Sir Alfred Mond, and Lords Olivier, Parmour, Thomson and Desborough.

TOAST PROPOSED

After Lord Desborough had read a cablegram from Chauncey M. Depew saying that Mr. Hughes represented the very best American citizenship and statesmanship, the Duke of Connaught proposed a toast to the Secretary of State.

He said that his presence in London at this time was of the greatest importance and added: "We are anxious to take advantage of the admirable report drawn up

FINANCIERS TO DECIDE

Reparations Plan Submitted

Allied Conference Experts Ask Bankers to Rule on Proposed Penalties

Report Provides for First Lien on German Assets to Secure Big Loan

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

LONDON, July 21.—Upon the reception which world financiers accord the report of the committee of defaults and sanctions, for the first time officially published tonight, will depend further developments in the inter-Allied conference which is seeking to launch the Dawes plan to solve the problem of German reparations.

This was the view expressed by careful observers after it was learned that the financial delegates to the conference had a prolonged meeting this afternoon with Sir Montagu Norman, governor of the Bank of England, and Thomas Lamont, representing the firm of J. P. Morgan & Co. of New York.

Meanwhile the atmosphere about the conference continues one of hopeful anxiety. There are no grounds for pessimism, but clearly the note of optimism, in order to carry weight now, must come from the financiers who are to advance a loan of £40,000,000 to Germany with which to finance the Dawes plan. As the committee report, now available to bankers, sets forth safeguards to surround this loan, the bankers themselves must be the judges of their sufficiency.

ISSUES AT STAKE

The momentous issues at stake—since it is admitted on all sides that the Dawes report must stand or fall on the loan—forbid prophecy except on the part of prospective underwriters.

The text of the report of the committee on defaults and sanctions confirms the digest of the provisions already carried in dispatches. It is provided that the Reparations Commissioh, enlarged to include an American member, shall be the sole judge as to whether Germany has made a default under the Dawes plan. This report, which it is proposed to incorporate into a protocol, further provides that in any contingency, including both default and resultant sanctions, the holders of the proposed German loan shall have a priority claim on all of Germany's state assests. Provision is

AMERICAN FLYERS LAUDED

British Official Says Enthusiasm and Thoroughness of Army Men are Marvel to People

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

LONDON, July 21.—The intense energy with which the American round-the-world flyers have attacked the task of refitting their planes for the last lap of their globe-encircling trip, has drawn a statement of the highest praise and admiration from H. G. Bentley, manager of the Blackburn Aviation Company of Brough, where the work is being done. The Evening News of Brough quotes Mr. Bentley as follows:

"We simply admire and admire and admire these Americans. Their thoroughness and the fierce manner in which they attack the dirty work which they know must be done in connection with the refitting and adjusting of their machines are wonderful."

NAVY PREPARES

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEWPORT (R. I.) July 21.—The Navy today began its task of keeping watch below while the world flyers soar over the Atlantic on the homeward leg of their journey. The cruiser Richmond, flagship of Rear-Admiral Thomas P. Magruder, commanding the light cruiser squadron, slipped out of this port today, the advance guard of about a dozen naval vessels, which will be stationed along the route of the aviators from England to Scotland and thence by way of the Orkney Islands, Iceland and Greenland to the North American continent on the bleak coast of Labrador and onward across Newfoundland and Nova Scotia to Boston. The destroyer flotilla here will depart this week to assist in the work.

The Richmond will be joined in British waters by the cruiser Raleigh and two destroyers from the European squadron and the four warships will guard the flight from England to the Orkneys and thence to Iceland. The cruiser Milwaukee, now at Halifax, will distribute supplies to the various points where the flyers are scheduled to stop. The destroyers will be strung out along the leg from Greenland to Labrador.

By this method the Navy Department hopes to be in continuous touch by radio with the men who are making history in the air. The installation in England of sending and receiving apparatus on the flagship will enable Lieut. Lowell H. [illegible] the flight commander, to communicate at all times with Admiral Magruder on the Richmond or with others of the warcraft along the line.

WILL BE IN POSITION

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, July 21.—Navy ships designated to safeguard the passage of the Army world flyers from Europe to the Labrador coast will be in position by August 1, ready to render assistance in any emergency.

The departure of the flyers from England before that date is not expected here, despite reports to the contrary. Lieut. Lowell H. Smith, commander of the flight, has been informed that the ultimate success of the flight is to be the first and foremost consideration and that speed is a secondary object.

Declares Dawes Plan Offers Solution of Problems

by that distinguished man, Gen. Dawes, which we hope will be the ground work of a lasting advance in the troublesome question besetting the world since the Great War."

The Prince of Wales supported his grand uncle's toast. He recalled the Pilgrims' dinner in New York in 1919 and says he hopes to set sail for American soil again this fall. It would be a brief, flying visit, said Wales.

"I always keep in mind the possibility of a tour of the United States," he continued, "and I always look forward to a tour that will enable me to see the country better. But this fall it will be impossible to accept many of the kind invitations from New York and all other parts of the country which are reaching me."

FORM UNIMPORTANT

Secretary Hughes, in promising that American assistance in necessary measures for economic rehabilitation of Europe may be counted upon, declared that "it does not matter that this aid is not given by the government."

"I may give it as my conviction," he continued, "that had we attempted to make America's contribution to the recent plan of adjustment a governmental matter, we should have been involved in a hopeless debate and there would have been no adequate action.

"We should have been beset with demands, objections, instructions. This is not the way to make an American contribution to economic revival.

"You have the Dawes plan and you have had the participation of American experts with the liberty of constructive effort, which was essential because it was undertaken in the only way in which success was possible. When you deal with economic rehabilitation, you doubtless have in mind such contribution as America may be able to give in disinterested advice and later in participation in the absolutely essential loan."

FAITH IN DAWES

"The important, indeed, the indispensable, thing is that methods should be contrived and that your disposition should be such, that assistance of that sort can be rendered.

"All discussions will be futile unless the arrangements ultimately made satisfy the investing public. We appreciate the difficulties, but we believe that the Dawes plan opens the path of confidence and prosperity. For that reason, we are deeply interested in its prompt execution."

"My confidence that a way will be found to surmount all the existing difficulties lies in the fact that failure would invite chaos. There is no gain to any one in that. On the other hand, going forward with reasonable measures to put the plan into effect gives hope to all."

Mr. Hughes led up to his specific reference to the deliberations now in progress in London in an effort to find a way to put the Dawes plan into effect by saying that he was "off duty tonight" and that his status was that of "a sympathetic and unofficial observer."

He was also, the Secretary continued, returning in an informal way the visit of the Prince of Wales to the United States and took the opportunity to reaffirm President Coolidge's desire that there should be further conferences for limitation of armaments "as soon as the time is opportune."

EXPLAINS POSITION

The American Secretary then undertook to explain the reasons that compelled the United States to make its aid in the reparations tangle available as a private matter, and not through governmental action.

The American press, he said, expressed American sentiment from all points of view; American finance spoke for American investors "who did not look to the government for either advice or security" and American philanthropy needed no government "spur."

"These are the protest voices of America which do not wait for political action," said Mr. Hughes. "These are the outstretched arms of helpfulness which do not depend upon the muscular reactions of government."

When the question was raised abroad as to what America would do or say, Mr. Hughes continued, it must also be asked: "To what America do you put the question? To American finance, sentiment, philanthropy or the American government?" It did not make for better understanding, he added, to arouse expectations "which cannot be satisfied."

"It must be quite apparent to you," the secretary continued, "that in the international field our capacity for governmental action of a sustained character depends upon a predominant sentiment which brings the authorities of government into union of effort. There is no promise of helpfulness abroad in division at home."

DIFFERENT TRADITION

Great Britain and the European nations, Mr. Hughes said, have clearly perceived national interests "often supported by a keen racial consciousness."

"We, too, have our interests," he continued, "but in the field of European controversies they are more remote than yours, not as direct as yours, and, with respect to such controversies, we have a different tradition. When American interests are directly involved and clearly perceived by our people, we are capable of unity of sentiment and action and in such a case our constitutional methods are no hindrance to efficiency as we showed in the great war. But when as a nation we are relatively disinterested, the very fact of that disinterestedness which may excite your appeal gives opportunity with us for the most acute division of sentiment among a people drawn from many races and countries who are still bound by ties of sentiment and interest to many lands.

"Dominant sentiment, I am quite sure, is absolutely opposed to commitments which would promise the action of Congress in unknown contingencies. Our people insist upon their liberty to form their decisions as contingencies arise. But our people have a passion for peace; you may count upon America's devotion to this cause and upon our purpose to co-operate with you and with others in every way that is congenial with our institutions in the interest of peace."

Mr. Hughes said he was especially glad to assure his hearers that they could count on American support "on fair terms of institutions of international justice."

He pointed to "the platforms of both the great political parties upon this subject" as well as to utterances of President Coolidge in this connection.

"AERIAL BUM" FINDS IT EASY

Army Officer "Hooks" Planes from San Antonio and Way Points to Denver

DENVER, July 21.—Denver's first aerial "bum" hopped off an army airplane at Lowry Field, stretched his legs and announced that beating one's way by air wasn't at all difficult.

The "flying tramp" is Lieut. C. M. Mitchell of Fort Logan, who wanted to rejoin Gen. Malone, commander of the post, after being sent to San Antonio on court-martial duty.

"You can return to Denver," said the commander at Fort Sam Houston, San Antonio, "but the government can't pay your way."

Mitchell was worried only for a minutes. He said good-bye to his companions, hoofed it over to Kelly Field and "begged" a ride in a plane to Fort Sill, Okla. At Fort Sill he "hooked" a plane coming to Denver, and dropped off at Lowry Field Tuesday.

"The air tramp has it all over the old-style railroad bum," said Mitchell. "No brakies up in the air, no cinders, no town marshals, and it took me only twenty hours for the whole trip."

AMERICAN LAWYERS WELCOMED TO BRITAIN

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

LONDON, July 21.—With ceremonies elaborated by many centuries of usage, nearly 3000 American and Canadian lawyers today were welcomed to England in ancient Westminster Hall, whose walls have stood while thirty kings and queens have come and gone. Striking the keynote of the visiting delegates' pleasure over the cordiality of their welcome, Secretary of State Hughes pointed out that he and his fellow-lawyers of the United States came with no political ends to serve, no differences to compose and no policies to advance, except that of understanding and good will.

The ceremony was dignified and colorful. The visiting lawyers and their families crowded the main auditorium, while on the platform stood wigged and robed rows of King's counsels and delegations of Canadian and American lawyers, the latter including Mr. Hughes and Associate Justices of the United States Supreme Court, George Sutherland and Edward T. Sanford. The Lord High Chancellor preceded by the tipstaff and mace bearer and followed by high judges and law lords in their scarlet robes and white fur collars, took seats in the center of the platform.

The English Attorney-General addressed the Chancellor and presented the guests, the members of the American Bar Association. R. W. Dibbin, president of the Law Society and James Aikens of Canada added short welcoming addresses. The Chancellor then delivered his official address of welcome, whereupon Mr. Hughes responded.

"Of all international contacts," Mr. Hughes said, "none could be happier than this. We have no political ends to serve, no differences to compose, no policies to advance, except the highest of all—the policy of understanding and good will. The fact that we are here is more eloquent than anything we can say. We come to tighten the bonds of friendship."

OUTLINES PROGRESS OF LAW

The secretary devoted a large portion of his address to the birth and progress of the common law. He gave an outline of its part in the American theory of government and talked at length of the working out in practice of the parts the courts were assigned in protecting the rights of the individual as set forth in the Constitution.

"Many, probably most of us," he said, "are bound to you by ties of blood, but even stronger is the sense of the spiritual kinship that we are all privileged to have with those who in this island developed the institution of liberty which were brought to the New World and were so fondly cherished that they were safeguarded in an unprecedented manner.

"We come in the spirit of fraternity which has triumphed over the diversities of the forty-eight commonwealths in our Union, because it is, in truth, the spirit of the larger fellowship represented here today in which differences of particular interest and environment cannot avail to obscure the community of tradition of those who have been trained according to the standard and the method of the common law.

NEED FOR JUSTICE

"We come with even a larger aim than the enjoyment of fraternal association, in order that by these agreeable interchanges and more intimate knowledge of each other we may promote a clearer appreciation of our privilege, opportunity and responsibility as ministers of justice in a world which needs justice and the reasonableness which makes justice possible.

"The common law was treasured as a part of our birthright and inheritance. The ten talents that we thus received have been employed so profitably that we are almost overcome by the wealth that has flowed from the investment. The commonwealths in our Union of States, each sovereign within its sphere, are producing laws at a rate which has filled us with anxiety lest no one should be able to know the law. The fertility of the legislative soil is our despair. Our lady of the common law has had an embarrassing progeny. Courts are pouring out decisions in such numbers that only the makers of encyclopedias can keep track of them.

"It is, of course, inevitable that, with the legislatures and courts of forty-eight States constantly deciding and legislating, we should have not only multiplicity but diversities of laws, which our efforts to establish uniform laws, especially in relation to the important transactions of commercial life, have modified only in a limited degree.

GROWING SOLIDARITY

"But before you have recovered somewhat from your surprise at these diversities you will then have a new surprise and a far more lasting impression of the essential unity, despite all these differences, a unity which makes us, in our complex and intimate relations in our vast international commerce and network of activities, one people with a constantly increasing consciousness of solidarity, a unity which has been victorious over the bitter factional animosities of the past and over the differences in origin in the colony settlement, in climatic conditions and in particular interests; in a unity which you will not fail to perceive has its root in the common conceptions of the fundamental principles of law and liberty.

"The spirit of the common law is opposed to those insidious encroachments upon liberty which take the form of an uncontrolled administrative authority—the modern guise of an ancient tyranny not the more welcome to intelligent free men because it may bear the label of democracy. There is still the need to recognize the ancient right—and it is the most precious right of democracy—the right to be governed by law and not by officials—the right to reasonable, definite and proclaimed standards which the citizens can invoke against both malevolence and caprice."

The remarks of the American Secretary of State were received with great enthusiasm. His address was often interrupted by applause. Justice Sutherland also make a short response to the address of welcome.

BEANS CAUSE EXCITEMENT

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PORTLAND (Me.) July 21.—A pot of baked beans caused all sorts of trouble here when a housewife left her kitchen to visit the neighbors. The beans burned, filled the room with smoke, scared a passerby, who pulled in an alarm for the fire department and brought a throng of people to watch the rescue of the beanpot.

LEOPOLD, LOEB PLEAD GUILTY

even after they had been warned of its possibility by Judge Caverly did not noticeably fease Loeb and Leopold. They went back to their cells laughing and talking eagerly and speculating about the size of the headlines their sudden change of front would inspire. Both scorned a suggestion that they had been nervous at the hearing, but admitted that they were glad "the first day was over."

"Was Attorney Darrow's move to plead guilty a surprise to you?" they were asked.

BOYS KEEP SILENT

"We're not allowed to say," said Leopold quickly. "Ask us about anything else but ourselves."

They did more questioning than the reporters. They were curious about the arrangements of the courtroom and asked how large a crowd waited outside the building. Any information that fed their ego they listened to eagerly.

"I'll bet we're all over the front page," commented Loeb.

"There certainly was a commotion when Mr. Darrow moved to plead guilty," he added.

"Better not talk any more about that," cautioned the conservative Leopold. "Let's talk about something else."

But Loeb persisted.

"What is it the judge says when it is all over?" he asked.

"The court finds you——"

"Shut up," ordered Leopold, and both of them perhaps recalling that time when it would "be all over" and the judge would pronounce sentence, was not far away, did so.

Sheriff Hoffman announced that extra precautions would be taken to prevent the youthful slayers from committing suicide.

"I do not know that they will make any attempt," he said. "But with their plea of guilty in, and the possibility that they may be sentenced to death staring them in the face, they may try it. Extra guards will be stationed at the cells night and day to watch them, and a careful inspection will be made of their food to see that it is not poisoned."

PARENTS SHOW ANGUISH

In marked contrast to the air of indifference manifest by the accused youths was the anguish and suffering portrayed on the faces of their relatives who saw them plead guilty to two crimes, each punishable by death.

Nathan Leopold, Sr., father of one of the boys, and Foreman Leopold, young Nathan's brother, represented the Leopold family, while next to them sat Jacob Loeb, uncle of young Richard, and Allen Loeb, Richard's brother.

While the elder Loeb wept, his nephew placed a comforting arm about his shoulders and held a hat before his face when a photographer attempted to register the incident. The father of Leopold, however, sat in quiet dignity as his son entered a plea of guilty. Members of both families refused to comment on the proceedings.

Wealth, which many people believed might save the youths from the consequences of their act, was held partly responsible for the pleas of guilty by Clarence Darrow, chief of counsel for the defense.

WEALTH IS HANDICAP

"If these boys were poor," he said, "I am confident I could get a verdict of acquittal. Their wealth is a tremendous handicap."

"Their parents want them locked up for life," he said. "They will never again be free to walk the streets. We would not want them to be.

"We have thrown ourselves upon the mercy of the court because I firmly believe that nowhere in this broad land could there be gotten together a fair-minded and impartial jury to try the case. Some would say they had no opinions, but they would have, most of them subconsciously."

Mr. Darrow said he found it difficult to convince anyone that the move today by the defense is sincere.

"They all seem to think there's something tricky about it," he observed. "I think we did the best thing we could for these two boys. Afterwards you can always say that it was not the best."

Among alienists who probably will take the stand for the defense, he said, are Doctors James Whitney Hall and William J. Hickson of Chicago; Dr. William A. White of Washington; Dr. Karl Bowman of Boston, and Dr. Ralph Hamill.

WARM ELECTION CAMPAIGN SEEN

"Stormy and Hotter" is Expert Prediction

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, July 21.—"Stormy and hotter!" is an expression rarely if ever heard in connection with weather predictions. It is the campaign forecast for 1924.

Amiably disposed people who have jumped to the conclusion, because the Republicans and Democrats have Presidential candidates who are conservative in tendency and because third, fourth and so on parties never have a look-in, that this year's campaign will be quiet and uneventful are assured that they have another jump coming.

Calvin Coolidge and John W. Davis may be as alike as two peas in a pod—not saying that they are—and Robert Marion La Follette and the six or seven other additional candidates for the Presidency may not have a ghost of a chance—not saying that they haven't—but that doesn't mean there will not be a real fight before the votes are counted.

On the contrary, every indication points to one of the bitterest and most intense contests since 1884, not excepting 1896, when free silver was an issue, or 1912, when Theodore Roosevelt headed the Republican forces of revolt. In 1896 Bryan expressed considerable concern lest mankind be crucified upon a cross of gold and labor have a crown of thorns pressed upon its brow, and there were bolts in both major parties, the silver Republicans flocking over to Bryan and the gold Democrats conducting a little side show all of their own. There was some little excitement and the election was close.

However, the excitement was essentially to the recognized fact that the result might turn upon one pivotal State. Nobody but bankers and silver-mine owners and the "Boy Orator of the Platte" really got "all het up" over it.

In 1912 Theodore Roosevelt was appreciably wrought up over the idea that a steam roller had been used by the Taft organization to flatten out all opposition to the then President, and he led the hosts of those who didn't like that sort of thing to take a stand at Armageddon and do battle for political righeousness. Nevertheless, the excitement of that campaign was not extraordinarily intense.

The result in 1916 was close, but there was little about the campaign that was feverish, and in 1920 the striking feature of the battle was a good-natured purpose on the part of the people to make Harding's election as nearly unanimous as possible.

But harking back to 1884—there was a campaign of the kind that tries men's souls. Blaine, the "plumed knight," had been the stormy petrel of the Republicans for two decades. His leadership was the kind that commanded the most devoted and the fiercest loyalty and provoked the most savage and furious opposition.

In 1880 Blaine had been the McAdoo of a Republican national convention—he had the largest number of delegates of any of the candidates for the Presidential nomination but could not swing a majority into line. In the end, after a six days' struggle and thirty-five ballots, he forced the nomination of Garfield, and nursed his own White House ambitions for another four years. Then when he did attain the nomination he found his party rent with bitter factionalism and through the injection of the church issue religious fanaticism set the country on fire.

It was a campaign when families were split asunder, brother was arrayed against brother and father against son, when thousands upon thousands of citizens neglected their business or work for weeks and devoted themselves entirely to politics.

No great national issue or policy was involved, and arrayed against Blaine was the cold, austere Cleveland, almost unknown outside his own State, with little in his personality to stir his adherents to frenzied fury. There really was no occasion for the injection of the church question into the contest. Blaine himself was the son of a Scotch Presbyterian father and a Catholic mother and was not unfriendly to the Catholic Church.

But when the Rev. Burchard, speaking in advocacy of Blaine's election, styled the Democratic party as "The party of Rum, Romanism and Rebellion" the fuse was fired.

Political observers who are putting out the "stormy and hotter" forecast for the 1924 campaign call attention to the fact that the Democratic party has just been going through a family quarrel comparable to the Republican troubles of '76, '80 and '84. And they likewise point out that, although there is no real reason for it, the church question has again been raised and in the light of history is likely to be magnified rather than minimized and thrust aside.

And then there is "Battling Bob" LaFollette and again the call to Armageddon. If the Wisconsin Senator retains a fair measure of his physical strength and his political fervor it is an odds-on bet that the campaign will be a sizzler. President Coolidge and John W. Davis, the Democratic nominee, if left to themselves, might conduct a cool and eminently dignified contest—men of their temperaments rarely engage in fights—but LaFollette is relied upon by his enemies as well as his friends to make it snappy and scrappy.

TABLE ATTACK ON GOV. RICHARDSON

A resolution attacking Gov. Richardson for his attitude toward the use of Federal troops to fight forest fires was sponsored in the City Council yesterday by President Workman. The resolution thanked President Coolidge for his offer of troops and added that "Gov. Richardson be requested that hereafter in this or any other crisis take advantage of any other of Federal aid and to bear in mind that the welfare of the people of the State of California demands that its water supplies be protected by the preservation of its great national forests."

"That resolution is insulting to the Governor," declared Councilman Mallard.

"As a member of the Legislature," declared Councilman Baker, "I want to protest against this resolution. The Governor was grateful for the offer of Federal troops, but the crisis had passed, and there was no necessity for accepting the Federal troops."

"We should be very sure of our ground," said Councilman Wheeler, "before we adopt this resolution."

Councilman Mallard again attacked the resolution, saying that Gov. Richardson was not his (Mallard's choice,) but in fairness to the Governor, he said, the City Council had no right to instruct the Governor what to do.

"The Governor," said Councilman Mallard, "did just right in this matter of not accepting Federal troops. The crisis had passed. This resolution does not look good to me."

So President Workman referred the resolution to the Public Service Committee.

Councilman Baker said: "The Workman resolution—that part of it referring to the Governor—was a reflection upon the Governor and virtually accused him of being derelict in his duty. I could not vote for this resolution, although there was no objection to that part of the resolution thanking the President for his offer of Federal troops to help fight forest fires."

CAPITAL TO BE DRIVE CENTER

Butler was filled from early morning when he reached Washington, until late tonight outlining the different functions, men and cities will have in the fight to elect the Republican ticket. Mr. Butler leaves tomorrow for Chicago for further conferences with Republican leaders and hopes to have the party machinery functioning to perfection at the time the President sounds the keynote of his campaign in the acceptance of his nomination.

Brushing aside the advice of his family and closest friends, Senator La Follette definitely announced today that he will make a whirlwind campaign all over the country.

La Follette thus finally set at rest reports that because of his age and fear of a physical breakdown he would conduct a "passive" drive, being content to use the radio chiefly and speak in only a few of the larger industrial centers of the nation.

TO VISIT COAST

His running mate, Senator Wheeler of Montana, will make an equally forceful campaign, planning too, to carry the progressive banner from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

Both will formally open the battle for votes in the East, La Follette in New York; Wheeler probably in Boston. After this both will head westward, concentrating in the agricultural Middle West during the days immediately preceding the election in November. In the meantime both planned to have journeyed to the Pacific Coast, a territory which La Follette believes will give him a heavy vote.

Under present plans Wheeler will leave Washington for Massachusetts this week, where he will rest before taking the stump about September 1. La Follette will stay here until the middle of August working on campaign plans with his lieutenants.

He then will proceed to his home in Madison, Wis., for a short vacation. About the time that Wheeler opens in New England La Follette will come to New York for his first speeches. While in Madison La Follette may go to Chicago several times, perhaps once or twice a week to speak over the radio.

SPECIAL TRAINS

If sufficient funds are available both La Follette and Wheeler plan to tour the country on special trains or special cars, using the automobile only infrequently.

When Wheeler accepted the Vice-Presidential post La Follette's friends were happy because they said the Senator, well advanced in age, nearly 70, could leave the "crusading" to Wheeler, a much younger man, physically able to bear the strain of a hard campaign fight. But La Follette would have none of this. Saying he was in the race to win and feeling that the path to victory necessitated almost unceasing toil, La Follette declared he never would be content unless he went out on the road and personally carried his message to the people. His word was final and plans accordingly have been laid for both him and Wheeler to make as extensive a tour as ever before has been attempted by Presidential candidates.

La Follette today announced himself physically able to withstand the rigors of this kind of drive.

Two other prisoners who were seen running at the time the fire started were placed in solitary confinement. Later Johnson confessed to setting the fire. Warden J. J. Smith believes the three men started the fire in order to create a situation whereby they might escape.

NEW YORK, July 21.—Two heads at the window of a suite on the Leviathan tonight caused the crowd assembled there to burst into cheers. Thus Mary Pickford and Douglas Fairbanks were welcomed home.

Douglas and Mary have been all over Europe and have had a grand time of it. They liked Spain particularly, and are coming home to go to work. Neither has anything definite in mind, however. He said he could not understand Mr. Griffith's attitude.

"He has a three-year contract," he said, "and we expect him to keep it."

JAPANESE SHIP CREW DROWNED

Fifty-seven Perish as Liner Goes Down in Typhoon

One Survivor Floats Week Before Picked Up

Sinking of Steamer is Laid to Unseaworthiness

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

TOKIO, July 21.—Fifty-seven persons were drowned the 11th inst. when the Nippon Yusen Kaisha freighter Matsuyama Maru foundered off Goto Island, near Kyushu, the office of the line reported today. The liner had been overdue several days. Today's report was the first news of her fate, as she carried no wireless.

The ship carried down with her all her officers and crew except one fireman, who was picked up by a trawler and brought to Kobe. She carried no passengers.

The Matsuyama Maru, an old vessel, left Keelung, Formosa, the 7th inst. for Yokohama. Her owners had had vessels searching for her for several days along her regular route between Formosa and Japan.

The survivor, whose name is Fukuoka, said that a typhoon, which the general unseaworthiness of the ship rendered her unable to ride out, caused the disaster.

Fukuoka, who drifted helplessly on a raft near the scene of the wreck for a week before he was picked up by the fishing vessel Chihaya, said he had no food and but little water.

Fukuoka said the freighter began to fill with water soon after leaving Keelung, when she ran into rough weather. The crew battled desperately at the pumps, seeking to keep down the encroaching sea, but their efforts were unavailing and the steamer went down near midnight on the night of the 11th inst. when she was two days out of port. At that time she was believed to be within 150 miles of Nagasaki.

Several members of the crew survived the sinking, Fukuoka said, and lived for a few days on rafts, but all perished of hunger or thirst before the trawler hove in sight. Fukuoka said he saw one British and one Japanese steamer pass during the time he was adrift on his raft, but that he was too weak to hail either.

The Matsuyama Maru had a cargo of 3000 tons, mostly sugar.

METEORIC IRON IS STRUCK

Long Sought Mass on Mountain Near Flagstaff Said to Have Been Hit at 1403 Feet

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

FLAGSTAFF (Ariz.) July 21.—Word has been received that the long-sought meteoric iron mass has been struck at Meteor Mountain, forty-four miles east of Flagstaff. At 1403 feet of depth, a rotary drill is said to have passed through a soft formation and to have ground into something so hard that the drill face was splintered and the derrick was about wrecked.

This happened several months ago, but has been kept quiet, while the operating company made determination of the manner in which further operations should be prosecuted.

SIMILAR REPORTS BEFORE

Several times before, within the last ten years, a similar report was given out, with later understanding that only relatively small fragments had been found, but now is declaration that something worth while has been struck. Three years ago the property was leased to the United States Smelting and Refining Company, which is understood to still have possession.

Assertion is made that plans are under way for utilization in glass making of the "rock flour" that fills the great pit that was smashed into the earth by the impact of an enormous meteor. This "rock flour" simply is finely comminuted silica, vitrified by the intense heat of the meteor and the heat generated by the crash.

PIT 600 FEET DEEP

The pit is 600 feet deep and has an average width of 3800 feet, its lip raised 130 feet above the plain around. Over 20,000,000 tons of surface rock was displaced or lifted.

The meteor is believed to have been about 1500 feet in diameter. Its composition, judged by analysis of particles found around the crater, shows 92 per cent of purest iron, nearly all the remainder being nickel, while platinum and iridium are present to the extent of three-fourths of an ounce to a ton of metal.

Minute diamonds also have been found in the metal. Mainly the exploration for years has been prosecuted by a Philadelphia company headed by D. M. Barringer.

OFFICER IN BOY KILLING ABSOLVED

Fatal Shooting at Ione Industrial School Found to be Self-Defense

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SACRAMENTO, July 21.—Raymond Baker, an inmate of the Preston School of Industry at Ione, was shot and killed last evening by Officer Thomas Dooly, who, it was asserted at the Coroner's inquest, fired in self-defense when attacked by the youth.

The attack upon the guard, the inquest developed, occurred when all but three boys of the cellhouse company had been locked up. Dooly's assistant was absent, having gone for food supplies, when Baker attacked the officer in an attempt to gain possession of his gun and keys and make his escape. Boy inmates testified Dooly fired to protect himself.

Baker, who was 20 years of age, had been placed in the cellhouse company several weeks ago after being returned to the institution after an escape. Baker formerly was an inmate of the Whittier State School.

The Coroner's jury returned a verdict declaring Dooly was justified in using his weapon in self-defense.

CARS DODGE MIRAGE IN PAVEMENT

Apparent Pool of Water Deceives Motorists and Amuses Watchers

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

LOVELAND (Colo.) July 21.—A mirage so remarkable that motorists turned aside their cars to avoid a "pool of water" and passersby could see their reflections in the "water" existed in Loveland.

The story was at first accepted as a hoax, but it came to the attention of so many people that crowds finally gathered at the spot—on Fourth street, one of the principal thoroughfares of the city.

Motorists would swerve to avoid the deep pool of water which apparently stood in the middle of the street. Wondering at its presence on an abnormally hot day, they would gaze back, to see nothing but pavement. Often they would stop their cars and investigate.

Persons approaching the spot from certain angles could see the reflection in the "water" of cars passing by.

Where the pool of water is that was reflected in the mirage has not been determined. But it was one of the principal sports of Loveland idlers to stand by the "pool" and watch motorists try to avoid the "water" and then gaze back in bewilderment at the steaming pavement.

Intoxicated Man Pushing Car Not Reckless Driver

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

DENVER, July 21.—A drunken man pushing an automobile along the street is not guilty of reckless driving.

Police Magistrate Orahood so ruled in the case of Frank Thompson. Patrolman Barry, the arresting officer, testified he found Thompson "all ginned up," pushing a motor car along Arapahoe street between Seventeenth and Eighteenth streets.

"I wasn't driving that car," Thompson insisted. "I was drunk, judge, but not driving. Maybe I was pushing the car. I don't remember. A friend drove it up there for me, and I guess he didn't drive it up to my house. Maybe I was just pushing it the rest of the way.

Magistrate Orahood gave Thompson the benefit of the doubt, fined him $25 and costs for being drunk, and dismissed the reckless driving charge.

NEW WYOMING ROAD OPEN FOR TOURISTS

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHEYENNE (Wyo.) July 21.—More than a half million pounds of dynamite and blasting powder were used in building the twenty-mile stretch of the new Wind River Canyon Road, recently formally opened for automobile tourist traffic in Wyoming. This is believed to constitute a record for the use of explosives in constructing scenic motor roads of the west. The new highway eliminates the necessity of making the climb over the Big Horn Mountains by way of Birds' Eye Pass, the grades of which where not only steep and dangerous in places but also so high that the road was completely blocked by snow in winter. Three tunnels, eighteen feet wide and fourteen feet high, are a feature of the highway. The road was approximately two years in building.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CURSING PATROLMAN FINED AND REMOVED

BOSTON, July 21.—Stephen J. Sheehan, until recently patrolman attached to the Dudley-street station, was fined $10 in the Roxbury Court for using improper language, loitering and sauntering.

Daniel Mahoney of Greenville street, Roxbury, who caused Sheehan's arrest, declared that Sheehan, while in uniform, followed him from store to store, villifying him. When Mahoney complained of Sheehan the latter was examined by a police physician and suspended and later arrested. Later he was dropped from the force.

SILVER PRODUCERS MEET NEXT MONTH

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SALT LAKE CITY, July 21.—Silver producers of the North and South American continents will meet in Salt Lake City on August 6 for what promises to be one of the most important conferences in the history of the white metal. Many acceptances have already been received in answer to the call of W. Mont Ferry, chairman of the Reno Silver conference of 1923. Attendance at the convention is not limited to mine operators, but includes also representatives of smelting and refining concerns, international bankers and brokers, members of the United States Senate Commission of Gold and Silver Inquiry, the United States Bureau of Mines, and nationally known economists, engineers and business men.

EL PASO STAND ON ESPEE TODAY

Meeting to Decide if City is United as to Merger

Vote Also on Attendance at Los Angeles Session

Arizona Traffic Man Assails Selfish Attitude

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

EL PASO (Tex.) July 21.—Whether El Paso shall be united or divided in its protests against the proposed merger of the Southern Pacific and El Paso and Southwestern railroads will be decided at an executive session of Chamber of Commerce officials and members of the city protest committee tomorrow afternoon. Decision will also be reached as to whether or not two special committees will be sent to attend the meeting in Los Angeles on the 25th inst., when the merger question will be discussed.

Up until a late hour this afternoon only 13 per cent of the voting strength of the Chamber of Commerce had been registered against the proposed merger. Of the total voting strength of the chamber, which is 1100, only 489 votes have been cast.

A total of 382 or 44 per cent of those cast were for fighting the merger and 107 or 27 per cent were for the merger.

Chamber directors are somewhat inclined to postpone their positive stand on the merger question until after the representatives meet in Los Angeles. The following men have been named to attend the Los Angeles meeting: James G. McNary, Charles N. Bassett, Charles H. Leavell and Adolph Schwartz. The last-named is now in Los Angeles. William J. Sproule, who spent the week-end here, left today for Los Angeles, where it is reported he will confer with Chamber of Commerce officials there. Members of the city merger protest committee at a meeting this afternoon decided to employ attorneys to represent them in their fight against the proposed consolidation.

IDEAL UNIT SEEN

Information received here today stated that at a meeting of the Deming (N. M.) Chamber of Commerce the proposed merger was approved by all directors of that organization. Deming is not affected directly by the merger, but the feeling is general that it will benefit eventually through increased tonnage diverted to that route.

That the Interstate Commerce Commission is not greatly concerned with competition at El Paso, but rather with through competition from the East and Middle West to the West Coast, is shown in copies of its reports of the proposed merger received here.

Speaking of the combination of the Rock Island and Southern Pacific lines, these to include the El Paso and Southwestern, the report says:

"Such a combination matches almost point for point with the Santa Fe system. The correspondence even as to detail is extraordinary, especially after the supplementary changes herewith recommended."

President Carl Gray of the Union Pacific, formerly regional director under the Federal Railroad Administration, writes that the Rock Island-El Paso and Southwestern-Southern Pacific combination is ideal for a southwestern transcontinental line.

The Rock Island extends from Chicago to the Mississippi River and there explodes. It sprawls all over the map to St. Paul, to Omaha, to Denver, to New Mexico, to Galveston and almost to New Orleans. Its general appearance betokens a failure to concentrate or specialize in any given field. This diversity of activity has left for it, as far as California is concerned, a composite road, whereas the Santa Fe is an entity.

But the predominant trend of the Rock Island is southwestward and it parallels the Santa Fe system as far as it goes in that direction in an unusual way.

TRAINMEN APPROVE

From every point of view it is confidently believed that the merger would promote efficiency, thereby affording better service to the public, and that it would put an end to certain uneconomic practices in transportation. The substitution of direct hauls for roundabout ones was one of the great contributions of the Federal Railroad Administration. This merger would tend to perpetuate those gains.

It is the contention of those who will fight the merger, however, that no intention has been expressed, by Southern Pacific officials, of including the Rock Island in the present merger or even in the immediate future.

That the Order of the Railway Conductors, Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, Brotherhood of Firemen and Brotherhood of Trainmen are not opposed to the proposed merger was disclosed here today when representatives of the organizations notified railway officials of their stand.

The organizations assert that the merger will be beneficial and will bring an increased operating force to El Paso.

PERMIT IS ASKED BY ARIZONA RAILWAY

PHOENIX, July 21.—The Arizona Eastern Railroad Company has given notice that it has filed with the Interstate Commerce Commission its application for a certificate of convenience and necessity for construction of the new line proposed by the Southern Pacific Company in consideration of terms of the merger with the El Paso and Southwestern system.

The route specified is from Picacho, or near-by, to a connection with the applicant's Chandler branch, at or near Chandler, a distance of fifty and five-tenths miles, and for connection with the applicant's main line at Hassayampa, thirty-nine miles west of Phoenix, and thence in a general southwesterly direction to Dome, or near-by on the Southern Pacific, a distance of 115 miles.

It has been understood that a branch line would be built to Florence, from a point on the new line near the Casa Grande ruins, north of Casa Grande town. But the application reads otherwise. It refers to "a branch line, leaving the line above described at a point north of and near the crossing of the Gila River, thence in a general easterly direction to a connection with the existing line of the applicant at a point on the north bank of the Gila River, opposite the city of Florence, a distance of seven miles." This would leave Florence as it is, about two miles from a railroad. The route specified, however, would be nearer fifteen miles in length of new construction, while the line at first mentioned, from Kenilworth, near the ruins, would be only about seven miles long.

President William Sproule of the Southern Pacific while here stated that he could shed no light on the apparent inconsistency. "It's a matter for the engineers," he said.

FLIVVER IN ROLE OF ST. PATRICK

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PATERSON (N. J.) July 21. — Snakes are known to have been charmed by the shrill notes of reed flutes in the hands of Indian coolies, but Paterson can boast what local zoologists claim to be the first case of a snake charmed by a "flivver."

George Mason, an engineer employed by the county highway department, started out for Greenwood Lake in his Ford car to inspect the condition of the roads there.

Mason's route took him over Snake Hill, so named because the road winds unusually there and not because of any exceptional number of snakes, although a few are to be found in the brushwood that borders the highway.

Presently Mason became aware that something was happening under his car. He stopped beside the road, got out and investigated. Wrapped around the exhaust pipe he found a big black snake. It was dead, killed by the heat of the exhaust. Mason pried the reptile loose and brought it back here, where it was placed on view at the County Courthouse. It measured over six feet in length.

THREE AT BANQUET OF LAST MAN'S CLUB

FOURTH SURVIVOR ABSENT; BOTTLE OF WINE GOES TO FINAL MEMBER

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

STILLWATER (Minn.) July 21. With only three of the four surviving members able to attend, the annual banquet of the famous Last Man's Club, was held here today.

John S. Goff, 81 years of age, came from St. Paul for the reunion; Charles Lockwood, 79, made the trip frm Chamberlain, S. D., and Peter Hall, 83, jurneyed from Atwater, Minn. The other member, Emil Graff, 83, was unable to leave his home at St. Cloud, Fla., but sent a letter expressing regrets.

The Last Man's Club was formed here in 1886 by thirty-four surviving members of B Company, Minnesota Volunteers, who fought in the Civil War. A bottle of wine was purchased at the first meeting and it was agreed that the last member should drink a toast to his departed comrades. This year's meeting was held in the First National Building. Thirty chairs, draped in black, were grouped about the banquet table in memory of members who had died.

WATER UTILITIES SEEK TO CONSERVE OUTPUT

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN FRANCISCO, July 21.—About fifty private water utilities in California, faced with an acute water shortage as a result of the long sustained drought period have asked the State Railroad Commission to make a survey of their resources with a view of putting into effect such conservation measures as will prevent actual distress, it was announced today by the commission. A number of the companies affected obtain their water from springs and creeks which are gradually failing, and already have put drastic conservation measures into effect.

How 66 "Open Shop" firms representing the Graphic Arts are helping to develop Los Angeles' enterprises and reputation

1: By setting a good example of how employers and employees can dw and work together in harmony.

We have no "labor troubles." Every man's a man with us until he proves he isn't. Then he goes elsewhere. (And there are few changes in our personnel, other than increases.)

2: By making it possible for business and professional men of South California to get their needs in the Graphic Arts lines attended in Los Angeles—right here at home—intelligently.

The weekly payrolls of our plants (all in Los Angeles) total nearly $100,000.00. You can get your share of this buying power, for your business, if you practise the Golden Rule and have your Printing, Engraving, etc., produced at home.

3: By helping to "tell the world" about Southern California, and p ticularly Los Angeles enterprises, through booklets, folders, catal broadsides and other Sales Literature, which are mailed to all p of the world from this city.

Without the active aid of the Graphic Arts, Los Angeles today would be just about what it was in 1900. The Public did not get interested in Los Angeles simply because the Public had never been "told." Printing told the world. And a good part of the world is still coming to Los Angeles.

4: By this very advertisement you are now reading—we, the und signed, are proving our own belief in you and our confidence in t power of persistent advertising, to build business.

What your business needs is precisely what our business needs. Business—and more business—and still more business. We are getting more business through the efforts we are making unitedly. If your Trade Association wants to find out how competitive members can live and work in harmony—profit by our example. Remember—we are all operating OPEN SHOPS.

This is not in any sense a price-fixing organization

seventeenth hole, made fathe State open championplenty of trouble players yesterday. Fred equaled the world's recthe hole by taking no less strokes to hole out on the tricky par-three green, which swelled his score for the first eighteen holes to 105. This is the first time Barber has been in three figures for over three years. The combination of traps, rough and the keen green proved too much for players other than Barber, Clark Speirs taking seven strokes on one round, J. F. Gore six and a dozen others needing five strokes to hole out.

However, Jack Neville, Harold Sampson and Elmer Holland each scored a birdie on the seventeenth, indicating that it isn't impossible to play perfect golf on George Thomas's famous golf hole.

The low sixty-four scorers will play an additional thirty-six holes today, the players having been paired in different combinations for the final rounds. The gallery will probably follow Hutt Martin and Willie Hunter, who tee off on their morning round at 9 a.m., and again about noon for their afternoon trip.

The prizes for the championship event were announced yesterday by Chester Lyday, secretary of the Southern California Golf Association. The winner will get $300, providing he is a professional, otherwise the purse will be awarded to the low pro. The second pro gets $150, the third $100, the fourth $75, fifth $50 and the sixth, seventh and eighth, $25 each. In addition to these prizes, low gross score for tomorrow's play made by a pro finishing outside the money will win $25. The winning professionals in the amateur-pro foursomes, held Sunday, were awarded a purse of $50, Dick Linares and Vic. Owens dividing the purse as a result of their tie.

Yesterday's complete results follow:

American Tennis Stars Make Clean Sweep of Olympic Honors

YANKS WIN ALL OLYMPIC GLORY

Make Clean Sweep of Major Branches of Sport

Have 95 Points While France is Second With 47

Win Championships in Eight Fields of Rivalry

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

PARIS, July 21.—The United States, by completing its tennis triumph today, not only made a clean sweep of all of the major branches of the Olympic competitions but rolled up a point total which clinches the all-round championship of the games.

The completed tabulation tonight of points for sixteen events thus far competed shows that America is far in the lead with 95 points, double that of the nearest rival, France, which has 47 points and cannot overhaul the United States even if triumphant in the remaining four sports which are to be completed this week.

FRENCH SECOND

France jumped to second place by scoring heavily in tennis, gymnastics, fencing and the modern pentathlon. Great Britain is now third with 33 points and Finland fourth with 34 points. The United States added 10 points under the Olympic scoring system for tennis and two more for gymnastics, the tabulation tonight reveals.

Championships have been carried off by the United States in eight fields of rivalry including track and field, rowing, swimming, tennis, boxing, catchwrestling, rugby and target shooting; Norway with victories in the winter sports and the hunting shooting, is the only other nation to take two Olympic crowns. The other six championships are distributed among France in fencing, Sweden with the modern pentathlon, Finland with Greco-Roman wrestling, Argentina with polo, Uruguay with soccer and Italy with gymnastics.

FIVE REMAIN

Altogether twenty-two of the forty-five competing nations gained places in the scoring column with the only remaining contests in yachting, weight lifting, cycling and the equestrian games.

Behind the first four in the point column are the Scandinavian countries, Sweden and Norway, the former with 33½ points and the latter with 21 1-4 points.

Switzerland has 18, Italy 17 3-4, while Argentina ranks tenth, with 13 points, only 3-4 of a point behind Denmark. Uruguay with 10 points is eleventh.

According to experts, the hitting power of Jack Dempsey is derived from a great combination, fine timing, good judgment of distance, speed, physical power and constant hitting balance.

AMERICAN BEAUTIES OF HEMPEN SQUARE

Introducing a pair of handsome young men. Their business is fighting and they know their business. The large figure of the gentleman with the Woolard hair cut is none other than Joe Simonich, the noted Butte welterweight, who will exchange punches with Dave Shade (in inset) at Doyle's Vernon Coliseum tonight. Shade is a California boy who has has fought his way into national prominence. The New York Boxing "Commish" has been kicking up quite a rumpus about Dave and his proposed matches with Benny Leonard and Mickey Walker.

MAJORS WILL TOUR EUROPE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

CINCINNATI, July 21.—Permission to tour Europe was granted the New York Giants and Chicago White Sox today by Commissioner K. M. Landis, Manager John J. McGraw of the New York team announced here tonight.

The trip abroad by the two teams had been technically agreed upon some time ago, but consent of the baseball commissioner was held up pending a vote of the members of both leagues. The vote Mr. McGraw said, was unanimous in favor of the proposed tour.

Diaz and Payo Trade Leather in Third Mill

Another high-class card has been lined up by Dick Donald for his weekly boxing show at the Lyceum Club Saturday night.

The main event promises to be one of the hottest scraps staged in the Spring-street club for some time. Kid Payo, who won over Benny Diaz on a foul last week, has been rematched with the hard-hitting Benny again. Diaz is out to avenge his defeat and already is proclaiming that he will win the coming match.

In the semi-wind-up Johnny La Rose will tackle Frankie Sands. Some hard fighting is expected when these two get together, as La Rose is the bantamweight champ of Canada, while Sands has a reputation around Oakland of being a tough customer.

Other bouts are: Bud Carlo and Jack Hestor, 135 pounds; Sid Buenafe and Young Andrew, 118 pounds; Floyd Manges and Sam Avery, 112 pounds.

MURPHY LEAVES FOR FIGHT AT OAKLAND

Larry Murphy, who in the past year has fought himself into popularity at local fight arenas and is especially popular at Hollywood, is leaving for new climes. Murphy left last night for Oakland, where he will meet Billy Wallace in the semi-wind-up of a card at one of the northern fight clubs. The two men have met before on Murphy's home ground in Hollywood, Wallace getting a decision.

DOUBLES TEAMS TAKE MATCHES

Hunter and Richards Too Good for French Pair

Mrs. Wightman and Williams Also Victorious

Yankees Finish With Double Score of France

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

OLYMPIC STADIUM, COLOMBES (France) July 21.—America's racquet wielders tonight stood supreme among the world's best after gaining two more triumphs which gave them a clean sweep of all five Olympic championships.

The concluding victories were scored in the men's doubles by Vincent Richards and Francis T. Hunter, who beat the Frenchmen Henri Cochet and Jacques Brugnon, in a stirring five-set struggle and in the mixed doubles by R. Norris Williams, II, and Mrs. George Wightman, who easily defeated their compatriots, Vincent Richards and Marion Z. Jessup, in straight sets. The score in the men's doubles was 4-6, 6-2, 6-3, 2-6, 6-3, and in the mixed doubles 6-2, 6-3

SMALL CROWD

Bringing to a close the nine-day tournament, which was fought out in torrid weather at times under the handicap of unsatisfactory conditions, these matches were witnessed by fewer than 1000 persons. They proved an anticlimax after the sensational victories yesterday by Miss Helen Wills over Mlle. Emilienne Vlasto of France in the women's singles, and by Vincent Richards over Henri Cochet of France in the men's doubles, which clinched the team victory for the United States.

Miss Wills and Mrs. Wightman won the women's doubles the day before.

The final triumphs, however, added substantially to the score of the Americans, who finished with a total of 55 points, nearly double that of France, the nearest rival, which had 28 points.

Great Britain took third place with 16 points. Italy and Holland gain 4 points each and South Africa collected the remaining 3 points.

The two youngest American stars, Miss Wills and Richards, and Mrs. Wightman each emerged from the tournament with two titles. The national women's champion gained the singles crown and shared the women's doubles title with Mrs. Wightman, who also shared the mixed doubles title by winning for a second time this afternoon.

OBSERVATIONS

BY THE INNOCENT BYSTANDER
BILL HENRY

You'd scarcely believe that the difference between tennis balls could make the difference that it did between the play of the American net stars at Wimbledon and at Paris—but it did. Helen Wills and Vinnie Richards and all the rest of the Americans looked like different players when they started smacking the ball to which they were accusendeavoring to do something tomed at Paris after vainly with the "dead" ball in use in England.

The case of Miss McKane is even better proof, for the fair Britisher, who looked like a real champion against Helen Wills at Wimbledon, looked far from it in France, dropping a three-set encounter to Mlle. Vlasto in the semifinals, and only beating Mme. Golding after a hard three-set match, whereas Mme. Golding had been easy for Miss Wills.

Without question the difference in the ball means more than just a little in the game, and one of the first things that the International Lawn Tennis Federation should take up is the question of standardizing on tennis balls. It is obviously unfair to ask the British to play with our lively ball, and equally unfair to ask our players to use the ball to which the Britishers are accustomed.

The same thing was demonstrated to some extent in the recent national handball championship tournament held at the L.A.A.C. Without taking away from the showing of the local players, who occupied the four top positions, the play of the Olympic and South End Rowing Club men from San Francisco was affected by the use of a ball less lively than the standard ball to which they had been accustomed.

The reason for the use of a ball with less gas in it than the standard ball was rather obvious, the concrete construction of the L.A.A.C. courts makes the ball so lively that the standard pill would be up in the gallery most of the time—hence a deader ball. Such things should be standardized, so that people playing for national or international titles could do so under equal conditions.

Duke Kahanamoku failed in his great ambition to win the 100-meter swim in three successive series of Olympic Games, but he at least accomplished the better part of the undertaking by swimming a much faster 100 meters in 1924 than he did in either 1912 or 1920. Duke's time at Paris was under 60s, which

MONDT HEFTY GRAPPLER

"Toots" Mondt, who wrestles Stanislaus Zbyszko in the main event of tomorrow night's program of bouts at the Philharmonic Auditorium, is one of the most meaty grapplers in the mat game today. Two years ago when the Colorado cowboy met Waldek Zbyszko here he was handicapped by lack of sufficient poundage, but right now the scales register 220 pounds when Mondt climbs on board.

"Zibby" will therefore encounter some difficulty when he attempts to treat Mondt as he did Yussif Hussane some time ago. Hussane was slight, but Mondt's avoirdupoise makes him something more than a mere playmate for the pole. In addition the cowboy is the inventor of the famous jackknife scissors, a hold which usually ends a match when clamped to his rival.

Joe Bonomo, a strong man with John Barrymore features and Jack Dempsey muscles, is billed against Emil Maupa, French titleholder in one of the other bouts. Sonsa Kozak and Yussif Hussane are also on the program.

SIMONICH FACES SHADE

Butte Welter to Tackle Californian in Main Event at Doyle's Vernon Coliseum Tonight

The Vernon Coliseum boxing patrons will see another new face tonight when Joe Simonich, the well-known Butte welterweight, tries to enhance his reputation by knocking a few holes in the reputation of Dave Shade in the popular Doyle arena.

Simonich, on his western tour, hardly expected to catch up with a nationally known fighter like Shade down here, but grabbed at the chance because he has fought California Dave a ten-round draw in a Seattle ring and imagines he can whip him in four rounds.

The Butte man, a real welterweight in poundage, has dreams of wiring New York late tonight that he has whipped the man who is certain to get on with the winner of the Mickey Walker-Benny Leonard fight for the world's welterweight championship.

MUCH AT STAKE

Even though this fight is at catchweights Simonich knows the effect of a Simonich victory in New York. It will at once get him offers from Gotham promoters.

Shade has much at stake. He cannot very well afford to lose. His defeat at the hands of Bert Colima, Whittier middleweight, last Tuesday, was played up in the New York papers and while he was going out of his class such upsets are no boost for a championship contender.

Simonich has boxed a ten-round draw with Pinkey Mitchell, junior lightweight champion; whipped Young Dudley in Oakland last Wednesday, and is highly regarded in welterweight circles. He and Shade should turn out a real fistic treat.

STRONG CARD

Matchmaker Wadhams has a strong supporting card. Billy Mascott, the Portland bantam, will meet Danny Martin, the Oakland star, at 118 pounds. Wadhams thinks that will be a dandy battle, as the special bout between Walter Rooney and Jimmy Lanning, 135-pounders, figures to be. The other scraps listed are.

Mike De Pinta and Ruby Lavine, 126 pounds.

Hank Gatton and Jimmy Banks, 158 pounds.

Toby Montoya and Billy Ryan, 118 pounds.

Jack Colburn and Ted Burch, 126 pounds.

FIRPO ARRIVES IN AMERICA

Luis Has Tough Time Passing Immigration Officials; Argentinian Here for Wills Bout

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, July 21.—After being detained at Ellis Island nearly all day because his passport from the Argentine did not comply exactly with the requirements of the new immigration law, Luis Angel Firpo, "wild bull of the Pampas" and late contender for Jack Dempsey's heavyweight crown, was admitted to the United States this afternoon.

Blanca Loudres, 21 years of age, a handsome young South American senorita, who arrived with Firpo on the Munson liner American Legion and was also taken to Ellis Island, will also be permitted to enter the United States, but only under a bond of $500. She is bound for Cuba and the practice of admitting persons under bond is customary in such cases.

The senorita was highly excited over her predicament, making wide-flung gestures with both arms and protesting volubly. She was quite a colorful Spanish figure in her bright blue cape and her high-heeled slippers and she was certainly full of movement. On the other hand Firpo stood quietly under the action of the officials. The girl said she was Firpo's secretary but he denied that she was with him.

This marks Firpo's first visit to

Brooklyn and Pirates Split a Double-Header

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

CINCINNATI, July 21.—Cincinnati won one of the hardest-fought battles of the season from New York today, 8 to 7, in eleven innings. Watson was knocked out in the first round, but Nehf pitched well and Luque allowed a tie score in the seventh without a hit on his wildness and an error by Critz. In the ninth New York scored three runs off May on three hits and an error by Roush, but the Reds tied it in their half on four hits, two passes and a wild pitch by Bentley.

In the eleventh, the Giants scored a run on Frisch's triple and a single by Kelly, the first time Rixey had been scored on in thirty-four innings. In the last half of the eleventh Roush reached third on a pass, a balk by Jonnard and an out. With two out, Kelly took his foot off the bag before receiving Jackson's good throw on Fonseca's grounder, which would have retired the side without scoring. The error allowed Roush to score the tying run and then Pinelli put Fonseca over with a triple to right. Thirty-nine players took part in the game, the Reds using twenty and the Giants nineteen. The score:

CUBS COP

CHICAGO, July 21.—Pitcher Milstead started his first game for Chicago today and held Boston at his mercy, while the locals bunched hits, including homers by Hartnett and Friberg and won their sixth straight game, 7 to 1. Tierney's home run saving the visitors from a shutout. Score:

TEAMS SPLIT

PITTSBURG, July 21.—Brooklyn and Pittsburg divided a double bill here today, the visitors taking the first, 6 to 2, and Pittsburg the second, 4 to 2. In the first game Vance was effective, allowing only six hits while in the last affair Kremer's slants were too much for the Dodgers.

J. Johnston, Brooklyn shortstop, was carried from the field in the first game when he injured his knee in a close play at second. He probably will be missing from the line-up for several days. Scores:

HIT HAINES

ST. LOUIS, July 21.—Jesse Haines, who pitched a no-hit game Thursday, showed a reversal of form today and the Phillies defeated the Cardinals in the third game of the series, 7 to 4. Haines allowed fifteen safeties, including a triple and three doubles in the ninth inning that resulted in four runs and victory for the visitors. Holke's homer in the eighth scored Wrightstone ahead of him. The score:

Billy Stevens, pitcher for the Sash and Door line lost because his support was poor in the second inning, when four errors were made. Paul Walker, winning chucker, also looked good, allowing only five hits and four runs.

In this afternoon's contest the Hollywood Postoffice and the Lounsberry & Harris will cross bats, in what should be a good contest as the Mailmen have been strengthened 100 per cent.

was almost unbelievable even four years ago. It was really too bad that he couldn't win the race, for it is very doubtful if he will be able to repeat four years from now.

Weismuller is unquestionably the swimming marvel of a marvelous age. Without him Arne Borg of Sweden and Boy Charlton of Australia would be regarded as eleventh wonders of the world, but their glory is dimmed by the stupendous speed shown by the Chicagoan. Borg seems to be capable of astounding performances over any distance, Charlton prefers the distance and Weismuller rather likes the sprints.

Unless Jack Kearns was kidding when he arrived the other day, we may yet have a chance to see Jack Dempsey knock somebody's head off this year. Kearns claims that Jack will be all prepared to tear the scalp off the surviving individual of the Wills-Firpo smear. Possibly Jack's mix-up in an automobile accident yesterday may make some difference, but it isn't very likely, as Jack doesn't seem to have been badly ruined.

Dempsey undoubtedly can polish off either Firpo or Wills with little or no difficulty. All reports from the East say that Wills is simply terrible, having lost anything in the way of fighting ability that he had in years gone by. Firpo never could do anything but slug, and if he hadn't been lucky enough to bounce one off Dempsey's chin in the first minute of fighting, would have been regarded as a worse bloomer than Romero Rojas.

Charley Paddock at least showed 'em that he was far from being the broken-down old man many folks suspected him of being. His near win in the Olympic furlong, in which he led up to the very instant of hitting the tape, was a demonstration that he was far from being through as a sprinter, and was a vondication of those who predicted that he would make a better showing at Paris than he did in the tryouts.

Paddock can undoubtedly trace his failure to win to the bad muscle which he injured at the Drake relays. He was going away from the field in the 200 meters all the way up to the 150-yard mark, and that is where Charley usually begins to do his stuff best. There his muscle went back on him, and it was the feeling that he was slowing up that prompted him to make the fatal turn of the head which cost him the race.

HOBBS BATTERY NINE SHOCKS MOVIE STARS

The Hobbs Battery baseball team was too experienced for the Motion Picture Players' Association team and defeated them by a score of 12 to 3 at Ross Snyder Field. The Batterys took the lead in the second frame with five runs and were never headed. Metro and La Barba were the winners with a hit for every time but one at bat. Layman, Chavez and Cannon each scored two runs for their team. The Jole Ray, America's premier track star, has been competing for fifteen years. He has participated in over 300 races at distances ranging from the quarter-mile to ten miles. Ray has broken the 4.19 for a mile no fewer than thirty-five times, a record unequaled in the history of sport.

Ray Ewry, of the New York Athletic Club, won a total of ten Olympic championships? Ray took first in the standing broad jump and the standing high jump in the Olympics of 1900, 1904, 1906 and 1908—his best efforts being 11 ft. 4⅞ in. in the broad jump at St. Louis in 1904, and 5 ft. 5 in. in the high jump at Paris four years earlier. Then he also won the standing triple jump at Paris and St. Louis, and would probably have won that event at the next two Olympics also, but it was dropped from the program.

Jack Dempsey has received $1,250,000 for his work in the ring in the last five years? As this was paid him for thirty-nine rounds of fighting it makes Jack's time worth over $10,000 per minute.

The biggest score ever made in a professional baseball game was away back in the dim ages of baseball when the Niagaras beat Columbus at Buffalo 209 to 10!

M'GRAW FAVORS GIANTS

Still Thinks His Club Will Win Pennant; Says Yanks Due for Victory in American

BY JOHN J. McGRAW
Manager New York Giants

Now that I am back on my feet and able to personally manage the Giants from the bench you can well imagine the satisfaction it gives me to know that during an absence of more than a month the team has rounded into almost perfect shape, has hit its real stride and is on the way to what I think is a sure fourth straight pennant.

I want to give credit where credit is due and make it clear that Hughey Jennings stepped in as a leader in a critical time and did a wonderful job of it. The various stories going about the league that I used many devices for directing the club from a distance are exaggerated. I conferred with Jennings frequently, of course, and occasionally telephoned him suggestions during a game, but these instances were very few.

Jennings ran the club on the field according to his own judgment and ran it well. The players worked with him in perfect harmony. The head of any business enterprise can well understand what that means.

LOYALTY COUNTS

The two important factors in baseball are loyalty and discipline. The loyalty of a man like Jennings is a wonderful thing. It is in striking contrast to the lack of loyalty in another player who had to take my place when I was laid off from the club several years ago.

The comparison I think worth relating: I got into a difficulty out in Cincinnati with Umpire Byron and was suspended for sixteen days. It was at a time when I wanted to keep the club going at a steady pace. Just the same I was out and a player whom I always think of as a pinheaded third baseman and who also acted as captain had to take charge.

Instead of stepping in as Jennings had done, this man went to several of the players, including Doyle, Fletcher and Merkle with intimations that sounded odd to them.

"Looks like this fellow is down and out now," he said to one of them, referring to me, "and if you fellows will stick with me I might get the management of this club."

PLAYER OUSTED

The players, having a high sense of loyalty, came and told me this. But for their loyalty harmony would have been destroyed utterly. The effect of this sort of mind in the game is that the player referred to is now out of baseball and the Giants are going straight ahead toward another pennant. I'm still manager, too.

Speaking of discipline. I notice that the White Sox have suspended Cliff Blankenship. In a short time I hope he will be back and that the lesson will come home to him that without discipline baseball is nothing. He will realize his mistake I am sure. It seems Evers told him to go down and warm up —"Bear down hard," he said, meaning to work at top speed because he would be used but a short time in the box.

Evers told Blankenship that he did not bear down. The player lost his temper, made a rough speech and defied the manager—some say he offered to fight him. The player finally went to Charles Comiskey, the owner, in an effort to go over Evers's head.

"If you are not willing to take orders you can pack up and leave," Mr. Comiskey told him in no uncertain tone. "Evers is the manager of this ball club and unless you take orders from him you do not belong on the club."

I am sure that Blankenship will see the wisdom of this as soon as he has thought it over. The lesson ought to be valuable to him. He will be a better ball player for it in the long run.

I again reiterate my belief that the Giants and Yanks will win again. Everything pointh to it. When it comes to a hard showdown both clubs appear to have the punch.

The punch in the Giants on this western trip has been terrific. Nobody could beat them much the way they were hitting. Travis Jackson has developed rapidly and Meusel and Groh are now hitting the ball hard.

LIKES BENTLEY

A strong factor in our club has been the improvement in the pitching of Jack Bentley. Early in the season he had a habit of working too rapidly when he was in trouble.

"I want you to promise me," I finally said to him, "that every time you are in a hole that you will deliberately step out of the box and think it over for a few seconds before you pitch the next ball."

He promised to do that and is now much more deliberate. As a result he has gained confidence. Bentley ought to be one of the game's greatest pitchers.

the United States since last fall when he met defeat at the fists of Jack Dempsey. This time he will endeavor to put Harry Wills, the negro fighter, to sleep. It is said that he is to get $100,000 and maybe a share of the gate to try his luck with the negro.

When the ship docked at Hoboken today Firpo flashed on deck for an interview. He looked well. His weight, he said through an interpreter, was around 218 pounds, which is slightly in excess of his fighting poundage. Firpo presented a symphony in color. Contrasted with his bronzed face was a violently purple necktie, a fawn-colored silk shirt, a brown suit and a black fedora hat.

Firpo said he was looking forward to another fight with Dempsey. As for his coming fight with Wills in September he said he was confident he would win it.

"When will you begin training?" he was asked.

WISE TENNIS TIPS

By WILLIAM T. TILDEN

Last year a dapper little figure appeared, almost unheralded on the tennis courts of the Crescent Club, Brooklyn, and took the New York tennis public by storm. Brian I. C. Norton of South Africa had arrived. On a through a series of tournaments the volatile "Babe" flashed his way, sometimes thrilling the public by his play, sometimes disappointing by his carelessness, but always interesting in his matches. Finally in the national championship he found himself, and reached the semi-final round, defeating R. N. Williams II on his way.

Then "Babe" started a somewhat varied pilgrimage over the United States, which finally settled him in the real estate business in St. Louis, so now I introduce to you Brian I. C. NORTON of the United States

I met "Babe" again in Indianapolis during the western championships. In many ways he is the same old "Babe," yet I think that he is really beginning to play tennis with a tinge of seriousness. Certainly his game looks improved. He is overcoming his tendency toward carelessness and he's certainly gained in speed and aggression.

I was impressed by his splendid speed of foot and seemingly untiring energy. He sees to be to be in better condition than he was last year. He has increased the pace on his service, while his volleying carries more decision and severity. His ground game is still the same beautifully produced driving game. There is no question about the fact that Norton is one of the finest stylists in the game. I cannot see why he is not an even greater player than he is. There is no weakness in his stroke technique, while his speed of foot is only equaled by Alonso, Cochet, Borotra and La Coste.

Norton is only one of the players in the western tournament who caught my attention by showing improvement during the last year. Louis Kuhler of Cincinnati has jumped forward with wonderful strides this year.

Kuhler has developed a splendid ground game of marked severity, hitting hard both fore and backhand. He has a fine service and volleys with severity, but has an inclination toward erraticness. He is one of the younger Middle West players who should be heard from in the near future.

Julius Sagalowski, the former national boy champion, is still advancing, but not with the same certainty that has marked his advance in the past. He seems to lack the willingness to hit in the pinch. There is a tendency to overcaution that may hold him back if he does not speedily overcome it.

There is a junior of promise in Indianapolis by the name of Leo Kurzrock, who may reach the heights in the future. He is a big, heavy boy, left-handed, and, like so many southpaws, a free, hard, wild hitter. He has a tremendous service not unlike Voshell, a vicious forehand drive, a somewhat feeble poke off his backhand, and a promising volley. He is wild at present, but with experience in match play should overcome this tendency and become championship timber.

He met young Donald Strachan in his first round and almost lost to him, yet turned around the next day and carried Norton to a close match. I believe that he may become a real factor in Middle West tennis in a few years.

The growth of interest in tennis in the Middle West is shown by the tremendous galleries that thronged the stands for the western championship. Much of the interest was due to the presence of the internationalists, Patterson, Norton and Schlessenger, and cool weather aided the attendance. Yet even these factors alone would not account for the great crowds.

It is the game itself that is holding its public. There are hundreds of boys playing the game in the western cities, and playing it well. Indianapolis boasts of a high standard both in quantity and quality. I am convinced that within a few years many fine players will be forcing the old standbys for their positions as leaders in the Middle West.

TIA JUANA MAKES GOOD WITH LONG BATTLES

Before a large audience, Tia Juana put on a boxing program of long bouts Sunday night, which stand a good chance of being continued, according to J. Cullen of Los Angeles, who refereed the battles. The bouts were all over six rounds and made a hit with many of the spectators, who are used to the four-round game as it is practiced in California, Cullen said. The results of the fights were: Young Bello defeated Battling Ward in ten rounds; Phil Mata won from Benny Cordova in eight rounds; Benny Pascal was awarded a decision over Kid Sunday in six rounds.

BOSTON, July 21.—Pancho Villa, world's flyweight champion, fighting at catchweights with Wee Willie Woods of Scotland, tonight won an easy decision. In the ninth round the champion floored Woods but the Scotch boxer was back on his feet before the count began.

WITH THE FIGHTING FISH OF CATALINA
MAJOR LAWRENCE MOTT, SIG-ORC.-USA.. US DEP GAME WARDEN

Have we tuna at Catalina?

The answer is YES!

Anglers of both high and low degree will vouch for this statement! (But, ere we go any farther, let me reassure my enthusiastic readers that "Uncle John"—of The Times—did fight his tuna as per my l'il tale of it—last week!)

We have an esteemed contemporary, that states. . . . "yesterday caught eight tuna, ranging in weight from 123 pounds down down. . . ." And this contemporary of ours goes on to state the onus of the fact that Max Fleishmann—without whom Yeast 'ain't!—caught, got, or killed them—all in one day! This peeves me! The facts are: on July 14th, Fleishmann was most exceedingly fortunate in getting four tuna! Weights: 123, 120, 102 and 120 pounds. He may well be proud of this—er—record!

I find it rather difficult to set down all that there is to tell—this week! What with plenty of white sea bass—o'nights—from skiffs—and all manner of mackerel, yellowtail and jewfish—being taken from the barge—they that have wet line in our lovely waters have been more than amply repaid for their slight effort.

The reward of continued persistence of effort is well exemplified by Zane Grey's bringing to gaff of a Broadbill swordfish—weight 412 pounds—after weeks of ceaseless effort and tireless forth-goings each morn'! I take much pleasure in congratulating "ZG!" What—tho' there is a comforting lot of "publicity" in the taking of a Broadbill—as I have remarked before—still, the angler that will set forth every day—for weeks!—and draw stupidly-dull blanks . . . . .deserves the recognition—at least—of them that stand 'round—wondering why he is such a DF as to keep at it!!

And that's that!!

Fun? I've had lots o' it! Just to pick a sample day: on the 15th the Hon. Sanborn set out with me—in the Mable F. and with him was a friend (of his!) A calm morning. Just a zephyr of a light breeze. Off Seal Rocks I put up a kite—and at the same time cast over my side lines for albacore. Hadn't been going ten minutes when—whoa!" and Sanborn had an albacore! Brought it to gaff in short order. And set out for tuna. "Whoa!" yells Sanborn! And we had another fine fat fish! "Say, listen! Am I trying to catch a tuna, or are you holding-up the whul' works with your d— albacore?" queried the friend! (In the meantime I was having many chuckles!) And so—I straightened the Mable on her course—"whoa!" Sanborn most diligently brought still another albacore to my gaff. And with that Sanborn's pal let a yell! "Gimme those albacore lines and you take—!

Wham!

"Yes," quoth I, with as much gravity as possible . . . . "s'ppose that you fight that tuna!"

And fight he did; Bringing to gaff a fine fish of 111 pounds in one hour and ten minutes—while Sanborn hand-lined albacore the while! Oh, aye! We had great fun . . . the three o' us!

Strange how it is that the veriest tyro's at the so-called "fun" of tuna catching . . . "get away with the goods!" On the 16th inst. I had with me Ernest Grill of Balboa. EG had never killed a tuna—he literally ached for one! That is a pet hankering of all manner of men that go down to the Catalina channel in ships! And he 'fessed to me that he had killed some fine—trout! And he was so in earnest—pathetic, indeed, in his longing, that I "longed" with him! With the result that at 9:40 a.m. he hooked his first tuna, bringing it to gaff in one hour and thirty-one minutes. Weight: 100 1-2 pounds! So far, so delightful! And we fared farther a' sea—while the wind crinkled the crests of the rollers—and we had lunch. At "Uncle John's" zero hour—I made mention of the fact— and—Bang! E. Grill of Balboa had his second tuna of the day! He wrangled this fish in to the Mable in fifty minutes! Weight: 101 pounds! And so ended a "perfect day"—for Hon. Grill! Have any o' ye ever seen a really happy man? I have!

Now we'll take up the score card of the week: On July 14, Mrs. Morosco, fishing with Silent Sam Goulding, accounted for a nice fish of ninety-eight pounds. Cheers for the fair lady! There was an entire party with Long Joe Markman—on the Grace II. Between the lot o' 'em they accounted for four tuna: 98 1-2, 106 1-2, 101 and 105 pounds! Bravo! On the same date, the 14th — the Whimsical Chaffee— fishing from his "Una C"—annexed a nice tuna of 112 pounds. "See" Alma Baker, of the Ancient and Honorable Tuna Club—he of the several speeds reel, etc.—has changed boatmen—ecod! He is now fishing with—Somebody Else and acquired a reasonable fish of 112 pounds. (That reel is—undoubtedly the cat's!) The very charming Mrs. Leimert, age and birthplace not given—was tip-toed to a handsome tuna of 115 1-2 pounds by the Rotund Danielson—on the "Leta D." Also on this date—a great day—where tuna were concerned—did the life-giving Fleischmann annex his four fish—as previously stated! (I am most happy to note that—at last—he is being found fish!)

Still continuing on the 14th: a Squire Eaggleston, address kept dark, was found two fine fish . . . 106 and 117 lbs.—by that man of perpetual smiles . . . Harry Warner. President Ray Thomas, of the FAMOUS Tuna Club weighed in one of 105 lbs. (DAW'gone it—but Hon. Prexy seems—so far—to be messing about with Small Fish! How-come?) And . . . HURRAY! skipper McKay — of the MANANA—located two otherwise unoccupied tuna: 105 lbs. — each! Anglers' names given as Messires Forest Grand, and Grant Thompson. (As an aside: don't trust to the names that are given by me in this column, for the reason that I overheard a woman say — when her husband was being photographed with a tuna—"I wouldn't give my REAL name, if I were you!" (He may have been the King of Timbuctoo—for all that I know—but if YOU had heard her . . . caution him, you would have laughed—as did I!)

The poor old ANGLER has been runnin' 'round in the hardest kind of HARD luck! And its owner—the Esteemed Adams (Of the Tuna Club,) is not overly fond of merely sittin' at the tuna table—with no cards to draw to! He squeezed in on the century mark—with a 100 lbs. fish.

We'll proceed with STILL some more of the 14th! (As the Great Day, in France—the tumble of the Bastille, etc — it mos' suhtinly spelled disaster for tuna — too!) The Doughty Medic' Kibbey, fishing with Old-Timer Eaton, toddled in to harbor with a 94 1-2 lb's. fish. A Mr. Glausen, address not given, was ferried to a splendid tuna of 115 lbs., by Inscrutable Sam Goulding. And the Tall-always-Smiling Mankowski—(no! he is NOT a pianist!)—chuff-chuffed home on this eve' with . . . the following: 104-106-115-99 and 109 lb's. tuna! Was the Tiny Enos Vera — his guide, gaffer, philosopher and friend . . . pleased? For the sake of brevity, we admit he . W A S! (Mankowszi is a n AWFULLY . . . good sport!) P. Pence—with "Bill Yule" that's all — found three: 96-112-110 lbs. SQUIRE Leimert—not to be out-done by his Frau — did on the 15th—circumvent an A-1 tuna of 114 lbs. And our mutual friend—"Bill Yule"—and nothin' more—accounted for another fish of 112 lbs. (Mabbe the tuna are not so pleased with this-here Yule-tide?)

That 3-speed Reel!! In the hands of "See" Alma Baker — and, en passant, Mr. Baker assures me, with vim, vigor and precision, that he is NOT . . . "from India"—as I have alleged that he . . . was! It would appear that Mr. Baker is from . . . London, England! God bless me! Apologies, 'Sieur Baker! I shall get you geographically located — after a bit!

We are still discussing the fish taken on the 15th—though you may have forgot it! M. Fleischman brought in a tuna of 119 pounds. One Grey, Jr., heir-presumptive to the Favorably Known writer—one Zane Grey—did come in at nightfall with a tuna of 102 pounds. Nó! I have just made inquiry by fone—and it was "Red" Grey who took the fish—so THAT is satisfactorily accounted for! And "Red" is Zane's brother! The Noisy Sanborn—of Large Cheer—got a 111-pound fish with me, in the MABLE—or, his friend did — which amounts to the same thing!

And the Adams—Grey tandem team went from high to low—with two fish: 118 and 45 pounds. (Well! That's a durn' sight better'n nuthin'—at that!)

On the 16th we find muchly fish exterminated: George Strevinger, with Silent Sam Goulding, had a tuna of 90½ pounds. The Yeast KINK one of 110 pounds. Dr. Doughty, one of 126 pounds—with that Spring-Time — Eaton. Grill . . . "grilled" his two century fish with me. Lanky Joe Markham found a nice fish of 113 pounds for W. H. Thomson of L.A.

The 17th marks MORE records! The Hon. James Jump, with one R. Bandini at the helium of the "Ranger"—smashed still more records—light tackle—with a fish of 117¾! (How many Cups, Prizes, Diamond-studded Badges & Etc.—do you WANT . . Jimmy??)

Oh, LORD! How classmates . . . do change! I had one of the gayest of the gay—in my Class—of '05—at Harvard—out with me today! Not only did I have him . . . but I had his son! OUCH! The one has a bare fringe—and the other is a gangling specimen—whose one overweening ambition is to consume . . . "Pop!" He drank 'steen bottles—that I know of—while his father—H. C. Ward of Chicago, butted into a tuna of 101½ pounds. And finally brought it near enough for me to gaff! Gee! but old memories flocked about! Moral: NEVER marry! The Cheerful Mankowski—of the Hon. Tuna Club—had two small ones—on light tackle—at nightfall: 58 and 50 pounds.

On the 18th there were no fish taken.

On the 20th a Mr. R. Harwood—also with Eaton—accounted for one of 95 pounds.

Forgot to state that Dr. Kibbey—of the Mid-West—on the 19th—played "Tit-Tat-Toe, Three-in-a Row"—with a JEW-fish of . . . 264 pounds. (In a previous article I have made myself clear about these fish!)

Fishin' couldn't be better!

Tuna to date: 203.

One Broadbill Swordfish: 413 pounds.

SHELBY PROMOTER BRINGS IN GUSHER

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

GREAT FALLS (Mont.) July 21. Mayor James A. "Jim" Johnson, backer of the Dempsey-Gibbons fight at Shelby, Mont., for the heavyweight championship of the world, today drilled in the second big gusher for the week in the Kevin-Sunburst oil field, the Johnson-Sunburst-Corey No. 2. The well is estimated as larger than the Shoshone No. 4, which came in last week for something like 10,000 barrels per day.

Mayor Johnson lost a fortune in the Dempsey-Gibbons affair. He has been taking an active interest in the oil fields since that time.

BLAKE PRAISES OLYMPIC STARS

Tells of Rise of La Barba, Fields and Salas

Developed all Three Boxers from Nothing at All

Gets Congratulations from Local Fight Fans

BY BRAVEN DYER

George V. Blake's trusty right hand is limp today from constant exercise, for the popular Los Angeles Athletic Club boxing instructor was kept busy yesterday accepting the congratulations of local citizens on the splendid showing of his proteges—Fidel La Barba, Jackie Fields and Joe Salas—in the Olympic Games. Blake admits that he has been on the receiving end of countless handshakes and he certainly deserves every word of praise given him, for Fields and La Barba were the only men from the entire United States, which statisticians tell us embraces some 110,000,000 souls, to win Olympic titles.

The rise of the local stars from insignificant preliminary fighters on Mercury programs to the undisputed champions of the world is nothing short of sensational. Blake, to whom they owe their success, tells of their part in a quiet way, at the same time taking a great deal of pride in "his boys," as he calls them.

LAUGHED AT JACK

"Jackie first came to me about three years ago," said Blake yesterday. "He was 13 years of age at the time and had recently arrived from Chicago. Fans laughed when he had his first bout. He was fat and short; weighed 85 pounds and had pink cheeks that generally go with the fair sex. Jackie still retains that schoolgirl complexion today.

"He was attending Lincoln High School at the time and first impressed me because of his speed and his unbounded confidence. Jackie always said he could win. Last Saturday I got a letter from him telling of his coming fight with Wollach, the strong New York southpaw, who defeated him in the A.A.U. tourney. Jackie said he was going against Wollach that night and that he was confident he would be the victor. In another letter he told me that Joe Salas, whom he met in the finals of the Olympic tourney, could not lay a glove on him should they meet and Fields's win over Joe rather proves it for had Joe been able to hit his fellow-boxer the result might have been different."

IMPRESSED PROUT

When Fields lost to Wollach in the A.A.U. tourney at Boston, Blake looked around for him after the fight, wishing to console him for losing out on the trip to Paris. Much to his surprise he found the 16-year-old star seated beside W. C. Prout, president of the A.A.U., chatting with that official as if they had been friends forever. Blake told Jackie then and there that he was sure to be picked on the team as an alternate, and he was, Spike Webb, Olympic boxing coach, being so much impressed with Jackie's work on the other side that he sent him against Wollach again to determine which should actually box in the Olympics. Fields won.

La Barba's rise to fame is almost identical with that of Fields. Fidel was 14 years of age when he first came to Blake and weighed ninety-five pounds. He was very rugged and had a lightning left that carried a lot of dynamite. Like Fields, La Barba attended Lincoln High School. He is 18 now.

Joe Salas has been under Blake's wing two and one-half years. He never had a glove on until the Mercury instructor took him in charge. His defeat on points at the hands of Fields was the first bout he ever lost and Joe has been in some thirty-five fights.

Blake also had a nice word for Ad Allegrini, who was unable to compete in the Olympic bouts because of an injured hand. When Patsy Ruffalo, one of the American boxers, lay ill Allegrini submitted to a blood transfusion to help bring back the Yankee fighter's health.

Charlie Keppen and Blake plan to stage a big show sometime in September and then the local fans can see the two new champions and Salas in action—if opponents can be secured.

MURPHY SHIRTS TOO LOUD AT SAN PEDRO

Banging out twenty-four hits for thirteen runs, the Gene Murphy baseball team defeated San Pedro by a score of 13 to 6 at San Pedro Sunday. Johnson, on the mound for the winners, displayed some brilliant pitching in spots, allowing no hits in five innings and no runs in six. Cameron, Murphy first baseman, was the hitting star of the day with four safe blows out of five times at bat. The score:

CARTER LEADS AT HINSDALE

Play Second Round of Medal Play This Afternoon

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

HINSDALE (Ill.) July 21.—Spanking out a drive of 350 yards from the eighteenth tee, running his chip shot up to eight feet and holing the putts for a birdie 3 at the 390-yard hole, Capt. Ernest F. Carter of Flossmoor topped a speedy field in the first half of the qualifying round of the Western Amateur championship at the Hinsdale Golf Club today. His card of 34-35-69 for the rolling 6207-yard course was three shots under par.

A Herculean drive from the eighteenth tee which laid the foundation for his birdie enabled him to finish one stroke ahead of a sterling quartet of players of the younger school composed of Jimmy Manion of St. Louis, the trans-Mississippi champion; George Dawson of Green Valley, Chicago, George Hackel, Jh., of Midlothian and Ruddy Knepper of Onwentsia, the former Iowa champion.

COULDN'T DO IT

Each of these players had a chance to tie the redoubtable Captain, but could not produce a three at the final hole. These leaders topped one of the fastest fields in the history of the western golf classic.

Between Capt. Carter and the players who tied for thirtieth place there was only a difference of seven shots. Thirteen players tied at 77, so that it looks as though a total of 154 will be the dead line for qualification Wednesday.

There are only thirty-one places, as Champion Chick Evans is exempted from the qualifying round.

RAGGED EDGE

Allowing all of the seventy-seven's a chance to qualify, the most noted players who are on the ragged edge are Dick Bockencamp of St. Louis, with 78; E. Hoover Bankhard, Jr., of Midlothian; Ellsworth Augustus, the long driving Cleveland star, and Eddie Held of St. Louis, with 79.

Ira L. Couch, the western junior champion, who totalled 80, will have to get in a good round tomorrow to qualify.

IRVINE WINS CLOSE GAME ON HOME FIELD

Scoring the winning run in the fifth inning, Irvine defeated Santa Ana, 4 to 3, at Irvine Sunday. Both teams profited on fielding errors in the first inning to make three runs, but the two pitchers, Salveson and Hendricks, each pitched good ball and blanked the batters until the fifth. Arabel, of the winning team, was the big star with his classy fielding. Score:

PITCHER TACKLES HOPPE

K. O. Frankie Pitcher, Brooklyn lightweight, is hard at work at the Newsboys' Club gymnasium in preparation for his bout Friday night at Hollywood with Dick Hoppe. Several weeks ago Tom Kennedy, during his recent eastern jaunt, watched Pitcher work and was impressed to the extent that he brought the Brooklyn boxer back with him for a series of bouts at the Legion arena. In his first start at Hollywood a couple of weeks ago Pitcher convinced the bugs that he knew his oil when he put up a great scrap against Johnny Adams, newly-crowned Pacific Coast lightweight champion.

Pitcher claims that he was not at his best against Adams, and Matchmaker Kennedy backs his assertion, in that the long rail trip across the continent had slowed him up. He thinks, however, that with the three weeks' added training he will terminate Thursday he should be in the best of condition for his go with Hoppe.

Eddie Diggins has been served a tough assignment in Tommy Carter in the semifinal. The Hollywood fans like Carter because no matter what spot he's boxing in he's always trying. He should give Diggins a real argument. Red Cole and Jimmy Lanning mingle in the special spot at 135 pounds. Four preliminaries, which promise a lot of action, complete the bill.

TRUCK PNEUMATIC

"OUR PNEUMATICS AVERAGE 20,000 MILES ON 32 BUSES"

Independent Touring Car Line, Asheville, N. C., gets "More Miles and Better Service with Firestones."

"We use Firestone Gum-Dipped Pneumatics because we can get more miles for our money and better service than from any other tire that we have ever used," writes J. H. Paston, of the Independent Touring Car Line, Asheville, North Carolina.

"We find that our pneumatics average 20,000 miles per tire, which we consider especially good in view of the fact that our 32 buses travel in a difficult mountain territory."

Bus service is hard on tires — fast schedules, continual stops and starts, heavy loads, cut-up roads—these offer the supreme test of a pneumatic. Let us tell you how Gum-Dipping makes possible a bus and truck cord tire that meets every demand of load and road.

Etta Dineen Captures Final in Three Heats

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

KALAMAZOO (Mich.) July 21.—Fred Edman won the $2000 event for 2:03 trotters, feature event of Kalamazoo's seventeenth annual grand circuit renewal, driving Favonian to victory over Czar Worthy. The latter horse, driven by Tommy Murphy, won the first heat but in the next two heats the Edman horse handily outtrotted his opponent.

Edman's second victory came in the 2:07 trot, when with Harvest Day, a rank outsider, he finished three heats on an even basis with Mr. McElwyn, and in the fourth and deciding heat won, owing to Mr. McElwyn breaking in the stretch.

WINS TWO

Irene Scott, driven by Fleming, won the first two heats of the 2:10 pace, then lost the third heat to Iskander. The finishes were all close. Etta Druin had little trouble capturing the 2:18 trot, the field offering practicaly no opposition.

There are indications of a great crowd being present on Tuesday to witness the $25,000 Reno pacing derby for 2:08 pacers. Fourteen entries have paid up and will start in this event. The Murphy entry, Baron Worthy, is favorite.

BREAK FISH RECORDS AT NORTHERN LAKE

Offering a fly rod to the fisherman catching the heaviest trout at Lake Almanor, the Almanor Inn trout record has been broken seven times since July 1, according to word received from the northern lake yesterday. A Los Angeles angler, Maj. Wordsworth, first smashed the record with a twenty-six-inch trout, six pounds, four ounces. His record was broken six days later and the other records have not stood for more than one day. The largest fish was caught by F. Miller of Greenfield, Cal. The trout was over twenty-eight inches long and weighed exactly ten pounds. It broke the former record by three pounds and has stood since July 13.

ANOTHER NEW GOLF COURSE

Sepulveda Country Club to be Located Near the Soldiers' Home; Duncan Dunn is Architect

Another close-in golf course will soon be a reality for many Los Angeles golfers, as a State charter has just been granted the Sepulveda Country Club, Inc., which will at once construct a championship eighteen-hole golf course and clubhouse close to Wilshire Boulevard, and near the Soldiers' Home.

The incorporators and directors are Richard Wayne, Harold M. Lewis, John Duncan Dunn, Clyde R. Commons and L. C. Spear. The man to whom greatest credit is due for this addition to local golf courses is John Duncan Dunn, who has built many of the best courses in Europe and America, and who will be responsible for making the Sepulveda links among the best in Southern California.

The Sepulveda Country Club will build and operate its course for those who are members of the Southern California Athletic and Country Club, but the latter club has no part in the ownership, and it is optional with its members if they join the Sepulveda Club, which has its separate membership fees. This plan is similar to that employed in Europe and a number of eastern American cities which are being successfully operated under a leasehold.

Through this arrangement the Southern California Athletic and Country Club will secure for its golfing members, who desire it, the lowest-priced golfing privileges in America, as the nominal prices charged for membership covers the full fifteen years of the lease, with nominal greens fees being set by the Sepulveda Club—and no dues.

Work on the new course is already started, the survey is completed and each of the eighteen holes is marked. The course will be 6100 yards long, and par about 71. The fourth hole is an almost perfect duplicate of the famous cliff-hole at Biarritz, France, or a forty-five degree up-grade. Much of the ground is rolling, and the ocean is in full view from the fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth holes.

Improvement features include a commodious clubhouse, showers, locker rooms. Tennis courts and other features will be added as demands require them. About 1000 members of the Southern California Athletic and Country Club have already expressed their intention of taking advantage of these close-in golfing privileges.

BANKERS IN VICTORY OVER MERCHANT NINE

Allowing but two hits and one run, the California Bank baseball nine defeated the Hollywood Merchants by a score of 8 to 1 at Harvard Military Academy Sunday. Jessup, on the hill for the winners, was invincible. The two hits were even in separate innings. Jessup also fanned nineteen men and allowed but one walk, so he did manage to make himself useful throughout the afternoon's festivities. Lee, winning first base, had a perfect day with the willow, getting four hits out of as many trips to the plate. The score:

TYEE LAKE SCENE OF FISHERMAN'S PARADISE

Elmer Latz, who is touring the highways and byways of California on a fishing trip, and has uncovered good angling in several communities recently, now tells of the prize angling to be done at Tyee and Dusey lakes and at Bishop creeks. Latz stated in a letter to this city that he would try out the Bishop waters for a week or ten days. He reports that golden trout have been found in Dusey's Lake.

RECREATION

Article CIX

In the past few years most of us have been giving more or less thought to different forms of recreation. People in these enlightened days realize that recreation is necessary, owing to our method of living. Most of the surroundings in which we are forced to live are artificial, even those who are fortunate enough to live in homes of their own, situated in the most ideal locations, are still housed in because of modern customs. We lack that freedom which nature planned for us to have. That natural instinct has been carried in our veins for many generations, and rushes to the surface the moment we are turned loose back in the woods far away from the city and its noise. There is something within us that craves for freedom; we suppress that feeling or desire, striving to cultivate a feeling of satisfaction and contentment with our surroundings.

We try to make ourselves as well as others believe that we would not be happy unless we had this excitement of city life. Our natures we say, are different, the noise and glare of the electric lights, the crowded streets, the theater, restaurants with their jazz is just the tonic we need. This, of course, is not true, and down deep in our hearts we know it.

SHATTERED NERVES

If this was the natural way to live there would not be the thousands there are with shattered nerves; nor would there be so many sudden deaths at the time of life when one should be right in one's prime. And if this was true no one would plan for a vacation or week-end trips to get away from the very condition which one claims is the real tonic one needs to keep one's spirits up.

Most of us are unwilling to own up to the truth regarding our health; we are false to ourselves because we are living a false life, and trying to bluff it out because our will power is too weak to go alone. We follow the crowd; we must keep up with the Jones or Smiths. We lack that initiative; we are not strong enough to express our own desires in the matter of living in a way that we know would give us better health, more freedom of body and mind.

We are living in a most wonderful age, yet there was never so much unrest among human beings throughout the world as there is today. Every one is striving for that something; yet he does not realize what that something is for which he is striving. Religious, political and economic conditions are affecting every individual. And if recreation of some sort were not injected into our daily lives we would soon be fit subjects for the institutions for the weak-minded or insane.

WORK RECREATION

But the recreation that most of us take is not the real recreation we need. The recreation most of use need is re-ceration of a perfect mind and body. Our body is being re-created every moment of our lives, and that re-creation is either a success or failure, according to our method of living. This pertians to the development of mind and body. Recreation should be embodied in our daily habits, in our work. One's occupation should be so interesting that it forms a part of one's recreation, and unless this is true life is a failure, and one's health is impaired to the degree that drudgery enters into the work that one is engaged in.

One should be eager for a meal because of a natural hunger, not merely because it is meal time. It should be a part of one's recreation, and one should be in harmony throughout one's entire body, and not only have a perfect balanced meal, but ideal environments should be a part of that meal. One discontented person at a table will send out vibrations that will be felt by each person at that table, and the full value of the meal, regardless of how much care has been given to the selection of food, or the pains that may have been taken in the cooking, is lost under such conditions.

It is not always a question of the kind of food one has served, as it is a question of your mental and physical condition. The very best meal one may select can easily be poison to one's system if eaten under unfavorable conditions. And it is because we are living in this unsettled age of strife that most of us are not in the most receptive condition when we eat that many of our ills may be attributed to this cause.

GOLF

Men very often engage in a game of golf to rid their minds of worry, and congratulate themselves that they have found the right solution at last, when as a matter of fact for one to get the real benefit out of golf one should be in a perfect frame of mind with no worry—a freedom of mind—a child-like feeling of play. Under such conditions one will aid nature in the work of re-creating the body as well as re-educating the mind—aiding one in the retention of youth, also in retaining perfect health through nature's true meaning of recreation.

The niblick is the one club in my opinion which should have a comparatively smooth face. If the sand gets into the lines on the face of a club it interferes with the stroke. The great army of golfers, even though they play a niblick more than any other club, do not know that this club takes more skill for judgment of distance than any other, because of its great loft.

I grip this club firmly in the fingers about midway of the leather. I hold it particularly tight in the fingers, but with my arms, body and wrists slightly relaxed, and I try to relax a little more when in the long grass. The club should balance easily and the feeling of clubhead being like a weight should be, especially present in the niblick. The thumbs should be down the shaft with only a narrow inner section of them resting upon it. The hands should be close together so that they cannot work against each other. The reason for the extra tight grip for this club is that the clubhead usually encounters grass, sod or sand before it meets the ball, and this contact must not cause the clubhead to turn or stop. The firm grip allows the clubhead to go through grass or sand.

The feet should be far enough apart to give a feeling of firmness, and solidity, but as this club is used when you are in trouble, you must learn to accustom yourself to all kinds of stances, of course, trying to adjust them to your standard stance. As a rule, you should stand closer to the ball than with other clubs, the toes nearly on a straight line. They should be turned out carefully for good purchase in the uneven places you will have to stand in in bunkers and grass. The elbows should be crooked. The ball should be played about off the left heel and, of course, it is best to stand at a medium comfortable distance from it if you can. The body should be in a medium upright position relaxed and well-poised.

You should stand so steadily that the wind cannot disturb your balance. You must be sure not to crouch so low that poise is lost. The knee should be bent slightly and the heels kept down in order to distribute the weight evenly at the beginning of this stroke. Neither shoulder should be off of the straight line parallel to the imaginary direction line. The hands should not be turned down. Again it is necessary to consider the two imaginary lines before hitting the ball. As a general rule keep your hands back of the vertical line.

Owing to the great loft of this club this rule is not so important, but it should be followed approximately. Try to play the shot from its natural lie, facing the clubhead at right angles to the imaginary direction line. Take great care to locate the back part of your imaginary direction line and then keep your eye on the spot in the sand, grass or ground if you are to play a shot where the blade will not reach the ball first. When this blade is at right angles rhythm demands more than in any other shot that it be kept in motion, and this motion begins with the vibratory movement I have spoken of as sandpapering.

strength, might have scored a third victory in the mixed doubles with Mrs. Jessup.

This final, however, was quickly decided in favor of Williams and Mrs. Wightman, who were superior in strategy and stroking, despite the fact that Williams was playing under the handicap of a bad ankle. Richards was obviously tired, and Mrs. Jessup, who was unable to hold up her share of the burden, proved the weakest player of the quartet.

The Franco-American doubles final proved the afternoon's only thrills, but the match became tame when, after battling the Americans on even terms in the first four sets, Cochet and Brugnon wilted in the deciding set, while Richards and Hunter displayed the steadiest attack and best teamwork they had exhibited at any stage of the match.

SEES MILLENIUM

The more than 10,000 persons attending the convention of the association continued their studies of the Bible and discussions of the doctrinal beliefs. These include the conviction that the dawn of the millenium will come within the lifetime of the present generation—perhaps within the next twenty or twenty-five years.

Elaborating on the slogan of the organization—"Millions now living will never die," speakers today declared that with the coming of the new era, righteousness will be universal, deaths will cease and happiness will prevail throughout the world. The change will be a gradual one, it was said, and had its inception with the beginning of the World War in 1914.

BANK MESSENGER IN PORTLAND IS HELD UP

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

PORTLAND (Or.) July 21.—Four masked men this morning held up a messenger of the Bank of Kenton, four blocks from the bank, in an outlying district of Portland and escaped in an automobile with the messenger's grip containing $2000 in currency and silver. The hold-up men stepped from an automobile bearing a Washington license, stopped the messenger and, after taking his grip, entered the machine and drove away.

ST. LOUIS TREASURER DIES

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

ST. LOUIS, July 21.—John W. Dunn, 76 years of age, City Treasurer, died at the Missouri Baptist Sanatorium here after being ill for several months. He was elected on the Republican ticket four years ago.

MYSTERY GIRL IS VAGRANT

Found Sleeping in Park, She Prefers Jail to Giving Police Information About Herself

NEW YORK, July 21.—Morningside Park's girl lodger, 17-year-old Kathryn Lane, continues to refuse to tell the police why she has been sleeping in the park or to give particulars about her identity.

"I'd rather go to the House of the Good Shepherd than say anything about myself," she said, and that, as far as she is concerned, ends it.

So she remains in a cell at the Jefferson Market Court, a pretty girl with dark brown curly hair and eyes, charged with vagrancy. She was arrested Saturday night when Patrolman Shea found her on a bench.

Magistrate McAndrews, in the West Side Court, yesterday tried to get her to tell something about herself, but, except to say that her mother was dead and that she didn't know where her father is, she remained silent.

Reporters were a little more successful, learning that her father had married again. But the girl denied she left home, which she admitted was in Harlem, because of her stepmother.

"She's a regular fellow," the girl said.

She also said she had been a cashier at the Tivoli Motion Picture Theater at Eighth avenue and Fifty-third street, but she was not known there.

The girl is slightly lame, the result, she says, of an injury in athletic competition. She wore a black silk dress, a brown turban, brown slippers and brown silk stockings.

'Independent' to Rival Brookhart Is Plan in Iowa

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

DES MOINES (Iowa) July 21.—An "independent" candidate for United States Senator, but one selected from the ranks of "regular" Republicans, may go before the voters of Iowa in opposition to Senator Smith W. Brookhart. This was the statement tonight of a prominent Republican here for the party's state convention tomorrow.

A conference on the desirability of bringing out an independent senatorial candidate was held tonight behind closed doors. No definite information on the discussion was given out and no statement would be made, it was said, until the question had been gone over at further meetings, tomorrow.

SALVATIONIST SUCCUMBS

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN FRANCISCO, July 21.—Mrs. Adam Gifford, wife of Commissioner Adam Gifford, chief of the Salvation Army on the Pacific Coast, died at her home in Burlingame, near here, last night after an extended illness. Mrs. Gifford had been in the Salvation Army for thirty-nine years, having joined in Pittsburg, Pa., at the age of 17 years.

CASKET AND BODY WEIGH HALF-A-TON

Block and Fall Necessary to Lower Coffin; Bearers Rest Twice in 100 Feet

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WATERBURY (Ct.) July 21.—In a coffin made to order and declared to be the largest ever used in New England, Mrs. Catherine Bristol, 49 years of age, who weighed more than 600 pounds, was buried today in Riverside Cemetery. In carrying it 100 feet from the hearse to the grave the ten bearers had to stop twice to rest.

A block and fall was necessary to lower the coffin from the third floor home of Mrs. Bristol in Ansonia. The coffin alone weighed 430 pounds and was six feet long, thirty-four inches wide and twenty-six inches deep.

Mrs. Bristol was the widow of Charles Bristol, who was found dead in bed several years ago in Jersey City, N. J. Her death is attributed to her excessive weight.

BURNED TO DEATH

EL CENTRO, July 21.—C. A. Davis, 33 years of age, an employee of an Imperial irrigation district drainage crew operating near Holtville, was burned to death when gasoline with which he was working ignited. The man was removing gasoline from a tank and was completely enveloped in flames. He was standing on a $25,000 dredger at the time, and jumped from the big machine in order to prevent its burning, according to witnesses. Davis is asserted to have been a former resident of Fresno. He has no relatives here.

CONSIDER AIDES TO LA FOLLETTE

Candidate and Wheeler Are Picking Committee

Representative Nelson Will Head Campaign

Membership Probably Will be Announced Today

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, July 21.—Senator La Follette of Wisconsin, independent Presidential candidate, and his running mate, Senator Wheeler of Montana, devoted their energies today mainly to the task of selecting five members of the committee which will have charge of their campaign. Five other members are to be chosen by officials of the Conference for Progressive Political Action, while Representative Nelson of Wisconsin will be committee chairman.

Complete personnel of the committee had not been determined tonight, but it was said the membership probably would be announced tomorrow. A meeting of the committee will be held here as soon as possible, perhaps late this week, as those who have been directing the campaign believe little real progress can be made until it begins to function.

The committee will have complete charge of the campaign. It will map out strategy in consultation with Senators La Follette and Wheeler; will have the last word to say on the financing of the campaign from the standpoint of both contributions and expenditures; will make arrangements for placing the La Follette-Wheeler ticket on the ballot in the various States, and will determine what State organizations seeking recognition should be recognized and what local candidates seeking indorsement should be indorsed.

One of its important functions will be to canvass the field of Congressional candidates with a view to determining who should be supported and to decide under what name the ticket is to be placed on ballots in each of the States.

The committee is to be made up of representatives of the two candidates and of the conference in an effort to co-ordinate campaign activities. Its headquarters for the present, at least, probably will be in Washington, although later its base may be moved to Chicago, where Mr. Nelson maintains headquarters.

Both Senator La Follette and his Vice-Presidential candidate continued in formal conferences today with advisers on varied phases of the campaign program. Both are agreed that the drive for votes should be launched in the East, probably about a month hence, but no decision has been reached as to speech-making itineraries.

The league will maintain headquarters in Los Angeles. Its purposes, as given in the articles, include the following:

To use, encourage and advocate the use of the term "black American."

CONTRACT IS LET TO CUT INDIAN TIMBER

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, July 21.—The Interior Department today awarded to the Ewauna Box Company of Klamath Falls, Or., a contract for cutting 385,000,000 feet of timber on 4500 acres of unallotted land in the Long Prairie unit of the Klamath Indian Reservation. Prices to be paid are $6.87 a thousand feet for yellow and sugar pine, $4 for Douglas fir and incense cedar and $1 for other species, the highest ever paid for this class of timber in Oregon. The receipts will go to the Indians.

LIVE STOCK MILEAGE BASIS RATE ORDERED

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN FRANCISCO, July 21.—The rail carriers in California were redirected by the State Railroad Commission today to put into effect a mileage basis for the transportation of live stock that will reduce the present differential between class and commodity livestock rates by approximately $100,000 a year. The order followed complaints that the long-haul charges based on commodity rates and the higher short-haul charges based on class rates were so widely different that an adjustment was necessary.

GERMAN ACCUSED OF SEVENTEEN MURDERS

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

HANOVER (Germany) July 21. Fritz Haarmann, known as the "vampire murderer," has been charged with seventeen murders in an indictment just filed. The police believe they will be able to prove his guilt in at least eight other cases. Numerous disappearances reported in various parts of Germany are being traced to his house.

AUTOS LOST IN FIRE

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WILLIAMS (Ariz.) July 21.—Seven automobiles were lost in a fire that destroyed the garage of Polsen & Button, in the business center of the town. A mechanic spilled gasoline under a car, which was ignited by a spark from a broken electric wire. Serious loss was avoided by the work of the fire department, aided by arrival of a fomite tank from the Standard Oil depot.

RADICALS WILL RUN IN ARIZONA

La Follette's Name to be Placed on Ticket

New Party May Nominate for State Officers

Democrats Expected to Lose Most Votes

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PHOENIX, July 21.—The La Follette ticket is to be on the ballots of Arizona this fall. This action is to be taken by the "Progressive Conference for Political Action," an organization declared to have been in existence in the State for months past and to have a large membership, well scattered over the State, with its strength especially manifest in the railroad centers.

The railroad brotherhoods are said to be interested and are expected to send a large proportion of the delegates to a committee meeting rumored to have been called in Phoenix for this week. It is possible that candidates for State office also will be selected and very probable that some one will be advanced for the post of Governor. A prominent Phoenician states that he has been sounded on the subject, but that he has turned it down.

ONE LONE DELEGATE

Arizona was represented at the La Follette convention by a single delegate, said to have been a Tucson railroad man named Huston, but it is probable that he will not be the leader in the State fight.

It will not be hard for La Follette to get on the ballot, though the results may be messy for the registration officers. All that his backers need to do is to file with the Secretary of State a petition of at least 759 names, or 2 per cent of the vote for Governor at the last general election, this submitted by ten "well-known, reputable, qualified electors of the State, "asking that they be recognized as the nucleus of a new political party.

The messiness will come when the La Follette suporters proceed to switch their registrations. Probably two-thirds of the State's voters already are on the rolls and most of them, as members of the old parties, have taken partisan action already in signing nomination petitions.

OTHERS OFF LIST

Others may be listed as nonpartisan, and thus, at the present time, disqualified from voting in the primaries. Special blanks are being provided the recorders, in anticipation of the rush.

While it is recognized that the new party under no circumstances can carry Arizona, it may have a material effect on the campaign. It will take a very large primary vote from Gov. Hunt, who heretofore has had his main strength in the labor element. By the same token, at the general election will be defection of a very large element that always has voted the Democratic ticket.

This may include a large number of Democrats who favored McAdoo for President and who, just now, frankly admit they are "sore," and who are saying that Democracy "has been sold out to Wall street." Whether enough will swing over to throw the State to Coolidge is a mere matter for speculation. Of one thing there is assurance—that very few Arizona Republicans will be found in the new movement.

What Is an Electric Meter?

By F. E. DELLINGER, Overhead Electric Engineer

AN ELECTRIC METER is made up of a very small motor, the speed of which is dependent upon the amount of power which is passing through its coils. This motor drives a set of gears and pointers which constitute a revolution counter. The revolution counter keeps a record of the number of times the motor has turned and the design of the gears is such that the pointers are made to record kilowatt-hours.

As friction is the only element governing the accuracy of the meter which is subject to change, meter manufacturers use a jewel bearing, which is not only practically frictionless but may be used over long periods without appreciable wear.

The motor, gears and pointers are all encased in a dust-proof covering which keeps the working parts clean and free from corrosion.

An electric meter, when properly adjusted, may be depended upon to record absolutely accurately the amount of power which is passed through it.

The Outdoor Aristocrat

Facts—

Fontana Farms is the largest diversified property of its kind in the world. It is a development—not a promotion.

Fontana Farms is perfectly laid out—Good roads and shade trees border each farm—Experts, and a ranch organization of 500 men to assist you.

The final offering of the largest irrigated vineyard in the world is on the market. Over 4000 acres have been sold.

$500 Per Acre

These vineyards may be bought today for $500 per acre—in 5, 10 and 20-acre units.

Terms

$125 an acre cash—$25 an acre for three years payable semi-annually — $125 an acre the fourth year—$175 an acre the fifth year—at only 6%.

With each acre you get a share of water stock worth $300—You get free cultural care and free irrigation for three years—You need not live there then.

At maturity these vineyards should produce from 5 to 8 and 10 tons of grapes to the acre. Opening prices this year are from $75 to $90 a ton—and they probably will go higher. And a grape growers' exchange will market your crop—so you needn't worry.

THE oldest American is not more than two generations removed from the soil. That's why he feels like living when he gets away from the city with its rattle and roar—its fume-charged air—its rushing humans and its crushing speed—and slips into the country where the miles become a panorama of beauty, the trees his friends, the mountains his pals—and the world takes on a freshness his soul demands.

You have that urge—answer it! Do it today—for all your years—for your wife and children too—At Fontana Farms you can get five and ten or more acres of planted and irrigated vineyards at such a low price that you can't afford to stay in the city.—And you can have your own home—roses rambling everywhere and green things all about you — a real home that will pay for itself—You can't miss this chance to become an Outdoor Aristocrat.

Come see us, telephone, or write. You'll be surprised!

NOMINEE LOOKS UP PLATFORMS

Davis Gets Copies of Party Declarations for Study

Resumes Preparation of His Speech of Acceptance

Golf Game Sandwiched Into Work on Campaign Plans

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

DARK HARBOR, ISLESBORO (Me.) July 21.—Declaring himself fit to fight his weight in wildcats if need be, John W. Davis, Democratic Presidential nominee, got back to work today, thinking out phases of his acceptance address and attending to an accumulated pile of correspondence.

After a morning in his temporary workshop in Charles Dana Gibson's studio on Seven Hundred Acre Island, Mr. Davis called it a day and with Mrs. Davis came over to Islesboro to have lunch with Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Polk at their summer home. Frank B. Noyes, Washington (D. C.) publisher, and Mrs. Noyes, who arrived here today in their yacht, also were luncheon guests of Mr. and Mrs. Polk.

After lunch the Democratic nominee and his host drove to the Tarratin Golf Club for a match over the nine-hole course at the upper end of Islesboro.

Mr. Davis had delivered to him today copies of Democratic, Republican and La Follette platforms as well as the keynote addresses of the Democratic convention at New York and at the two conventions at Cleveland.

"Have you read the Democratic platform?" Mr. Davis was asked at his daily conference with newspaper correspondents. "I have," he replied with a smile. "I won't be misquoted on that."

The nominee added that he also had read the Republican and La Follette platforms, but explained that he was not prepared to take a civil service examination on either.

Without having fully mapped out his acceptance address, Mr. Davis has it in mind now to make about a forty-minute speech at Clarksburg, W. Va., on August 11 in reply to the formal address of notification which is to be made by Senator Thomas J. Walsh of Montana, permanent chairman of the New York convention.

JONES TO DIRECT SENATORIAL CAMPAIGN

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, July 21.—Senator Walsh of Massachusetts resigned today as chairman of the Democratic Senatorial campaign committee and was succeeded by Senator Jones of New Mexico.

"In accordance with precedent, I am relinquishing my duties as chairman of the Senatorial committee," Senator Walsh said, "as it is the practice for a Senator to serve in his capacity for only one Congressional election.

"The chief function of the committee is to keep in touch with and render assistance to Democratic Senatorial candidates. Senator Jones is not a candidate for reelection this year and is in position to give considerable time and attenton to the campaign. He can be relied on to make an active and successful campaign."

RUM CACHE PROTECTED BY BARRAGE

Berry Pickers Are Fired on as They Stumble on Hidden Store of Alcohol

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

DES MOINES (Iowa.) July 21. As they approached a cache of eighty gallons of alcohol, a party of berry pickers were fired upon by bootleggers stationed a short distance away near the Robert Bannister farm, north of Berwick.

The berry pickers early in the day came across one cache of seventy-six gallon cans hidden under the bushes near the road. Shortly after an automobile drove up and carried the liquor away.

Two hundred yards up the road, the pickers approached the other cache. At the sound of shots being fired in their direction members of the party notified the Sheriff's office and Deputies Hicks, Scovel and Gibson went to the scene and seized the booze.

The deputies are searching for the owner. They obtained the license number of the car and expect to make an arrest in the case within the next twenty-four hours.

At bootlegger's prices, the alcohol is valued at about $4500. County officials say there has been a slight rise in the wholesale price of grain alcohol because of the scarcity. Latest wholesale price to bootleggers is quoted $20 per gallon.

WOMAN SEES HER SON AND HUSBAND DROWN

GRAND JUNCTION (Colo.) July 21.—Watching from the bank, helpless and terrified, Mrs. W. L. Dixon of Mesa saw her husband and son drown in the treacherous Colorado River near Cameo. The mysterious circumstances surrounding the body of a man believed to be Lou M. REPUBLICS PLAN ROAD CONGRESS

Latin-Americans to Model From American Highways

Washington Meeting Ends With New Organization

Nineteen Nations Joined in New "Federacion"

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, July 21.—With a complete picture of highway transportation conditions in the United States as a background for action, delegates to the Pan-American Highway Commission are sailing for the respective countries this week after organizing the Pan-American Confederation for Highway Education, and formulating a tentative program for the first Pan-American Highway Congress to be held in Buenos Aires next spring.

In each of the nineteen Latin-American nations represented on the tour will be formed a "Federacion Nacional de Education Vial," a body patterned after the Highway Education Board of the United States, the parent organization. These "federacions" are united in the Pan-American Confederation for Highwy Education.

In the opinion of those participating in its organization, there is thus formed an international organization destined to have a far-reaching effect upon transportation facilities of the American continent, and a foundation upon which the structure of continued friendly relations can be even more firmly established.

CONGRESS PLANNED

The organization of the confederation was the final official act of the delegates, who previously had submitted to Dr. Leo S. Rowe, director-general of the Pan-American Union, a tentative program for the first Pan-American Highway Congress. Dr. Rowe, Thomas H. MacDonald, chief of the United States Bureau of Public Roads; J. Walter Drake, assistant secretary of the Department of Commerce, and other high government officials express the opinion that the entire trip of the commission has resulted in a great stimulus to highway transportation activities, both in this country and in those represented by delegates.

The commission closed its work in this country with a series of conferences in Washington, after traveling more than 4000 miles in ten States, inspecting the highways of North Carolina, Kentucky, Illinois, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Michigan, Ohio, New York, Pennsylvania and New Jersey.

TRAVELED BY MOTOR

Fully half of the mileage covered was by automobile or motor bus, while the tour itself was marked by expressions of the most cordial sentiments by officials and the public at large for the Latin-American nations represented. The tour was under the auspices of the Highway Education Board, of which Dr. J. J. Tigert, United States Commissioner of Education, is chairman. It lasted thirty-one days.

Fifty-five persons comprised the official party, thirty-seven of them being representatives of nineteen Latin-American nations. Under a committee on arrangements consisting of Roy D. Chapin, chairman, Fred I. Kent and W. A. Beatty, the direction of the trip was given to S. T. Henry of New York, who has had much experience in Latin-American affairs, and who also has wide business and personal contacts in this country.

Lahm, winner of the first international balloon race for the Gorden Bennett trophy, September 30, and October 1, 1906, and one of the first airplane pilots to qualify under Wilbur Wright, assumed his duties today as acting air officer of the Ninth Corps Army Area. He will succeed Lieut.-Col. William E. Gilmore as chief air officer here on August 1. Col. Gillmore has been assigned to duty with the service in Washington.

In 1909 at Fort Myer, Va., Orville Wright and Col. Lahm, flying in a Wright airplane, broke the existing record for sustained flight, remaining in the air for one hour and twelve minutes. Col. Lahm won the national balloon race from Kansas City in 1911.

Col. Lahm also established the first air service and school for pilots in the Philippine Islands in 1912. He is a graduate of West Point and is former commander of the aviation school at North Island, San Diego, and the Army balloon school at Omaha, Neb. END OF SERVANT STRIKE SOUGHT

Foreigners in Canton Vote to Rehire Workers

Employees Demand Repeal of Passport Regulation

British and French Consuls Confer With Leader

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

CANTON, July 21.—Residents of Shameen, the foreign quarter, whose domestic and commercial life has been almost paralyzed by a strike of Chinese employees, at a meeting late yesterday voted unanimously to re-employ strikers if the walkout were called off. The strike was called in protest against recent orders requiring, among other items, that Chinese employed on the island later than 9 a.m., obtain passports, with photographs attached, for display to authorities on entering or leaving the quarter after that hour.

The Shameen residents voted 100 to 40 to grant the strikers pay for the time they have been out, some of those attending the session failing to vote. Much dissatisfaction was expressed at the gathering that the municipal authorities had withheld all advance intimations that they proposed to put the new regulations into effect.

Kwan Eak-Chi, who is taking a leading part in the direction of the present strike and who headed the great walkout at Hongkong some time ago, said today that the British and French consuls had agreed to cancel the new regulations except those requiring passports and the deposit of photographs of passport holders with the police, but as these are the principal items to which the strikers are objecting, no agreement was reached.

However, Kwan and the consuls are to meet again today.

"We will never cease to strike unless our demands are granted," Kwan declared.

The British Consul, in a statement declaring that all foreigners were required to possess passports with photographs attached, inquired why in view of this the Chinese should object to the new regulations. This, however, is regarded by the Chinese as subterfuge.

Two Million Dollar Advertising Fund for Los Angeles

An available method has been conceived to spend yearly the above vast sum to advertise Los Angeles. Get Ready for Great Prosperity.

Advertising is the greatest power on earth.

The present Advertising Clubs and the Chamber of Commerce, Better Business Bureau, and all the efficient men behind those enterprises and other civic organizations, have done and are still doing wonderful work towards boosting Los Angeles.

But, in addition to what they are doing, this plan may open the way to greater growth and more abundant prosperity for all of us.

LISTEN, FOLKS—

Without salary, I am willing to devote all of my time to this new project to double the population of Los Angeles—P. D. Q.—and vastly increase the prosperity of each and every one of us.

I don't ask a dime in the way of profit, and I will supply the printing at cost and have available some of the best advertising men known to take full charge of this gigantic campaign.

You hotel men, you big subdividers, you prosperous real estate men, you bankers, property owners, taxpayers, and others interested in our greater growth—consider well the tremendous possibilities of this plan to bring new industries and home builders to our city.

Some of you big men must stand behind me in this plan. Get in touch with me at my office or residence, given below. Let's discuss the colossal possibilities of this plan, with a view to quickly putting it into immediate operation.

HERE'S THE NEW IDEA

Let's get a few representative men and organize "The Greater Los Angeles Club," or "The Boosters' Club"—a non-profit organization, the purpose of which is to make known to the world the greatness of Los Angeles, and the vast undeveloped resources of Southern California, with a view to bringing new money, new people and new industries into the State to develop our resources.

"Los Angeles—Greatest and Best"

There are four hundred thousand users of automobiles in Los Angeles. These signs can be sold to users and attached to their cars and these can be offered through the Chamber of Commerce, Automobile Clubs, banks, business houses, to each automobile owner in the city. The newspapers should get behind this plan, and give us so much newspaper publicity that to own an automobile and not have a Booster slogan sign on your car would be like a man during the war who did not buy a Liberty Bond.

The people would be ashamed not to have one of these signs on their car. They will sell, together with a year's membership in the Boosters' Club, at $5.00 each. That would bring us TWO MILLION DOLLARS.

Next, we will have an art calendar printed and supplied at cost by my printer. It will be most attractive and carry the following slogan:

"Los Angeles—Greatest and Best"

"For full information on any subject address

Greater Los Angeles Club,
Los Angeles, Calif.

On each leaf of the calendar will be printed a message showing advantages of our resources. Each leaf will carry a message as to what Los Angeles offers in the way of big things—industrial activity, building permits, bank clearings, hours of sunshine, temperature, etc. Other leaves of the calendar will show the amount of the citrus crop when harvested, the tremendous cantaloupe crop in Imperial Valley. The walnut crop, grape crop, fish industry, and every leaf will have a message of interest to people throughout the world.

A million letters leave Los Angeles daily. One of these calendars should go in each letter until this message has been carried to millions of people, and the calendar can be supplied at such a small cost that letter writers will be ashamed NOT to enclose one of these to their friends back East.

The calendar can easily be sold at 50c, bringing another $500,000 yearly to be used in advertising. The revenue from the sale of the calendar alone would more than pay for the entire operation of the organization, leaving us a possible profit of TWO MILLION from the sale of the publicity auto signs.

Every visitor in Los Angeles, every time he turned around, in the hotels, the stores and wherever he went, would be faced with the slogan on automobile and on calendars—

"Los Angeles—Greatest and Best"

Every automobile which left the State would carry wherever it went "LOS ANGELES—GREATEST AND BEST." If necessary we could even put out salesmen to shame people into buying these automobile slogan signs and the calendar, and no red-blooded taxpayer, business man, property owner, or citizen would be without both at the small sum asked.

The public will be made to realize that with this colossal TWO MILLION DOLLARS yearly advertising fund we can work wonders, and vastly increase the population and our prosperity. We can pack the hotels with tourists. Every empty house will be rented from Riverside to the Sea. Thousands of new homes will be demanded and bought.

Come on, Folks—Join me. Give me your co-operation. Let's get together a few live wires and do something NOW.

Let's keep Los Angeles and Southern California the whitest spot on earth. I'll furnish the men with brains capable of doing this and put a printing plant at your disposal which will turn out the work at cost.

I am paying for this announcement with my own hard-earned cash. I have nothing to profit more than any other citizen by seeing this thing a tremendous success.

The question is

if you will help me launch the idea in a proper way, and get behind it with the right spirit?

Karnak Sales Exceed Supply

Thousands of Local Citizens Praise Celebrated New Medicine While Other States Clamor For It. Popularity is Explained

Thousands of local citizens are now singing the praises of Karnak and everywhere one goes he hears of the wonderful results achieved by the medicine. And although the Karnak laboratories are working at full capacity it is impossible to supply the enormous demand for the medicine.

In discussing the phenomenal sale of the preparation today Mr. Leo Carroll, special representative of Karnak, said:

"Karnak is popular with the masses because it fills a need that has long been felt for a safer and more effective health-building medicine. It is purely vegetable and accomplishes its results so naturally and often so quickly that one is astonished. Usually you can tell from the first few doses that you are being substantially benefited.

Malnutrition Dangerous.

"If there is any one thing more than another which causes poor health among American it is the failure of the stomach and nervous system to work properly. This is no doubt due to our national habit of over-eating and over-working.

"Once let the stomach fail to do its duty and the vital organs become clogged with waste, the system becomes poisoned with impurities, the nerves break down and a hundred different symptoms and ailments appear. Indeed, scientists the world over are coming more and more to accept the theory of M. Andre that malnutrition, through failure of the digestive system to work properly, is the starting point of most human complaints.

Rich Suffer.

"This malady strikes the rich and the poor alike, for no matter how much food we eat, it does more harm than good if the stomach fails to digest it. The indigested part putrifies and fills the system with poisonous gases and impurities that tear down the tissues, sap the strength and wreck the nervous system.

"The suffering of the victim is often acute and pitiful to behold. At other times a gradual decline in health sets in that brings old age before its time and shortens the life by tens of years.

"The first symptoms of this dreadful condition are usually a fullness in the stomach after meals, belching, head-aches, constipation and weakness, with a bad taste in the mouth of mornings. These symptoms appear simple and cause no alarm, but if we value our health we will not let them go uncorrected, for today's slight attack of indigestion develops into the chronic case of dyspepsia and shattered nerves of a few months hence. Disease, like everything else, usally has a small beginning, and it is in the beginning that it had best be stopped.

Clamor for Karnak.

"Karnak owes much of its success to the fact that it contains certain elements that tone up the weak, inflamed stomach and stengthen the organs of digestion, thereby re-establishing full nutrition of the body. The organs of elimination are strengthened and impurities are thrown off thoroughly and naturally. Other ingredients tone up flabby tissues, eliminate depraved body fluids and strengthen the nervous system."

Every state in the union is clamoring for Karnak, stated Mr. Carroll, but it will be impossible to open more territory to its distribution before enlargements to the Karnak laboratories are completed.

The Affair at Othman's

BY WILL PAYNE

"You don't want much, young man!" Muldoon commented and chuckled—and ruminated. "Pat Cullen, now, is one man I really owe something to that I ain't ever paid. You seem a likely lad yourself. You were square with me in the dock business. You go see Welbasky, say, in an hour from now. Maybe I can drop a word that'll help a bit." At times there was a faint touch of brogue in his speech. He got up and, when Kendall arose, extended a big, puffy paw.

"Undestand now," he said, Kendall's hand in his, "if they get the goods on the young lady I can't do anything for you. All I can do is my way of givin' her an even break.'

"That's all I ask,' Kendall replied gratefully, and went out with a lighter heart.

Somebody had killed Othman. The only sure protection for Flora Marsden lay in finding that somebody. Thinking it over the night before, Kendall had an idea, and he now wished, first of all, to see Nelson Barlow. The morning newspapers said no arrest had been made, and mentioned nobody by name as being held under suspicion, so presumably Nelson had been allowed to go home. At his rooms in the Benedick Apartments, in fact, Kendall found him, just finishing breakfast: dark rings under his eyes, with the wan aspect of one who has missed a night's sleep a hag-ridden air subtly overlying the jaunty man. But he greeted the reporter amiably—and disappointed him.

No, he'd never seen any jewels to speak of in Othman's house, never had heard Othman mention possessing any jewels, never had heard from any other source of a notable collection of jewels in Othman's possession. Of course, Othman was rich; might have any quantity of rare gems, but Barlow doubted it—at least, had never heard of it. That was disappointing to Kendall.

"You think it might have been robbery, then—some of the servants?" Nelson inquired, thoughtfully—and rather skeptically, it seemed.

"Flora didn't shoot him," Kendall replied, looking him in the eye, "and you didn't. So it must have been one of the servants."

"Well that's so," Nelson admitted, like a reasonable man. "But I never heard of any jewels."

"I'm going to search the house, anyhow," said Kendall. "I've got an inside track now, the newspaper and a big politician behind me. I'm certain Walbasky will give me a free hand as far as searching the house." He spoke half absently, absorbed with his disappointment.

"Search it, eh?" Nelson repeated thoughtfully, and got up, but abruptly sat down again, evidently disturbed, brushing a nervous finger over his little mustache. "See here, Kendall, you can do me a great favor if you will and not hurt yourself at all either. I had a talk with Flora last evening. She told me she was going up to Othman's. I got to thinking it over and it made me nervous. He was a great brute, you know. So I slipped a gun in my pocket and went up there to see she was treated decently. That's why I had the gun. I thought I'd wait twenty minutes, and if she didn't come down safe and sound I'd go up stairs. But she went out without my seeing her. When I started up stairs the footman was coming down. He said Othman had been shot. Well, I preferred not to be found with a gun in my pocket. I lost my head and hid it. That's how it happened.

"You can do me a great favor. Maybe you know that Othman practically owns the old cartridge company. I was assistant treasurer of it up to a few weeks ago. I ran back and forth to Othman's house on company business. Probably you know there's more or less inside jealously and spying in a big concern like that—have to keep an eye on people."

He was regarding the caller soberly, sort of weighing him with his eyes.

"In that room where Othman was shot, over near the bedroom door, there's a carved chest with a gold and scarlet cloth on it, looks like nothing but an ornament. There's a shallow drawer in the middle of it, however. In that drawer, unless Othman took them out meanwhile, there are four vouchers from the office of the treasurer of the cartridge company; pale blue pieces of paper about so big. I got them out of the office and took them up to Othman; checking up on one of the men in the office, you understand, confidentially. The police might get hold of them and start a mess. On the other hand, technically speaking, I had no business to take them out of the office. Othman owns the company, but he isn't an officer or even a director. It would make a mess all around. Will you get those four pieces of paper for me—slip them into your pocket? It would be a great favor to me."

"No doubt I can do it," Kendall replied.

"Of course you can," Nelson replied cheerfully. "It will do no harm at all and help me out of a mess." He smiled gratefully as he shook hands at parting.

But the reporter went out with a new idea: Were those four pieces of paper as innocent as suave, lightweight Nelson Barlow affirmed?

At Capt. Welbasky's office he at once found himself on a footing quite different from that of the night before, as though he and the lean, homely, able police officer now belonged to the same lodge. Evidently Roger Muldoon had spoken the good word he promised.

"I'm glad you've got a friend," said Welbasky significantly as soon as the door was shut. "I'll tell you right now that I don't want to hurt that young lady any more than you do. I'm ready to do all I can for her." There was even a smolder of emotion in his manner—human as another behind his official mask, receptive to womanly grace and beauty for all his grotesque nose and harsh trade. "Now that my hands are free I'll give her, and you, the fairest show in the world. You know how it is—whole town up on its toes over this murder; newspapers biting the calf of my leg every step for more details. I've got to do something—make a show. If her eyes hadn't turned me chicken-hearted I'd have locked her up last night. Now, then, what's your idea about it?"

"Jenks killed him," said Kendall promptly.

Quite as promptly, and with disgust, Welbasky replied, "Rot!"

"Jenks killed him," Kendall repeated. "The man's a murderer. He carried a gun. He pulled it on me last Wednesday." He related that encounter and concluded: "He'd as lief kill a man as not. It was in his eyes."

"What sort of gun was that?" Welbasky asked with interest.

"All I saw was a black revolver with a short barrel."

The detective gave a nod. "That's it. We found that gun in a small drawer on top of Jenks's bureau early last night. He said it was his. A maid said she'd noticed it there before—black and a short barrel. But it hadn't been discharged and it's a .45. The gun that killed Othman was sort of unusual, a .32 — sort of a lady-like gun. I haven't been overlooking the servants in the house by any means. I've checked up every one of 'em. Unless there is some wholesale conspiracy of lying among 'em every one is accounted for. The butler was down on the second floor. That young footman was on the first floor. Miss Marsden's statement bears that out. Every other one is accounted for.

"As for Jenks, listen, now: He was sent out of the house to buy flowers. He went to a shop on Madison avenue. There was some delay and he was stewing about it. He pulled out his watch to show the young woman how late it was—seventeen minutes past seven. That's what he told me last evening. The young woman confirms it. He was hurrying home with a big box of flowers. He slipped on the snoy near Othman's, fell and bumped his head. He says a man helped him up. That was in the newspaper accounts. I put it in for a purpose.

"Half an hour ago a stout man with a gray mustache dropped in here. He'd been reading the morning papers and stopped in to say he was the man who helped up a tall, lank man who had fallen in the snow and bumped his head; the man who'd fallen was carrying a big pasteboard box. I had it put in the newspaper account with just that in mind. About seven times out of ten, in a like case, the man who's referred to, if he has nothing to hide, will turn up here and confirm the detail. The newspaper account didn't say what the good Samaritan looked like, but Jenks had said it was a stout man with a gray mustache. The man who turned up here was stout, with a gray mustache. He gave his name, occupation, business address, residence address. The addresses he gave are in the telephone directory. Of course, I haven't checked him up thoroughly yet, but I'll bet my head to a doughnut he's a perfectly respectable, trustworthy citizen.

"Now, then, Jenks left the flower shop at seventeen minutes past seven, which was just about the minute Othman was shot. He fell, bumped his head, and so forth on the way home. He limped up to the front door, muddy from the fall. The footman ran upstairs with the flowers and found Othman dead. If you want to do any good on this case, forget Jenks. What could have been his motive, anyway?"

There was a frightful conclusiveness about Welbasky's statement. Kendall felt that he sounded rather foolish when he replied: "In part, at any rate, it was robbery, of course, you remember the man with a Russian name—Karoff—who was killed last spring as he was leaving Othman's house. He had a lot of bonds and money in a safe deposit box. I was in England the September before. Maybe you remember how some soviet emissaries came to London with a satchel full of the czar's crown jewels. They were going to subsidize a radical London newspaper and probably had other propaganda schemes, but the British government got on to them. I don't know how much the New York newspapers printed, but you may remember something about it."

Welbasky nodded.

"Well, I happen to know some newspaper men over there. This was a government case and consequently handled with care in the press. It was given out that early reports as to the quantity or value of jewels brought to London were greatly exaggerated. Maybe Scotland Yard finally came to that conclusion. But, in fact, there was good reason to believe that a lot of those jewels mysteriously disappeared in London — probably by some inside crookedness, for the soviet chiefs picked up all sorts of queer fish; all sorts of queer fish got on the inside. Last spring I naturally thought of that in connection with the fellow who was shot just after leaving Othman's house. He had a lot of bonds and money in a safe deposit vault. I believe he'd been selling those Russian jewels, or some of 'em to Othman. Othman had 'em in his house and Jenks knew of it."

MEXICAN CANDIDATE TO CONTEST ELECTION

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

EL PASO, July 21.—Declaring that the ballots of three precincts that he carried were thrown out illegally under the guise of asserted irregularities, Antonio Corona, former Mayor of Juarez, and candidate for Congress, has announced that he would file contest proceedings in Juarez. Mr. Carona asserted that if the three precincts had been counted he would have been declared elected. F. D. Gonzales was declared winner by 432 votes.

PRESCOTT (Ariz.) July 21.—About 30,000,000 gallons of water now are stored in Lake Goldwater, with prospect that it will be kept well filled by mountain streams that feed the newly established reservoir. Heretofore most of the city's water supply was pumped from Del Rio, twenty miles north of the city, and at a much lower elevation.

MOTHER IS ACQUITTED OF MURDER

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

MAYS LANDING (N. J.) July 21.—Their verdict greeted by prolonged cheering of the spectators, mostly women, a jury in the Criminal Court here found Mrs. Pearl Willard and John J. Gilles, former New York policeman, not guilty of the murder of Mrs. Willard's 5-month-old daughter, Alice Dorris Willard.

During the trial, one of the strangest in New Jersey's history, Mrs. Willard was compelled to sit within a few feet of the embalmed body of an infant found near the Willard home and which the State contended was the remains of her daughter. The body was found by a rag-picker named Mullins. Mrs. Willard collapsed during the trial.

The strongest testimony against Mrs. Willard was that of a boarder at her home who swore he saw Gilles leaving the Willard house with a bundle under his arm, the night the infant girl was supposed to have disappeared. It was asserted that the dead infant's body found by Mullins, was wrapped as was Gilles's bundle. Mrs. Willard contended that the body was not that of her daughter, but that her own child was with her husband, or that he knew its whereabouts. Halmond Willard, the husband, fled the State, soon after the body was found. He is under indictment for murder.

Bankers to Sell Union Oil Stock Bought of Shell

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, July 21.—New York bankers, who several weeks ago acquired 235,000 shares of the Union Oil Company of California from the Shell Union Oil Company, will offer the stock for public subscription this week.

The sale will mark the last phase of the unsuccessful struggle waged by the Royal Dutch-Shell interests to obtain a foothold in the American oil-producing field. Having acquired 26 per cent of the Union Oil stock, the plan to gain complete control of the company was blocked by California interests, who deposited 57 per cent of the shares in perpetuating trust agreement. Sale of the Shell-Union holdings to bankers followed.

COAL BARGE SINKS, CREW IS RESCUED

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN FRANCISCO, July 21.—The barge Isaac Reed, which was being towed from here to Eureka with coal, sank last night off Bodega Bay. The eight men aboard were rescued by coast guardsmen. The barge had been leaking for some hours and an effort was made to get it into Bodega Bay before it foundered, but after its pumps became clogged with coal dust the tug Sea Ranger, which had the craft in tow, summoned the coast guardsmen, and shortly after the crew had been taken off, the barge went down.

Los Angeles Firm Also Loses Hundred Acres of Timber

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

FRESNO, July 21.—The entire plant of the Oriole Lodge Mill, located five miles above Oak Grove, Tulare county, 75,000 feet of finished lumber and about 100 acres of standing timber were destroyed by a fire of unknown origin which broke out in a drying kiln yesterday, according to a special dispatch to the Fresno Bee. The mill, which practically closed down Saturday, is owned by the Pratt & Warner Lumber Company of Los Angeles. From the company's headquarters at Los Angeles came word today that the loss would reach $100,000.

The six men in the camp did not notice the fire until the kiln was all in flames. At the first fire alarm aid was summoned. Two rangers directed thirty men in working against the blaze.

The fire jumped into the standing timber and was burning today, but was under control.

A report from the Oriole Lodge Mill indicated that there was no insurance on the property.

LAND TO BE SOLD

Acreage In Heart of Sierra Madre to Go Under Hammer

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

SIERRA MADRE, July 21.—Notice by the commissioner of sale on foreclosure of mortgage has just been published against Gilbert S. Keyes, wealthy rancher of this city. The sale involves more than fourteen acres of ranch land located in the center of this city. The plaintiff, Thomas Strain, secured the order of foreclosure from the Superior Court on the 8th inst., and the publication of the action followed Saturday.

Mr. Keyes, several months ago, endeavored to sell part of the property to Ole Hansen, former Mayor of Seattle and well-known local real estate dealer. Some of the property was to be used as a cemetery by Mr. Hansen, and this project raised so much dissension among the property owners of the city that the proposition was put on a voting basis and laid before the public. It suffered immediate defeat.

Commissioner E. E. Bennet will, in obedience to the order, start the sale of the property at 11 a.m. in front of the Broadway entrance of the City Hall, and will sell that amount which will satisfy court cost, and plaintiff's judgment.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

UPLAND, July 21.—Lorenzo Sepulveda, 25 years of age, and Jose Legaspe, 24, were held in jail this afternoon in lieu of $1000 bail each, following their arraignment this morning before Judge George R. Crane on a charge of falsely obtaining mail from the Cucamonga postoffice belonging to another. The complaint against the pair recites that by making false affidavit they obtained from the postoffice a letter containing a check for $50 intended for Lupe Sepulveda and by forging an indorsement cashed the paper with T. Edward Diener, Cucamonga store-keeper.

POMONA SEEKS DISPENSARY

County Supervisors to be Asked for Appropriation of $50,000 for Free Institution

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

POMONA, July 21.—An appropriation of $50,000 for the immediate establishment of a free county dispensary in Pomona will be asked of the Los Angeles County Board of Supervisors, it was announced by County Health Officer Pomeroy, who stated that he felt sure that the appropriation would be granted.

This $50,000 request is to be sought in a general plan seeking a total of $250,000 for free dispensaries to be established in several cities of the county including Pomona, Watts, San Fernando and possibly San Pedro and Belvedere.

Provided the appropriation is made without a hitch as is expected, building will be begun within sixty days, Dr. Pomeroy stated today. It is planned to construct the new building on city property at the corner of Fifth and Main streets. The property has already been unofficially offered the county by Mayor Ovington.

It is expected that as soon as the appropriation is made, Dr. Pomeroy will make an official request for the use of the property. That this request will immediately be complied with is certain as the Mayor and Council are ready to co-operate with the county in any way to get the dispensary here as soon as possible.

That such an institution is needed badly in the Pomona Valley is proven by the fact that hundreds of emergency cases are treated here annually in the local health office under the direction of Dr. Fontaine.

She added that before that a man broke into her house and left a baby boy with her. Police were unable to learn what became of it. Juvenile authorities are investigating.

LOWER GAS RATES FOR LONG BEACH FORECAST

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, July 21.—Lower gas rates for Long Beach were forecast today following a meeting of the Council's gas committee. Recommendations were made which will be submitted to the council at its meeting tomorrow. Under the revision now proposed it is understood that industrial and commercial rates will be reduced, with a possibility of lower domestic rates. Much dissatisfaction has been expressed recently over the industrial gas rate, some manufacturers asserting that it would be cheaper for them to burn fuel oil instead of gas. The present industrial rate is as low as 8 cents per thousand cubic feet in one instance.

STOCK QUARANTINE IS GRADUALLY LIFTED

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

LANKERSHIM, July 21.—Except for seventeen infected premises in the valley upon which the hoof-and-mouth malady was present, the quarantine has been lifted. Hay, cattle, poultry, eggs, fruits, vegetables—all may be moved at will without permits, provided the removal is not from one of the seventeen ranches upon which tests for immunity have not yet been made. In all, twenty-two premises were affected by the plague. Upon five of these healthy cattle were placed for test purposes a month ago. None of those cattle developed any symptoms of the ailment and therefore the district is declared free. Roadside delivery of feed is still enforced at the infected ranches and it is not yet permissible for produce or stock to be removed from those premises.

HUGE TREES FELLED

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

INGLEWOOD, July 21.—Seventy years or more ago sapling eucalyptus trees set out on the wide approaches of the immense Rancho Aguaje de la Centinela were beginning a growth that recently made them the tallest and most beautiful in this section, the pride of what is now Pimiento street, this city. This is the first day for half a century that these trees have not cast a cooling shade on this wide avenue, but the vernal monarchs are today lying prostrate, with branches lopped off, trunks and limbs soon to be converted into firewood.

The avenue is soon to be a broad ribbon of concrete, leading from the business section of the city to the industrial section, near the Inglewood Manufacturing Company. Despite the oratorical plea of City Attorney Clyde Woodworth, Inglewood native son, of "Woodman, spare that tree," a city ordinance doomed the landmarks to destruction, as they interfered with the paving of the thoroughfare, for they extended for blocks right down the center of the avenue.

AGED DOCTOR LOST IN HILLS

John Fred Escher Disappears in Uninhabited Area of Cuyamaca Mountains

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN DIEGO, July 21.—An all night search which was continued today, had failed to locate Dr. John Fred Escher, 82 years of age, who disappeared early last night in an uninhabited area in the Cuyamaca Mountains. The aged doctor was a member of a picnic party, and it is presumed he wandered away and became lost in the mountain fastnesses.

Forest rangers in the Hulburd Grove district joined the search this morning. Footprints in the dust on the old Viejas Grade, near the scene of the picnic, and which are believed to have been made by the doctor, led to the edge of a cliff from where there is a sheer drop of nearly 200 feet into a boulder-strewn canyon.

Pasadena Man Hopes to Bring Monarch's Auto

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

PASADENA, July 21.—The huge closed car owned by King George of England, in which virtually every crowned head in Europe has ridden, may be brought to Pasadena and presented to Charles Y. Knight, 818 South Orange Grove avenue, it became known today.

Mr. Knight, now one of Pasadena's wealthiest men, invented the Knight motor twenty-one years ago. King George's car is equipped with a Knight motor which he has been using since 1910 and now that the King has ordered a fleet of ten new cars, the Pasadena inventor is making arrangements to secure the old one as a keepsake.

"I was present when this car was delivered to the King," Mr. Knight said today, "and now that His Majesty is finished with it I should like to own it for old times' sake."

Mr. Knight received a cablegram at his Pasadena home recently from the agency in England which sold the car to the King. He was also informed the King had ordered several new cars, all to be built with special bodies.

"The King is the only person in England to drive without a license plate," said Mr. Knight, "and he is a fast driver, too. His average speed is about forty miles an hour."

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

OXNARD, July 21.—W. R. Prosise of Pasadena was so badly injured in an auto accident on the Rincon road here Sunday that he died before he could be removed to a hospital. He was on his way from Summerland in Santa Barbara county when a machine driven by George Bensinger of Santa Barbara crashed into his car. The auto driven by Bensinger had been forced off the road and in attempting to get back onto the pavement suddenly swung across the road and struck the one driven by Prosise, turning it over and pinning the occupants underneath. They were removed from the wreckage and rushed to the hospital. Mrs. Prosise regained consciousness several hours after the death of her husband and called continually for him. She was not informed of his death. One of the nurses at the hospital called the mother of Prosise at Pasadena over the telephone and told her that her son had been hurt badly and needed her at once. When the conversation had gone this far the nurse was unable to get any further response, surmising that the mother had become so excited that she could not talk or had fainted.

HOW TROUT ARE PLANTED

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CAMP CURRY, YOSEMITE, July 21.—Just how the young trout are planted in the Yosemite streams each year was described today by Manager Robert T. Williams of Camp Curry, who has accompanied several Fish and Game Commission parties on their planting expeditions in past years. The first planting of the 1924 season is now in progress, forty-eight cans of Loch Levens having just been placed in Lake Tenaya, this being part of the initial shipment of 107 cans to the Yosemite.

"It takes a crew of five men about two hours to plant fifty cans of young trout," states Williams. "From the time the shipment leaves the hatchery where the young fish have been swimming about in a constant flow of fresh water until the trout are planted the water in the cans must be changed every four or five hours or the fish will die. Shortly before the actual planting begins, water from the lake or stream in which the trout are to be planted must be put into the cans so that the young fish can get acclimated to their future habitat. A sudden change of water would kill them. As it is, only a few fish out of every can are lost in the planting process.

"The young fish grow about two inches every year, so that it is two or three years before the fish planted now reach the legal size limit and can be caught. The trout measure from one-half to one inch in length when planted, and are only a few months old.

"Fishing continues to be fine in the Yosemite country."

RUM SHIP'S FATE MYSTERY

Canadians Scout Theory That Coastwise Craft Has Fallen Victim to Speedy Hijackers' Craft

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

VICTORIA (B. C.) July 21.—Experienced water-front men here scout the theory that California's chief rum runner, the Prince Albert, which was due here ten days ago, has fallen victim to the new thirty-five-knot ocean-going cruiser yacht which San Francisco hijackers are reported to have entered in the Pacific Coast rum-running game.

For the last three weeks more than 15,000 cases of liquor, ranging from pale ale from England to the finest champagne from Rheims, have languished in bond here, awaiting the arrival of the long overdue vessel. The liquor has been consigned from Europe to Guatemala. But it is well known that Capt. Jack Nichols of the Prince Albert has developed an uncanny faculty for discovering Guatemala about twenty or thirty miles off San Francisco.

AWAY SIX WEEKS

The Prince Albert cleared from Vancouver with a cargo of about 30,000 cases of whisky for "Mexico" six weeks ago.

Mariners here familiar with the manifold tribulations of rum runners point out that the Prince Albert is a floating arsenal of rifles, pistols and machine guns, as well as a floating gin palace. Skipper Nichols, they say, with more than a year's experience in the rum game to his credit, can now discern a hijacker beneath the most cunningly devised camouflage.

He is simply having a little difficulty lightering his cargo, they affirm because of the tightening of the coast guard cordon around San Francisco.

Meanwhile mere mention of the name Prince Albert will provoke something closely akin to profanity from even the most saintly of customs, immigration and stevedoring officials. They have been stampeded in the direction of the wharf at least a dozen times in the last ten days by false reports that the vessel is poking her rusty bows around Race Rocks lighthouse.

Path of China Flood Marked by Suffering

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

CANTON, July 21.—The flood situation here is unchanged today, but serious news is arriving from outlying points regarding the spread of suffering among many ousted from their homes by the water. Many are destitute. Relief measures are being taken, but the activities of river pirates, who are only too ready to seize supplies intended for the flood victims, and the want of money to finance the relief work, are hampering it sadly.

ASSOCIATION MAY DISSOLVE

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

DOUGLAS (Ariz.) July 21.—According to President G. E. Buxton, the Southern Arizona Traffic Association may be discontinued for lack of support, though in the last few years it is credited with railroad rate reductions that have profited Arizona mercantile interests to the extent of at least $500,000.

Pacto entre los Primeros Ministros de Inglaterra y de Francia

LONDRES, Julio 21. — Se ha sabido que el Primer Ministro MacDonald, de Inglaterra, y el Primer Ministro Herriot, de Francia, han celebrado un pacto personal, de acuerdo con el que no se darán por terminadas las reuniones que aquí se han celebrado para discutir el plan de Dawes, sin llegar a un acuerdo completo en esa cuestión. Los dos altos funcionarios han trabajado muy activamente entre bastidores para llegar a un convenio que abarque todos los puntos aún pendientes.

Este convenio se logró después de violenta querella que amenazó dar al traste con la conferencia. Ambos comprendieron a tiempo, sin embargo, que era ésta su última oportunidad de conseguir la ayuda americana en la solución de las dificultades europeas, y contrajeron el mutuo compromiso de cooperar armónicamente.

Uno de los asuntos pendientes de solucionar es el de los ferrocarriles. Los franceses han estado insistiendo en retener el dominio en el Ruhr como protección para sus tropas de ocupación; al paso que los ingleses alegan que este asunto es de secundaria importancia, pues en caso de trastorno, resultan mucho mejores para el transporte los camiones automóviles que los ferrocarriles.

De esta cuestión pende también la aceptación alemana del dictamen de Dawes, pues a menos que recobren el dominio de sus ferrocarriles, no firmarán los alemanes. Los ingleses arguyen que es absurdo exponerse al fracaso, tan sólo por retener en Alemania unos cuantos centenares de ferrocarrileros franceses.

Las cinco grandes potencias se reunieron de nuevo esta mañana y discutieron la citación de los alemanes. Nada más puede hacerse hasta que la comisión haya rendido su informe ante el mitin en pleno, lo que se espera ocurra mañana. El señor Herriot, sobretodo, insiste en la terminación de todos los negocios lo antes posible, pues desea regresar a París.

Si es posible celebrar una sesión plena mañana, los alemanes pueden hallarse aquí el jueves o viernes, y la conferencia terminar para fin de semana.

Se ha sabido igualmente que en estos últimos días se ha robustecido mucho la posición del señor Herriot, pues el señor Poincaré le ha dirigido un mensaje en que le manifiesta que, de ser aceptadas las demandas mínimas que exige el Senado francés, él (Poincaré) no pedirá un voto de confianza cuando el Primer Ministro regrese a París.

Fabricante de Calzado que Recibe un Recado del Klan

BINGHAMPTON (Nueva York) Julio 21.—George F. Johnson, fabricante millonario de calzado, ha recibido una comunicación que se dice dirigida por el Ku Klux Klan, y por la que se le amenaza con arruinar a la Compañía de Zapatos Endicott-Johnson en el término de un año, si lleva a cabo lo que afirmó el otro día; es a saber, que despedirá a cualquiera de sus empleados que tenga ligas con el Klan.

La carta viene firmada por "One Hundred Per Cent American", y dice que el asunto se discutió en la reciente convención celebrada en esta ciudad por los K.K.K., llegando a la conclusión de que la razón social zapatera podía quedar aplastada en un año, con solo que el Klan se rehuse a comprar sus efectos.

Johnson, en carta reciente a sus empleados, les dijo lo siguiente: "Ultimamente nos ha estado fastidiando demasiado "el Americano". Este "Americano" es un tipo singular. Grita a cada paso, "América para los americanos", y si acaso sus padres y abuelos nacieron en América, entonces se proclama americano hasta la raíz, y pasa la mayor parte de su tiempo tratando de probar su americanismo, sin poner en juego más que su boca. Es ese de tipo que continuamente habla de "wops", y con toda frecuencia lo único que hace es ponerse en el más completo ridículo."

Se Lastima el Campeón Mundial de Púgiles Pesados

Jack Dempsey, campeón mundial de pesofuertes, será sujetado hoy a un examen con los rayos X, a fin de determinar si le han resultado lesiones internas de un grave accidente de automóvil que tuvo la noche del domingo cerca de San Juan Capistrano, y si son lo suficientemente serias para obligarlo a no subir al tablado. Los daños que han podido apreciársele son los siguientes: la espalda muy luxada; algunos ligamentos y músculos del cuello torcidos; varias cortaduras en las manos, cara y cuerpo, y numerosos arañazos y contusiones.

La colisión, motivo del accidente, se produjo el domingo, a las 10 p.m., en Galivan, tres y media millas al norte de San Juan Capistrano. Dempsey, con su entrenador, Teddy Hayes, y la señora Hayes, conocida en la pantalla por el nombre de Florence Lee, se dirigían a Pine Hills para filmar allí una escena de una de sus cintas cinematográficas. Viajaban en el automóvil de Dempsey, que es una limosina Rolls-Royce, al volante de la cual iba el chófer negro del púgil.

Según la versión del propio Dempsey y de sus compañeros, iban por el bulevar rumbo al sur, cuando vieron un segundo coche que se dirigía hacia ellos, y que hacía zigzags de un lado a otro de la carretera. Pare evitar una colisión de frente, según explicaron los viajeros a la policía de Santa Ana, el chófer negro volteó para atravesar el bulevar, recibiendo el Rolls-Royce el choque sobre un costado.

NUEVA YORK, Julio 21.—Después de haber sido detenido casi todo el día en la isla de Ellis porque su pasaporte argentino no llenaba los requisitos que exige la nueva ley de inmigración, Luis Angel Firpo, "el toro salvaje de las Pampas", y último de los contendientes de Dempsey, a quien le disputó la corona de los pesofuertes, fue dejado entrar en los Estados Unidos la tarde de hoy. Build your new home with Brick

The Brick for this $6,400 home cost only $417

DON'T be misled about the cost of brick—brick is the world's cheapest building material. Don't assume that brick is a rich man's material simply because brick is so generally used in expensive homes. The man of means chooses brick because of its beauty, its permanence and its safety. But thousands of home-builders are today turning to brick solely because of its downright dollars-and-cents economy.

Take for example the handsome brick home pictured herewith—sturdily built to last for centuries, with a spacious living room 14 x 24, beautifully finished throughout with hardwood floors, built-in bath and all modern conveniences. A prominent California contractor is today prepared to duplicate this home for $6400. No other building material can give you so much home-satisfaction for so little money.

The water shortage and the tremendous fire hazard to which California cities are today exposed, is making this a brick year. Brick was burned in the making—it can never burn again.

Our new brick handbook for prospective home-owners is now ready for mailing. It contains a mine of authoritative information about brick including photos and floor plans of 50 beautiful California brick bungalows. A copy will be sent you postpaid for 50 cents.

SHOE FIRM HEAD GETS KLAN NOTE

Millionaire Told Hooded Order Will Kill Trade if He Ousts Members

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BINGHAMTON (N. Y.) July 21. George F. Johnson, millionaire shoe manufacturer, has received a letter purporting to be from the Ku Klux Klan threatening to crush the Endicott Johnson Shoe Corporation within one year if he carries out his assertion that he will discharge from his employment anyone found connected with the Klan.

The letter, signed "One Hundred Per Cent American," says the matter was discussed at the recent K.K.K. convention in this city, and it was said that in one year the firm could be crushed if the Klan refuses to buy its goods.

Johnson, in a recent letter to his employees, said: "We have also the 'American' very much with us lately. This American is a queer cuss. He shouts 'America for Americans;' perchance if his grandparents and parents were born in America, then he is all-American, and he spends the bulk of his time trying to prove his Americanism by the use of his mouth. He is the fellow who talks of 'wops,' and frequently makes a good deal of a damned fool of himself."

FINANCIAL CONDITIONS REVIEWED

Political Radicalism No Longer a Business Factor; Trade Improving

Moody's Weekly Review of Financial Conditions in its current issue says in part:

"As a factor in business political radicalism has apparently disappeared. It is a right-about change which ought to stimulate enterprise, and greatly help the revival in trade almost immediately.

"Stock and bond prices have been creeping upward owing partly to the removal of the political menace. Stimulating influences in the bond market continue to accumulate and the demand for good bonds exceeds the supply.

"Should the United States government follow precedent, it would do some financing in this easy-money market. Such financing through medium of long-term bonds at low yields might so stimulate the general bond market as to bring the prices of all classes of bonds quickly to their high peak.

"As to what stock prices ought to do, there are two rules which apply. One is that they habitually advance when general trade is improving; and the other is that no matter how much trade improves stock prices usually stop advancing when their yields fall a fraction below the average yields of medium-grade bonds.

"The third party furore looks overdone. In only six out of twenty elections did a third party ever win any votes in the electoral college; and in practice about all a third party can do is to swing doubtful States from one old party to the other."

Hoover Urges Longer Season for Building

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, July 21.—Lengthening the building season in the United States to include the winter months, was advocated today by Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover, as a means of mitigating seasonal ups and downs in the construction industry, of stabilizing employment in the building trades and lowering costs of production and building.

Secretary Hoover's statement based on, and supplemental to, the report and recommendations of the Committee on Seasonal Operation in the Construction Industries, appointed by him as an outgrowth of the President's conference on unemployment, called in 1921, urges elimination of wastes caused by seasonal idleness through development of the habit of scheduling construction and repair work with reference to that demand. He reiterates the committee's finding that custom rather than bad weather is responsible for building trades workers in most American cities working less than three-quarters of the year.

Calling construction the balance wheel of American industry, and placing the value of yearly construction in the United States at more than $5,000,000,000 and the number of workers engaged in construction and manufacturing industries allied to building as mounting into the millions, Secretary Hoover declares activity in construction bears a close relation to general industrial conditions and that irregularity in the ebb and flow in demand for construction seasonally to a large degree affects economic stability.

Stock of Union Oil Offered by Banking Group

The 335,000 shares of Union Company of California purchased some weeks ago from Shell Union Oil by Dillon, Read & Co., will be offered today through a nation-wide distributing syndicate. The stock will be offered in $100 par value certificates with the statement that within a few weeks each holder will receive in exchange four certificates of $25 par value for each present $100 share. The Union Oil Company recently amended its articles of incorporation to make effective this change in par value. Application will be made to list the shares on the New York Stock Exchange.

The stock has recently been quoted in this market at $140 a share. The company is currently paying dividends at the rate of $7.20 per share on its present $100 par capitalization. The forthcoming marketing operation completes the last phase of the persistent struggle waged by the Royal Dutch interests to acquire control of one of the larger American oil companies in the California field. Royal Dutch had acquired approximately 26 per cent of the total common stock of Union Oil when their plan for complete domination was blocked by California interests which form the Union Oil Associates in which 57 per cent of the total shares of the Union Oil was placed under a trustee agreement. Decision to dispose of its holdings followed this checkmating of the ambitious project of Sir Henry Deterding.

The proposed offering also marks the introduction into the New York market of the capital securities of one of the oldest and largest California oil producing and marketing units and involves nearly 25 per cent of the Union Oil Company's total outstanding stock. The amount represented in the operation, $33,500,000 on the basis of par value, stamps the deal as the most important common-stock flotation since the war.

The Union Oil Company of California comes before the eastern investing public with a record of having returned a net profit in each year since 1890 and backed with oil reserves in California alone of 200,000,000 barrels of crude according to an independent survey made by E. DeGolyer, oil engineer. With the 134,000 acres of California fields from which production currently is being largely drawn, the company's holdings of oil land in Wyoming, Texas, Colorado, Utah, New Mexico, Mexico and Columbia, most of which are yet undeveloped, give it a total acreage of approximately 615,000 owned in fee simple and nearly 194,000 acres under lease.

In spite of the poor oil condition prevailing during the spring months earnings for the first half of the current year were at the annual rate of $13,400,000 after depreciation charges of $5,300,000 or approximately $13 per share average for common stock. These earnings do not take into account the substantial increase since December 31, 1923, of the company's oil inventory which, as of June 30, were carried on its books and approximately $15,000,000 less than their realizable value based on present market prices and existing contracts.

A MORNING THOUGHT

Los Angeles Postoffice receipts in the last five years have increased from $2,000,000 to $7,000,0000, or approximately 250 per cent.

STRONG BANK POSITION

In another column The Times prints this morning one of the most important and comprehensive bank statements ever issued by the Clearinghouse Association. It displays a condition of financial strength unexcelled in the history of the city, covering as it does a period of alleged "depression." It affords the opportunity for an analysis which leaves the individual who has been inclined to sell Los Angeles "short" out on a limb. It answers statistically and succinctly the question as to the financial position of this community. It shows the relative position of the city bank and the country bank, the independent bank and the branch bank. It has been the custom of San Francisco to include in the city total the gross deposits of the Bank of Italy with its scores of branches throughout the State. Los Angeles includes only the banks actually in the metropolitan district. If San Francisco will make the same segregation further basis for interesting comparison will be afforded.

ICE BONDS SELL FAST

Stephens & Co. announce the purchase of $300,000 first closed mortgage 7 per cent serial bonds of the Southwestern Ice and Cold Storage Company, which owns and operates an ice-manufacturing and storage plant located at Yuma, Ariz., on the main line of the Southern Pacific Railroad.

Recognizing the necessity of icing at this point, the Pacific Fruit Express Company has entered into a long-term contract with the ice company for the icing of all of its refrigerator cars passing through Yuma, over 35,000 cars having been iced at this point in 1923. The plant of the company is the only regular main-line icing station between Colton, Cal., and Tucson, Ariz., a distance of 445 miles. The business has been in constant and successful operation since 1902 and has shown consistently annual increases during the last ten years. Being unable last year to meet the unusually heavy demands for ice for refrigerator cars, which necessitated the shipment to Yuma from outside sources of additional ice, the company is enlarging its plant through the installation of a new ice-manufacturing unit which will increase its production capacity by 50 per cent.

The company also owns a creamery and bottling plant, supplying Yuma and adjacent territory with ice cream, butter, carbonated and distilled waters, etc., and also owns the entire capital stock of the Yuma Utilities Company, which serves electricity to over 160 square miles of territory surrounding Yuma.

The bonds are secured by a first closed mortgage on all of the real estate, buildings, machinery and equipment of the company now owned or to be hereafter acquired, and also by pledge with trustee of the entire stock of the Yuma Utilities Company. The Farmers' and Merchants' National Bank of Los Angeles is named as trustee under the mortgage.

Net earnings of the company before Federal taxes and depreciation for the last five years have averaged four and one-half times maximum interest charges on the bonds, and over twice maximum interest and principal requirements in any one year prior to 1935, when only $50,000 of bonds will be outstanding. Serial retirements of the bonds in amounts of $25,000 each year from 1925 to 1934 and $50,000 in 1935 will steadily increase the bondholders' equity in the properties.

Coincident with the announcement of the offering of the issue, Stephens & Co. advise that all of the bonds have been sold.

COTTON PRICES SOAR

An unexpected decrease of 2.7 per cent from June 25 in the condition of the cotton crop on the 16th inst. was responsible for advances yesterday in the New York market as high as 200 points in the active futures. The estimate was the first semimonthly survey by the Department of Agriculture, and placed the total crop at 11,934,000 bales, a decrease of 210,000 from the amount reported at the end of June.

The government condition of 68.5 was a surprise to the cotton trade, which had anticipated a figure around 71.5 and a crop of 12,000,000 bales. The decrease in condition was attributed to deterioration of 17 points in North Carolina, 10 in South Carolina, 12 in Louisiana, 4 in Mississippi and 1 in Texas.

SCHOOL BONDS

An issue of $80,000 Oceanside Carlsbad Union High School District 5½ per cent bonds has been purchased by the bond department of the Bank of Italy, which is offering the bonds at prices to yield from 4.80 to 4.70 per cent. The issue matures $3000 annually from 1925 to 1950, inclusive, and $2000 in 1951. The district is located in San Diego county and has an assessed valuation of over $5,500,000.

DAILY TRADE TALK

Trend of Midsummer Business As Seen by Reviewers On the Pacific Coast

As the month draws to its close further recession in industrial activity is noted. Part of this is seasonal; part of it is due to semi-local conditions such as the aftermath of an exceptionally dry season. On the whole precipitate declines in basic and equipment industries appear to have spent their force, and while there is a cautious tone to business the opinion in trade circles is that we are due for an upturn that will carry through the remainder of the year.

The political situation is not at all disturbing at the present time, and while indications point to the election of President Coolidge it is admitted that the country would not be seriously embarrassed under so conservative a regime as the election of Davis would imply.

The fine statement issued early in the week by Globe Grain and Milling Company and the excellent position of Goodyear, Los Angeles Investment and other big Southern California concerns all help in restoring and maintaining confidence and while the immediate present is a time of quiet in many lines the outlook for active business in the fall and winter is excellent and development work is going forward with that in view. Should there be copious early rains the situation will be materially improved.

CALIFORNIA CROPS

The Wells Fargo Bank and Union Trust Company of San Francisco says that the wheat and barley harvest in California is showing slightly better yields than anticipated in many sections.

Both citrus and deciduous fruits are generally smaller in size and the dry spell has caused some dropping of fruit. The sugar beet crop in California this year is forecast at 676,000 tons compared with 581,000 tons last year. Alfalfa has maintained a good condition up to the present time, although production during the rest of the season will largely be determined by the amount of water available.

Demand for citrus fruit is good, with prices of oranges from 50 cents to $1 per box less than last year. Lemons are selling for the lowest price in seven years, due to a large crop. Price per box on first grade is around $4.50 as compared with $6.50 to $7 last year. Culls, which can ordinarily be sold as fresh fruit, are being bought this year for the manufacture of citric acid and lemon oil. Grapefruit crop is about normal, with prices from 25 to 50 cents per box less than last year.

Up to July 11, approximately 4200 cars of deciduous fruits were moved in California, as compared with 6500 cars at the same time last year. Prices are running nearly 25 per cent higher this year than last.

There has recently been an increasing demand, both foreign and domestic, for raisins, dried apricots and prunes, contrasting with the quiet trade in these commodities for the past several months.

RETAIL TRADE

In the retail trade the buying public is generally showing a disposition to shop keenly for bargains, and retailers are competing briskly for trade. Sales are rather frequent, and the public responds to outstanding values.

Leading department stores report trade running even with last year, under the stimulation of sales and advertising. Prices in many lines are said to be soft and eastern manufacturers are reported to be competing strongly for orders. Stocks on shelves are generally slightly less than last year, and commitments are being held to a minimum. Collections are a little slow.

Business generally in the Hawaiian Islands is said to be brisk. There is considerable construction throughout the Territory, with several large new buildings in Honolulu. The Hilo breakwater is to be extended to make the harbor safe for shipping during all seasons of the year, and three new piers are building in Honolulu, responding to the increasing waterborne commerce. Realty development throughout the cities is said to be heavy. The sugar crop, which brings around $60,000,000 per year, is in excellent condition, a condition which is paralleled by the pineapple crop, netting about $20,000,000 per year to the island growers.

FAVORABLE FACTORS

Baley's Pacific Business says that in the aggregate there are decidedly favorable factors for an early upturn in Pacific Region business. "In fact, present conditions, while showing no boom tendencies, are really encouraging. It is necessary to readjust ourselves to normal business rather than to depend on the constant stimulation of a boom. Were it not for the drought and the after effects of the cattle epidemic, the bulk of Pacific Slope business would be satisfactory, and prosperous. As it is some sections of the Far West are somewhat depressed.

"This anxiety can only be temporary. Business of the Pacific Slope should now lay plans for active trade in the fall, the evidences of which will begin to appear in August. With some good early rains to allay fears of further drought the autumn will bring forth a decidedly upward business trend. There is nothing ominous in the political situation, because the radical elements will not be able to muster votes enough to get in power. Conservative going ahead with plans for fall business, based on carefully figured overhead and narrower profits, should be the program of business executives of the Far West.

"As indicated by the detailed figures for eight cities, building permits held up well in June for the Pacific Coast and surpassed last year for the country as a whole by approximately $15,000,000. Los Angeles and Seattle, while making a satisfactory showing, evidenced the greatest declines as compared with a year ago.

"Notwithstanding this, Los Angeles showed a substantial increase in values over the previous month and Seattle set a new record for the first six months of 1924, the total permits being $16,892,950, as compared with $13,793,492 for a like period of 1923. Total values in permits for Oakland, Salt Lake City and San Diego all exceeded those of May, offering encouragement to anyone worrying over the progress of the Pacific Slope.

"Commodity prices slackened their downward course in June, and suggested a stabilizing tendency for the immediate future. This, with the investment market strong and money plentiful, points to a gradual business upturn throughout the country."

TREND TOWARD THRIFT

A similar note of optimism is struck by Mentzer's Economic Service:

"There is marked trend in America toward thrift, saving, caution in business, conservatism, care in investing, thoughtfulness in speculating. Perhaps that means that America approaches the more mature stability, which normally our British and French brothers have been enjoying for several decades. There has been strong demand for bonds, preferred stocks, common shares of the better class and increasing discrimination in the use of money. Possibly it is the effect of better understanding of economics. If so, it may avoid the terrific booms and panics which characterized business in prewar years. That would make industry safer, and it would lessen the range of swings in security prices.

"The stock market has been strong, not because business has bettered materially, but because public confidence is returning.

"Confidence in the future is inspired by plethoric supplies of money and credit, which seek investment in growing values, hand-to-mouth buying of goods, which averted much overproduction; wide distribution of wealth, which enhances buying capacity; rising agricultural prices, which minimize the spread between farm buying and selling power; improvement in railroad credit, which has restored railroad efficiency; waning fretfulness of European statesmen, and strong inclination of the former warring nations to adopt the Dawes formula of reparations settlement."

WHAT THE WORLD WANTS

Butchers and bakers and candlestick makers and practically every other American manufacturer can find his product listed in the many articles which the Department of Commerce has been informed by their agents abroad are wanted in thirty-three foreign countries this week.

Besides the articles manufactured by the first three-named tradesmen, the department has received specific requests from foreign countries for the purchase of canned goods of all kinds, celluloid, industrial machinery of many descriptions, confectionery, metals and metal manufactures, tobacco, automobiles, rubber heels, matches, sugar, tea, plumbing supplies, hardware, lumber, tennis shoes and, to increase diversification, goat hair and pig hair are included in the many commodities inquired for.

A Chinese merchant has advised the department that he wishes to purchase 10,000 barrels of Pacific Coast flour; a Spaniard wants to purchase southern yellow pine; a merchant in Danzig inquires for the purchase of 5000 to 10,000 pounds of milk powder, and England advises of the need of trimmings for weltings in large quantities.

WHAT DID SHE DO?

That short sleeves in feminine dress bothered the masculine mind more than a century ago is one of the facts uncovered in research work in connection with the educational advertising campaign now being carried on by eight of the leading trust companies in Los Angeles.

A rector of a Yorkshire parish, who died in 1804, left considerable property to his only daughter under the following conditions:

(1.) That she should not marry unless with the consent of his two executors, and

(2.) That she should dress with greater propriety than heretofore.

This clause was worded: "Seeing that my daughter Anna has not availed herself of my advice touching the objectionable practice of going about with her arms bare up to the elbows, my will is that, should she continue after my death in this violation of the modesty of her sex, all the goods, chattels, moneys, land and other property that I have devised to her for the maintenance of her future life shall pass to the oldest of the sons of my sister Caroline. Should anyone take exception to this, my wish, as being too severe, I answer that license in dress in a woman is a mark of a depraved mind."

REFRIGERATOR CARS

In order to avoid possible shortage of refrigerator cars for the movement of perishable products during the next few months, the Interstate Commerce Commission requests shippers to avoid so far as practicable consigning to markets already overcrowded with perishable production. Consignees are requested to adopt every possible means of unloading refrigerator cars promptly on arrival by placing contents in storage if impossible to make other disposition. Carriers are asked to redouble their efforts to avoid delay in the movement of both loaded and empty cars. In general, the commission requests co-operation of all concerns to avoid possible shortage during the peak demand.

IRON, STEEL MARKETS ON WEST COAST

Optimism is General and Improved Conditions Are Anticipated by Trade

BY DON PARTRIDGE,
Associate Editor,
"Iron Trade Review"

Iron Trade Review will say this week in reporting on the condition of the Pacific Coast iron and steel markets: "No outstanding developments have featured the iron and steel trade on the Pacific Coast during the week. Business is not brisk but optimism is becoming more general and improvement is looked for from now on.

"Foundry operations are light and demand for pig iron is limited. Prices on Belgian material have receded and iron running as high as 2.75 in silicon is now being quoted at $27, c.i.f., duty paid. Scotch iron is holding at around $31.50 a ton. The Southern Pacific has closed on 500 tons of No. 1, buying domestic material.

"Merchant bar material is in light demand and sales have involved only small lots. On the other hand a fair demand for concrete bars is noted and larger awards aggregated over 1250 tons of which 308 tons was secured by the Truscon Steel Company for the Evening Herald Building in Los Angeles and 254 tons were awarded to George L. Eastman Company by the Harbor Board of Los Angeles. Pending business exceeds 1500 tons, most of which it is thought, will be placed within ten days.

"Completion for existing plate business is keen and as a result low prices are being named. No awards of any size were reported this week, but pending business exceeds 1500 tons, one penstock project calling for 1000 tons.

"Structural shape fabricators report a fair volume of work on hand with much new work in sight. Larger awards totaled over 800 tons, of which 560 tons of shapes and ninety-five tons of machinery were secured by the Wallace Equipment Company for the Mountlake Bridge in Seattle. Awards pending involve over 3500 tons. Prices on plain material are holding firm at 2.50 cents, c.i.f., for the larger lots and at 2.55 cents for the general run.

"Out-of-stock distributors report a slight improvement in demand, this being especially true in the Northwest where logging and lumber plants are beginning to make repairs and replacements. No changes of importance are noted in out-of-stock prices."

BUSINESS: The Company owns and operates a modern ice manufacturing and storage plant at Yuma, Arizona, and supplies ice without competition to the City of Yuma and surrounding territory, to the Southern Pacific Railroad for icing passenger trains, and to the Pacific Fruit Express Company, under favorable contract, for icing its refrigerator cars passing through Yuma, the only main-line icing point on the Southern Pacific Railroad ("Sunset Route") between Colton, California, and Tucson, Arizona, a distance of 445 miles. The Company also owns a modern creamery and bottling plant, manufacturing and distributing ice cream, butter, carbonated and distilled waters, etc., and through its subsidiary, the Yuma Utilities Company, serves electricity to over 160 square miles of territory for lighting and irrigation pumping.

TERRITORY: Refrigeration on a large scale is an absolute necessity at Yuma, located in one of the hottest agricultural districts in the United States, for the protection of the heavy shipments of perishable products moving over the main line of the Southern Pacific Railroad, over 35,000 refrigerator cars having been iced at this point in 1923.

SECURITY: These bonds, in the opinion of counsel, are secured by a first closed mortgage on all real estate, buildings, machinery and equipment of the Company now owned or hereafter acquired, and are additionally secured by deposit with the trustee of the entire capital stock of the Yuma Utilities Company, which owns free from any lien, a high-tension electrical transmission system.

BOND QUOTATIONS

Foreign Issues Rise

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, July 21.—Strength of foreign obligations, industrial and low-priced railroad issues contrasted with the hesitancy of investment rail and public-utility liens in today's uneven bond trading.

Favorable reports on the progress of the reparations conference, indicating that the way was being cleared for the accord of European nations on the Dawes plan, stimulated buying of foreign issues, notably the French government's obligations, which advanced 1 to 1¼ points.

With higher price levels prevailing in the speculative rail group several new peak prices for the year were recorded, the list embracing New Haven, Chicago and Alton and Seaboard mortgages.

Increasing consumption of copper and the rising trend of metal prices contributed to the improvement of copper-company bonds, in which Anaconda, Magma and Chile issues shared, gains ranging from 1 to 3 points. Included these liens as well as Kelly-Springfield 8s, Wilson firsts and convertible 6½s, Virginia-Carolina 7s and 7½s and Sinclair Oil 7s.

The upward tendency of Liberty bonds was attributed partly to reports that another reduction might be made this week in the Federal or Reserve bank's rediscount rate.

FIND OIL GEYSERS ON PACIFIC ISLAND

HERMOSILLO (Mex.) July 21. Geologists are said to have discovered several geysers on the Island of Isabel in the Pacific, seventeen miles from the coast of Nayarit, spouting large quantities of crude oil, which is going to waste. A company is beng formed with Mexican and American capital to send other experts to make a thorough examination with the idea of developing the new field. The report has created a great deal of interest among oil men.

NEW YORK CURB

Oils Advance

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, July 21.—Trading in today's curb market was on a broad and active scale, with the price trend uniformly upward.

Further cuts in crude and gasoline prices were without influence on the oil shares. Standard Oil of Nebraska jumped 7.5 points, Swan and Finch and Solar Refining 5 each, and Standard Oils of Indiana, New York and Ohio, Vacuum, Penn. Mex. Fuel and Magnolia Petroleum 1 to 3 points.

A 6-point jump in Gillette Safety razor, which carried it above 300, was the feature of the industrial group. Dubilier Radio touched a new top at 52¼, buying of this issue being influenced by the announcement of large orders for condensors from electrical manufacturers. National Tea moved up 3 points to 234.

Bonds showed moderate improvement on heavy trading.

How Much Is Safety Worth?

A high rate of return is nearly always the mark of a low degree of safety. Gilt-edge securities do not have to promise a big yield. The prudent investor chooses a fair rate of interest PLUS absolute dependability.

PRUDENTIAL Term Certificates are a dependable investment. According to State law every $100 you invest must be secured by at least $110 in first mortgages and cash. Loans are made only on first mortgages on real estate and at not to exceed a percentage of the appraised value as fixed by the Building-Loan Act.

During the fifty years that Building-Loan Associations have been in operation in California not a single Investment Certificate holder in a guarantee capital association has lost a dollar of his investment.

PRUDENTIAL Term Certificates yield 6% per annum, payable semi-annually, free from California Personal Property Tax. They are issued at any time for any amount from $100 up, in even hundreds. We guarantee to redeem them after one year in cash at par with 6% interest to date of withdrawal.

What other investment offers you equal safety, convenience and marketability—with a dependable 6% return?

Come in today and let us tell you more about Building-Loan. Or write for interesting booklet.

First mortgages, made and safeguarded under our plan, require no attention or supervision on the part of the investor.

We attach interest coupons to the mortgage note. A coupon is clipped every three months and the interest collected at our office or through any bank. There is no waiting.

We keep the Certificate of Title and insurance policies in our vaults; a great convenience in case the property is sold.

The property itself is under our supervision at all times. Taxes must be paid promptly, an adequate amount of insurance carried and the improvements kept in a good state of repair.

COPPER MARKET WEEKLY REVIEW

Consumers Wait on Figures of Volume Trend

Present Low Prices May Soon Move to Higher Levels

Opinion Based on Impressive Electrical Development

BY CHARLES F. WILLIS,
Editor "Arizona Mining Journal"

Quietness in the copper market prevails as the consumers seem to believe that if they wait for the announcement of June figures on production and consumption or sales that they can then bid 12 cents. Custom smelters are reported to have sold as low as 12 1-4 cents, hence unfavorable June reports would probably cause these same agencies to go lower.

The buyers refuse to be stampeded into a buying movement and this fact may assist in the rapid rise of the price of the metal when the demand does start to increase. They fully appreciate that there is clashing of interests in the copper industry that is causing a price war lower than the statistics of the industry justify. It is entirely possible that the bankers may some day take hold of this condition and change it overnight.

In view of all the pessimism of low prices, one of the copper authorities, Ira B. Joraleman, formerly assistant general manager of the Calumet and Arizona and the New Cornelia, is credited with a very optimistic statement on copper made in a speech before the Commonwealth Club of San Francisco, quotations from which follow:

"We are only entering the age of electricity, but that time will be short, because electricity cannot live without copper. At the intense rate of production that must come, copper supply of the world will last hardly a score of years. One big power project, such as those proposed on the Colorado River, will take 300,000,000 to 500,000,000 pounds of copper, which is one-sixth of the world's annual production. Copper is absolutely necessary for generation and transmission of electricity. Aluminum can be used for transmitting lines, but not for electrical machinery, hence the inevitable breakdown of most of our big electrical projects in the comparatively near future. This does not mean that electricity will not be used after the twenty-year period. It will be used just as steam is now, although scientists know that the steam age is becoming a thing of the past.

"At present copper is being mined to within 10 per cent of annual potential productive capacity. Rehabilitation of Europe at once would tax the output and make demand exceed supply. Europe is ten years behindhand in the use of copper. When the rapidly shrinking production of copper can be used only to care for repairs of existing power plants, mankind will begin a frantic search for substitutes. These will prove unavailing. Our civilization, based on electrical power, will dwindle and die. Then will come the new civilization, simpler than ours. Man will turn his attention to breaking up the atom, and will get from it light, heat and power. The stupendous energy of the atom is revealed in the knowledge that one pound of coal contains sufficient atomic power to drive a train across the continent."

INSURANCE NEWS

DR. HUEBNER COMING

Members of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce who are in any way interested in marine or fire insurance are invited by Emery E. Olson, director of the metropolitan college of the University of Southern California, to attend a lecture given by Dr. S. S. Huebner on the subject of marine and fire insurance on the twelfth floor of the Transportation Building, Seventh and Los Angeles streets at 10:45 next Thursday morning.

Dr. Huebner is one of the foremost authorities in America on insurance. He is insurance adviser of the United States Shipping Board and drafted the last Marine Insurance Act. He is at the head of the insurance department of the Wharton School of Comemrce and Finance of the University of Pennsylvania and is also confidential adviser to many of the large insurance companies of the United States.

THE UNCEASING SACRIFICE

No primitive race ever offered sacrifice to the god of fire in more lavish or heedless fashion than do we in this enlightened era in America. The following figures describe the unceasing sacrifice:

Forty human lives each day.

One dwelling every four minutes.

One farm building every seven minutes.

Five churches every day.

Four general storage warehouses every day.

One hospital every day.

Five hundred million dollars' worth of property annually.

As usual, we "excel" in everything! The fire loss per capita in the:

United States is	$4.75
Great Britain	.24
France	.19

Make fire prevention your daily business. It pays.

LOS ANGELES EXCHANGE

Fractional gains were recorded in the leading petroleum stocks in yesterday's trading on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange. General Petroleum common moved forward again to 43, a gain of ¼ over Saturday's final price. Shell Union advanced ⅝ of a point to 16⅞, and Union Oil Associates climbed ⅜ to 58⅞. The Julian Petroleum shares were unchanged, the common selling at 6¾ and the preferred at 11¾. Los Angeles Investment was firm at 3.50.

Mining stocks were neglected. Some transactions were executed in Gold Dust at 3½, Telluride at 12 and United American at 5 cents.

A satisfactory demand was present during the bond call. Los Angeles Gas 6s of 1942 sold up ⅛ to 99⅞, and Pacific Gas 5½s of 1052 repeated this performance at 97⅞. General Petroleum 6s of 1928 moved forward slightly to 99⅜, and Southern California Edison 6s of 1943 were taken at 99⅜.

Following are the closing quotations and sales:

DAILY MARKET LETTER OF THE NEW YORK COMMERCIAL

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, July 21.—There is a better demand for raisins for July and August shipment both from association and independent sources. Large prunes are stronger with a disposition on the part of the buyer to shy at assortments.

Apricots are practically withdrawn from the market.

While the report has been going the rounds that peaches were slowly being withdrawn it is noted that orders are still being booked at the revised prices.

California and the northern section reports show that pears are firmly held.

Generally the opinion is expressed that the new packs of canned vegetables will show shortages and that the carry-over will be very small. Canners hold that the trade therefore will have to look to the coming crops for all requirements.

Reports on peas tend to firm the market. Despite the improved appearance of later plantings, a shortage in sweets is expected.

Not a few packers have withdrawn on new corn.

Due to the slight volume of pears in California available for canning the market continues firm.

Pineapple is still quiet with only a routine demand in evidence.

Unsettled conditions in salmon continued to block extensive trading for future requirements. Reds and pinks are making up the bulk of that which is passing. Chinooks are attracting slight interest.

SUGAR MARKET

Sugar continues in the doldrums. There was reported today a sale of 2500 tons Philippine sugar made late on Friday to the American at 5.02 cents, duty paid, equal to a cost and freight basis of 3 1-4 cents. Another small lot of Porto Rico for New York only was offered at the same price, which appears the only quotable sugar. Cuban interests, in view of the weakness, are not offering freely.

Refined gave further evidence of weakness by a decline which brought all the refiners, except Federal, down to the same basis of 6.50 cents. The Federal quotes 10 points below the others at 6.40 for granulated in bags and 6.45 for assorted orders, with the proviso that 1 per cent of the order be taken in tablets, otherwise their price is 6.45 cents for bags and 6.50 cents for assorted.

The raw futures market varied only a point or two. March closed at 3.12 cents; May, 3.20; September, 3.26; December, 3.32.

COFFEE ADVANCES

In the coffee market there was no news to inspire confidence that the Brazilian situation had improved. The trend is governed largely by the advancing prices for spot coffee, which within a week has gone up from 1¾ cents to 2 cents a pound for Brazilian grades.

Cost and freight business from Santos has come to a full stop. Rio 7s were offered at 16.30 cents and Victoria 7s and 8s for August-September shipment at 15.25 to 15.30, and up to 16 cents in some instances.

The local spot market was firm. Santos fours were nominally quoted at 21.25 cents to 22.25 cents and Rio 7s at 17.25 cents to 17.50 cents. The green coffee association quoted Santos 4s at 21.25 to 21.75 cents, Rio 7s at 17.50 cents, Victoria 7s and 8s at 17.25 cents.

Futures again rose, closing unchanged to 15 points higher. March closed 13.90 cents; May, 13.60 cents; July, 15.73 cents; September, 15.30 cents; October, 15 and November 14.67 cents and December 14.33.

Rice stocks are light with first-hand dealers and cannot be more than normal with the country distributors. Supplies in the domestic primary market are also short, but no one makes a move to replenish.

The bean market is featureless. Local and out-of-town orders are being scaled down to minimum lots and, while prices are not opposed, buyers still argue they are too high.

Tea is in a firm position and is gradually growing stronger, as cabled foreign advices from the several primary markets report increasing strength with steadily advancing prices.

The butter market took a sudden downward spurt which caused a great deal of surprise. Sales were 50 tubs extras spot at 39½ cents; 400 tubs extras seller July at 39 3-4 cents and 300 tubs seller August at 39½ cents.

COPPER UP FRACTION

There was a sharp advance in copper over the week-end amounting to 1-4 cent or more and electrolytic closed at 12 5-8 cents to 12 3-4 cents a pound delivered. On an advance in London sterling exchange between the two trading sessions, the market there moved up almost £1, 5s. This is equal to almost 3-8 cent. Standard advanced £1, 2s 6d to £62, 5s for spot and to £63, 2s 6d for futures, while electrolytic spot gained £1, 5s to £66, 5s and futures increased £1 to £66, 10s.

Lead is unchanged at 7 cents New York and is more firmly established at 6 3-4 cents a pound St. Louis. In London spot declined 7s 6d to £32, 10s, and futures 2s to £30, 15s, which loss was in part offset by the advance in exchange.

Zincs advanced another 5 points and closed at 5.90 cents St. Louis and 6 1-4 cents New York. In London spot advanced 5s to £32, 2s 6d and futures 7s 6d to £32.

Tin started the week with sharp upward movement, the market here advancing 1⅞ cents. Sterling exchange advanced almost 2 cents between the last two trading sessions in London. In the domestic market Straits closed at 48⅛ cents a pound, while standard and the 99 per cent grades were closed at 48 and 47½ cents a pound, respectively. London reports standard spot advancing £9 12s 6d to £241 5s; futures £9 to £242, and Straits £9 12s 6d to £243 10s. Straits in Singapore advanced £3 15s Saturday and £4 15s today; closed at £242 c.i.f. London.

FINANCE MARKET

The bond trade again turned its attention to the speculative rails. The improvement in stocks, no doubt, was an influence. With money rates continuing low, the high-grade corporation issues and the Liberties were about unchanged.

Chicago and Alton 3½s turned distinctly stronger and more active, getting to new high ground. The St. Louis and Southwestern issues, although subjected to profit taking, managed to rally at different intervals. Seaboard adjustments touched another new high, while Frisco incomes were up to 70. The strength in railroad stocks was also reflected in the demand for convertible issues.

A further cut of 25 cents a barrel in prices for North Louisiana and Arkansas crude oil was made by Standard of Louisiana and the Texas Company, and follows a similar cut about a week ago. All grades were down 25 cents, except Smackover and Cotton Valley, which declined 10 cents.

Crop Reports Influence Sale of Contracts

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, July 21.—Better weather and crop reports from corn and spring wheat belts led to considerable change in sentiment today among many of the local traders. There was considerable pressure from the pit element and commission-house, the greater part of the day, with the close at net losses of ⅞@1⅝c on wheat, 1¼@2c on corn, 1¼@1⅝c on oats and 1⅜@1⅝c on rye.

Beneficial rains were reported in parts of the Canadian Northwest, but in the main they came in sections where they needed it the least. In the American Northwest soaking rains occurred in some sections, and with normal weather the crop is now regarded as assured. Dry weather in the Southwest has permitted a resumption of threshing operations. Kansas City and three leading interior points received around 2800 cars of wheat for the day. The fact that terminals are receiving the grain rather than the Gulf was a factor in creating bearish sentiment in some quarters.

Winnipeg July wheat acted tight and closed ⅝c higher for the day, while the deferred deliveries were off 1¼@1½c. Buenos Aires opened 3¼@3⅝c higher, putting Chicago September to about the widest discount under that market and Winnipeg on the crop, and led to anticipations of a big export business as soon as the erratic fluctuations ceased. There was 200,000 to 300,000 bushels wheat reported sold for export in all positions, with some business done that was not given out. Elevator interests bought September and sold December at about 3c difference, with the spread narrowing to 2⅝c at the last. Liverpool was ⅝@1d higher at the last. Routine news attracted little attention. July here closed at 1.27; September at 1.25⅝@1.25¾; December at 1.28⅝@1.28¼, and May at 1.33¼@1.33⅜.

High temperatures prevailed over a good part of the corn belt, and some of the leading local traders turned to the bear side of the market. Deferred deliveries dropped about 3⅛ cents from the close of Saturday, with a moderate rally toward the last with December at 92¼, and May at 93⅝. Old crop deliveries were less active with July at 108 and September at 103⅝ to 103¾ at the close.

Traders who were out in the country over Sunday found crop conditions spotted, but the general run of reports suggested that there had been improvement in the situation during the past week. A decrease of 1,753,000 bushels in the visible brought the total down to 3,771,000 bushels against 1,847,000 bushels last year. Receipts of 233 cars met with a good demand as part of the grain was applied on to arrive contracts.

There was a noticeable lack of support in oats immediately following the opening, and a sharp break followed, the finish being about the bottom. Domestic crop reports were favorable. Sales of 55,000 bushels were made to go to store. Receipts 124 cars.

Rye was weaker and lower with selling on the weakness in wheat and on better crop reports from the northwest. Local stocks increased 269,000 bushels for the week, and are 2,248,000 bushels against 1,302,000 bushels last year.

Citrus Fruits Will Go East in Fast Time

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

EL PASO (Tex.) July 21.—Forty-five hours will be clipped from the fast freight schedule for citrus fruit shipments from California to the east, through El Paso, officials of the El Paso & Southwestern announced yesterday.

The schedule of this service is to be 154 hours from Colton, where the trains are made up, to Chicago. A shortening of the schedule to St. Louis and Memphis soon will be announced.

More than 60,000 carloads of oranges will be affected annually by the schedule, which becomes effective this week, as the running time has been shortened on other routes, also.

The faster time will have the effect of increasing the refrigerator car supply.

CRUDE RUBBER MARKET

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, July 21.—No great amount of business materialized over the week-end and the local crude rubber market continued dull and quiet today, although prices remained firm. There was a decided drop in interest since last week, but it is expected to pick up before another day is passed.

Prices did not change very much with spot ribbed smoked sheets, crude rubber still selling for 23 cents per pound; brown crepe in thin, clean sheets was quoted at 21 cents; amber Nos. 1 and 2 at 21 cents per pound and fine up-river para at 22 cents.

MARKET SUMMARY

CATTLE—Several loads of stock due for yesterday's market failed to arrive in time for trading and consequently today's receipts were swelled, however, the better kinds of steers met moderately active demand at steady prices, although lower grades, mostly inbetween kinds, were slow sellers, with the tendency lower, some spots 15@25c off. Several loads medium 985 to 1065-pound California steers cleared from 7.75@7.85, the latter figure top for the day. Bulk of steers were common and medium, 900 to 1050-pound kinds at 5.75@7.60; a few on the cutter order selling downward to 4.00 and below. Fat she-stock held steady and a good clearance on better grades was made, however, lower grades were slow to move. Most fat she-stock were medium to good 800 to 1050-pound kinds at 4.50@6.10, with odd head more desirable kinds upward to 6.50 and less desirable kinds downward to 3.60; canners and cutters ruled steady, bulk cashing from 2.00@3.00; bulls held about steady, the price spread of 3.00@4.00 taking most bolognas, however; weighty beef bulls sold upward to 4.50.

CALVES—Fairly active demand at strong prices developed for good and choice handy weight vealers; however, weighty calves were slow sellers; small lots, choice 120 to 180-pound vealers cleared from 8.75@9.00, with the bulk medium to good 190 to 240-pound kinds from 7.75@8.25; common handy weights and heavies sold downward to 6.00; few good 265-pound kinds making 6.75.

HOGS—Very active demand developed for butchers and the fairly liberal supply was cleaned up early; sharp advances at the middle western markets coupled with active competition finds prices uneven, mostly strong to 10c higher than Saturday, or 35@50c higher than Friday; extreme top was 9.60 scored on one load, while the remaining loads good and choice 160 to 195-pound kinds turned for 9.50; medium weight and weighty butchers were sorted out at 8.50 and 7.50, respectively; packing sows cleared largely from 6.25@6.50.

MARKET REVIEW

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, July 21.—Practically all markets, with the single exception of the grains, were buoyantly strong today, with substantial gains established in stocks and in the foreign exchanges. The main interest, however, centered in the cotton market, where gains of $10 a bale, the maximum allowed under present regulations, were established in quick response to a government report on cotton, which, to say the very least, left the trade very much bewildered and astonished. This report was the first of a series to be made semimonthly by the government, and the trade generally had anticipated a "condition" about the same as the 71.2 per cent reported on June 25. The government's figures, issued today, placed the condition at 68.6, with an indicated production of 11,934,000 bales. The official figure was so far out of line with the forecast, which had been made by private agencies that a veritable scramble for cotton contracts occurred on both the big cotton exchanges in New Orleans and New York.

In the stock market the outstanding feature was an exhibition of the same steady, but determined, buying power, which has been evident for several weeks. It could hardly be said that there was any very great change over Sunday in the tone of industrial news, and as a matter of fact, the market had before it two pieces of unsettling news, one, further cuts in oil prices, and the other, the reduction of its dividend by half by one of the prominent stock exchange industrial industries. These developments went almost unnoticed, while a great deal of attention was paid to reports of increased forward buying, even though on a moderate scale, in some of the basic industries. And the restarting of some steel mills on automobile materials, which had been held up for a month. The market is putting the best "face" it can on news which may be given a constructive tinge.

At any rate, stocks as a whole advanced into new high ground for the year under a volume of turnover, which considerably exceeded 1,000,000 shares for the day. The new high record brought the total advance, which has occurred since the low of the year, on April 22, to 9.85 for the average of stocks. Railroad shares again were prominent in today's market, but it shows a disposition at the moment to broaden out to include many groups of industrial issues, which heretofore have lagged behind notably the copper and the oil shares.

The strength of sterling, which carried it today to $4.39⅞, is widely construed in our financial districts, at least, as a reflection of international optimism on the outcome of the London conference. Today's highest price has not been equalled since April 28, and it is exactly 1 cent below the year's best figure of $4.40, made on April 23. Since June 1 sterling has advanced approximately 10 cents to the pound and practically all of the other exchanges have moved up sympathetically with it. Not a great deal in the sterling market is being done from the New York end at the moment and there is a disposition to credit the upswing entirely to a "movement of discount" in anticipation of a favorable conclusion to the Inter-Allied conference and the announcement of terms for a German loan, which will insure its success.

NEW YORK, July 21.—The upward movement of stock prices today entered upon its sixth consecutive week with favorable reparations news and western reports of reviving business activity providing the stimulus for the day's advance. Trading was on a board scale, fifty-one issues, including thirty rails and eight coppers, establishing new high records for the year.

Heavy investment buying of high-grade carrier stocks was one of the day's features, New York Central, Atchison, Union Pacific, Southern Pacific, Northern Pacific, Great Northern preferred, Rock Island 7 per cent preferred and Atlantic Coast Line all bettering their previous top prices of the year.

United States Steel common regained the leadership of the standard industrials by moving up 2 points to 102, a new high on the movement. Baldwin, Studebaker and American each gained about a point. General Electric touched a new top at 250 and then eased to 247⅞.

Strength of the copper shares was attributed to reports that the surplus of the red metal is at the lowest point in year, the rising trend of metal prices and indications of the extensive use of silver, an important by-product of most copper companies, for coinage purposes by European countries.

Stewart-Warner climbed nearly 5 points to 56⅛ on declaration of a quarterly dividend of $1.25 as against the previous payment of $2.50, Wall street apparently having expected a sharper reduction.

Other outstanding strong spots were American Woolen, Air Reduction, Gulf States Steel, Loose-Wiles Biscuit, National Biscuit, Mathieson Alkali, Remington Typewriter and Transue and Williams, all up 2 to 5 points. New highs were recorded by Mack Truck and Famous Players.

Oil issues displayed a firm tone despite the announcement of further readjustments of crude and gasoline prices. Coaden, Houston, Skelly and Shell Union each closed about a point higher, and a number of others improved fractionally.

Call money continued to rule at 2 per cent. Time-money rates eased slightly in the absence of any great demand for funds, loans up to sixty days being arranged at 2½ per cent, with most borrowers unwilling to pay more than 2¼. Longer dates ranged from 2¾ to 3½ per cent, depending upon maturity.

Foreign exchange rates stiffened in reflection of the progress reported at the London conference on reparations. Demand sterling crossed $4.39 and then eased to around $4.38, and French francs ruled slightly higher around 4.16½ cents.

SPIRITED JUMP IN COTTON FUTURES

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, July 21.—Under the heaviest demand of the season, cotton advanced sensationally today with July and October options touching the 200-point limit of fluctuations. Buying was so active and concentrated that prices advanced by leaps and bounds with fluctuations of 50 points between sales recorded. The buying was based on the extremely bullish government report, which estimated the condition of the crop at 68.5 per cent, which represents deterioration of approximately 8 points during the last two weeks. The yield was estimated at 11,934,000 bales.

The report took the trade by surprise and resulted in a wild rush to buy immediately following the publication of the report. It was not until more than half an hour after the report was issued that trading again reached normal proportions. The market later reacted slightly, under profit-taking by traders who went long of the report.

Scattered evening up by professional operators caused an irregular undertone to prevail in the early trading prior to the publication of the semimonthly crop report. Business was small and mainly local. Offerings were chiefly traced to operators who bulled the market last week, while demand was generally attributed to shorts. Final prices were 82 to 146 points net higher. Spot cotton closed at 33.30 cents, 80 points net higher.

FATHER'S FAITH FREES VETERAN

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, July 21.—The story of a father's devotion to his son, a victim of dementia praecox and drug habit contracted in the army, which eventually resulted in the son being cleared of charges of double desertion, released from imprisonment and paid more than $5000 in "back compensation," is told in a referee's report filed with the Supreme Court.

Jacob Felsenstein of Brooklyn is the father. His son Joseph, now 29 years of age and a patient on Ward's Island, enlisted and was sent to France. In July, 1918, letters which the father had sent abroad, addressed to Private Felsenstein, were returned with word that the young man was not with his regiment, his "present whereabouts being unknown."

Then came word that Joseph was "under serious charges," and the father promptly booked passage for France, but because he was of German birth, though an American citizen of forty years' standing, the French Consul refused to vise his passport. The British Consul-General, however, did, and he proceeded to England, where a "special invitation" to visit France was extended to him by the French government after intercession by the State Department. That was after hostilities had ended. Months passed before, in April, 1919, he found his son, a prisoner charged with double desertion, in a general hospital.

Joseph was brought back to the United States under a ten-year sentence and taken to the disciplinary barracks on Governor's Island. From there he was transferred to St. Elizabeth's Hospital, Washington, D. C.

The father continued his efforts. An August 29, 1919, the unexecuted portion of the sentence was remitted. Then Joseph was brought to his father's home, only to be committed soon thereafter to the Manhattan State Hospital on Ward's Island. A few months ago it was determined, after examination of the record and upon testimony by government alienists, that Joseph Felsenstein was out of his mind when he became "A.W.O.L." Then compensation dating from the time of his arrest was ordered and he was officially cleared of the charge. In all, $5412.84 has been received by his committee to date.

According to Meyer Levy, referee, Jacob Felsenstein "expended necessarily $047 during two trips abroad undertaken for his son's sake and in caring for him and making payments for treatment since his return." The referee recommends that the father be reimbursed.

PLANT-GROWING MYTH WRECKED

Artificial Light All Right, Say Federal Experts

But Length-of-Day Factor Has Been Neglected

Government Tests Bring Out New Revelations

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, July 21.—The affection of plants for the kindly sun, so long proclaimed by observing poets, appears to be exaggerated. A rose can be made to grow and bloom under a yellow electric light, or an artificial light of blue, red, or any other color, and it will still be a rose and look just about the same.

Experiments in raising plants under colored light have been conducted in the past, and the experimenters have emerged from their weirdly colored greenhouse laboratories to report that under blue, green, or purple light plants failed to develop normally. Even red and yellow were said to be less efficient than the pure white sunlight, which combines all colors.

But as Dr. W. W. Garner, of the Department of Agriculture, and his associates, H. A. Allard and Dr. R. A. Steinberg, continued this remarkable work with the effect of light on plants, they got around to the question of colored light with interesting results. Dr. Garner and Mr. Allard already have proved a revolutionary theory to account for the fact that chrysanthemums bloom in November, and common irises bloom in May, and poinsettias bloom in December. Temperature had always been regarded as the controlling factor in this question of seasonal blooming. And yet florists had tried to make cosmos bloom in off-seasons in greenhouses by keeping the temperature at a September level—with no luck.

FACTOR OVERLOOKED

"The important factor which has been overlooked," says Dr. Garner, "is the length of the day. When cosmos are exposed to light for the number of hours that a September day would give them, they make haste to bloom. Plants may be injured or benefited by changes in temperature and in the intensity of light. Some are very sensitive. But, in general, life habits of plants do not depend on such uncertain conditions. Every first day of September is the same length, allowing for slight calendar variations, and plants have been under the influence of the unchanging cycles of light for thousands of years; so it is not surprising that the plant world is governed by them."

This theory has been tested by government experiments on nearly 200 varieties of plant life, including trees, wild and cultivated flowers, farm crops and weeds. Varieties that bloom when the days are short are called by the experimenters short-day plants and those that bloom under long light exposure are called long-day plants. By rolling trucks laden with specimens into dark houses, the days can be shortened in some experiments, and by lighting greenhouses at night the days can be lengthened for other tests.

At the government experiment farm the scientists now have, among other exhibits, poinsettias and chrysanthemums in bloom. In December they have such plants as iris and coreopsis in full bloom. The blossoms are normal in all respects, and some are superior.

One of the most striking proofs of the light theory is a specimen which has a cluster of blossoms on one branch and no flowers on another. One branch of the plant was induced to flower by giving it the exact light-day necessary, whereas the other branch was covered from the light during a part of each day. Both branches got food and water from the same soil and the same stalk, but the light rays affected only the spray that was uncovered. The other spray continued to grow normally, but without producing buds.

ARTIFICIAL DAYLIGHT

From lengthening and shortening the days for plants it seems only a step to experimenting with artificial daylight. When the plants were exposed to light a few hours overtime each day, very weak electric light was adequate. Midday sunlight may be equal to 10,000 foot candles—the intensity of 10,000 standard candles at a distance of one foot. But for the lengthening of a day, electric light equaling five or ten foot candles was sufficient for most specimens.

When no sunlight at all was given to specimens, however, it became necessary to use very bright electric lights. With this stimulation, plants behaved just as if they had been out of doors. If there are any mysterious qualities peculiar to sunlight they do not seem to be necessary to plant growth.

Even when ordinary yellow electric lights were replaced by lights of red or some other color the plants showed no disturbance so long as the intensity of the light was about like the sunlight to which they were accustomed. The peculiar results obtained by other experimenters would thus appear to be due to the colored lights being weak. It was not the color blue, for instance, but the lack of sufficient light, that flowers found "depressing."

The farmer will benefit by the new discoveries in time, indirectly at least. For instance, farmers who try to introduce new varieties of crops will be able to estimate more correctly in what latitudes a crop can be expected to bear, now that they know that length of daylight must be considered as well as temperature, soil, moisture, and other factors.

COLUMBARIUM FOR CINERARY URNS

California Mausoleum Company Provides Fitting Arrangements in Its Beautiful Hollywood Building for the Permanent Disposition of Ashes

The practice of cremation is growing in America. Grave burial, with its many disadvantages and unpleasant implications, as well as its menace to the living is appearing less and less desirable to thoughtful people. Although it is widely conceded that crypt interment, under proper conditions, provides the best and most respectful disposition of the bodies of the beloved dead, there are some people to whom cremation seems preferable. The difficulty arising from this practice is found in the reverent preservation or fitting disposition of the ashes.

At the stately Mausoleum in Hollywood Cemetery a Columbarium has been erected. The materials used are chaste white marble, beveled plate glass and solid bronze. Here niches may be purchased for the reception of cinerary urns, providing a dignified and permanent resting-place for the ashes. Surroundings are quiet, peaceful, beautiful—all that could be desired. The temple-like building is itself under perpetual and responsible care.

A special booklet has been issued picturing the Columbarium, the many designs in bronze urns available, and giving details of arrangements, costs, etc. Those interested are invited to ask for a copy. CRIMINAL BONEHEADEDNESS

If you hired a contractor to build you a fine house and agreed to pay him a fat fee for his own services—

And the contractor built the house and finished it, even to the hardwood floors and the bathroom tiling and the painting, inside and out—

And then brought on his gang of plumbers and tore up the hardwood and tiled floors and sawed through the floor joists and ripped holes in the cement foundations in order to put in the water pipes and the gas pipes and the soil pipes—

And then brought on his gang of electricians and tore the plaster off the walls and ruined the interior finish in order to put in the electric wiring—

And, having thus delayed the completion of your house a couple of months, he presented you with a huge bill over and above the contract price, this extra bill being for putting back the floors and the plaster and all the rest of it—

Would you pay it without a murmur?

Or would you throw that contractor out on his ear?

That is practically an exact parallel to the manner in which the city of Los Angeles conducts its business of street paving.

For example, Hill street was lately paved from First to Third streets. It was a costly job made necessary by the new grade at the Second-street tunnel. For more than a year in advance it was known that this repaving would be done and every city department and private company concerned was so notified. The paving job was started and carried along to completion, the whole process requiring a considerable time. Everybody in Los Angeles who ever comes downtown knew that Hill street was being paved because it worked tremendous inconvenience to those using that important artery of traffic. But it was finally finished. And then—

A few days after the paving was all done a gang of laborers from the city's Bureau of Power and Light appeared on the scene and proceeded to tear up the new pavement in order to lay conduits for power cables and lighting wires which could have been laid at any time during the previous year. After the conduits were laid the street was re-repaved.

The cost of which will appear on our tax bills and otherwise in due season. And we will be expected to pay without a murmur.

This is not an isolated instance of criminal boneheadedness.

It is about the most common experience in a taxpayer's history.

There are few districts in the city which have not had it. The favorite outdoor sport of official Los Angeles is to pave a street, collect the money for it by assessments on the property-owners and then tear up the pavement to lay a sewer or a storm drain or some other city improvement that calls for wrecking a good street.

A huge open trench and its parallel pile of dirt and broken paving make the street all but impassable for weeks. Then dirt is thrown in the trench more or less filling it and this remains for a few more weeks or months, presumably to settle. It is sometimes a year before the street is finally restored to the condition for which the abutting property owners paid anywhere from $100 to $1000 or more apiece. By that time they have usually started to tear up the street again for something else.

A growing city requires the installation of new water, electric, gas, sewer and other services. There is no argument about that. But intelligent direction would reduce to a minimum the amount of this work to be done after a pavement is laid.

Is there any such intelligent direction? There is not. The Council takes absolutely no interest in the matter, though it is probably of more vital personal concern to the taxpayers—who are also voters—than any other one phase of the city's business, because it literally touches them where they live.

If it ever begins to dawn upon the taxpaying, assessment-ridden public that a large part of the hard-earned money it pays is merely the price of incompetence and indifference on the part of the city's elective officials it will be a bleak election day at the City Hall.

CLEAN PICTURES PLEDGE SIGNED

Binding Resolution Adopted by Producers' Body

Restricts Use of Titles; Presented by Hays

The motion-picture industry yesterday pledged itself to the American public to produce nothing but clean pictures in the future.

At a meeting in the Hollywood offices of the Association of Motion-Picture Producers, Mill Hays president of the Motion-Picture Producers and Distributors of America, Inc., presented a long resolution embodying the clean-pictures program and it was unanimously adopted by seventeen producers, representing 95 per cent of the industry, who attended the meeting.

No more will the lurid book that has achieved a wide circulation because of its unsavory contents be exploited in a motion picture nor will erotic plays of the legitimate stage invade the precincts of the silent drama, if the promise of the resolution is kept. Also in the future producers will "avoid using titles which are indicative of a kind of picture which could not be produced, or by their suggestiveness seek to obtain attendance by deception, a thing equally reprehensible."

WRITTEN IN EAST

The resolution as adopted by the Association of Motion-Picture Producers was written and adopted by the Motion-Picture Producers and Distributors of America, Inc., of which Mr. Hays is the head, at a meeting held on June 19, last, in the East, and on the 11th inst., at a special meeting, the committee on public relations, representing sixty national welfare organizations and approximately 30,000,000 members, officially commended the proposed program outlined in the resolution.

However, final sanction of the plans could not be obtained until the resolution was passed upon by the local organization, a California corporation, of which Joseph M. Schenck is president, and Fred W. Beetson is secretary, and which represents the actual production end. The California corporation was organized when Hays was here last January to aid in carrying out locally the purposes of the national association. The only producers out of the organization are the Pickford-Fairbanks studios, Robertson-Cole and a few smaller companies.

THE RESOLUTION

The resolution reads, in part, as follows:

"Whereas, the members of the Motion-Picture Producers and Distributors of America, Inc., in their continuing effort to establish and maintain the highest possible moral and artistic standards of motion-picture production, are engaged in a special effort to prevent the prevalent type of book and play from becoming the prevalent type of picture; to exercise every possible care that only books or plays which are of the right type are used for screen presentation; to avoid the picturization of books or plays which can be produced only after such changes as to leave the producer subject to a charge of deception; to avoid using titles which

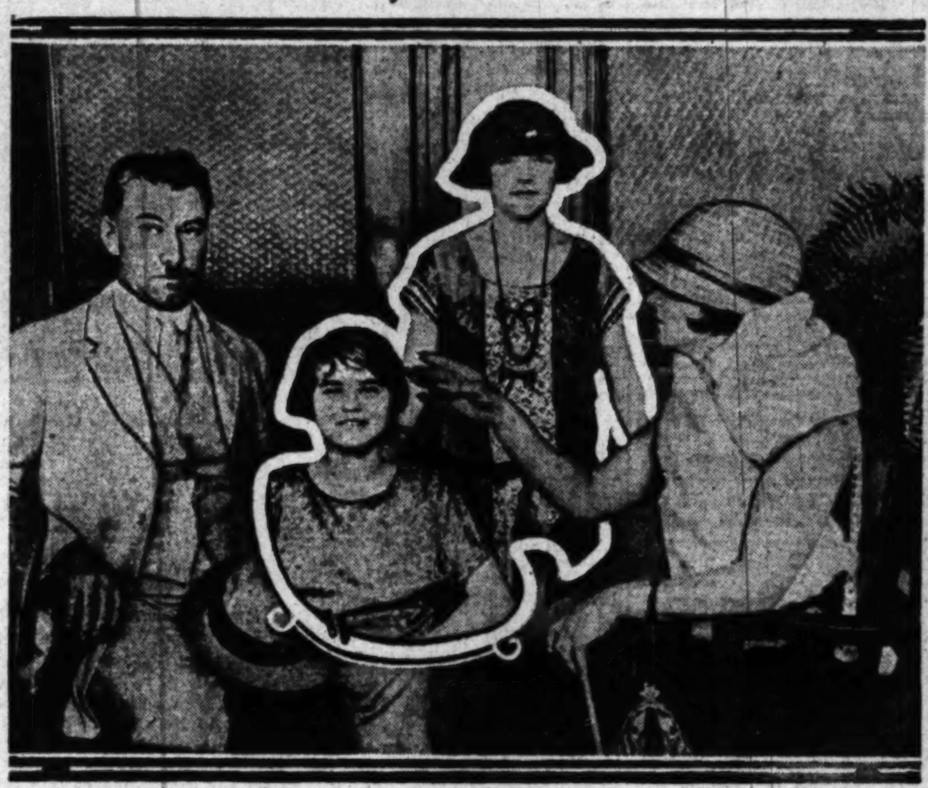
Clarke and Three of His Intended Love Victims



Meet First Time After Arrest

CLARKE LINKED WITH SUICIDES

Police Seek Possible Part in Death of Two Women

Knowledge of Cases is Denied by Love Master

Seer and Mrs. Berry Held on Contributing Charge

While the District Attorney's office yesterday was issuing a complaint charging contributing to the delinquency of a minor against John Bertrum Clarke, self-styled master of women, a renewed impetus was given the police investigations of his affairs when information linking Clarke's name with those of two women suicides of recent years was placed in the hands of Captain of Police Plummer and Detectives Berenzweig, Hoskins and Harris.

One of these cases, and the one to which the greater importance is attached by the police, is said to have been that of a former housekeeper of the love physician whose body was found in the lake at Westlake Park across the street from the lodgings in which Clarke lived at the time. Clarke, according to the information, was questioned by the police at the time when it was discovered that the woman had deeded property in Ventura county to him a short time prior to her death. The man was subsequently released by the police.

Up to a late hour last night police had not verified the story of the circumstances surrounding the woman's death.

DENIES KNOWLEDGE

The second case is that of a 23-year-old girl who shot herself in the vestibule of a Los Angeles church a few years ago. This girl, said to have been a student of the occult and admitted by Clarke to have been engaged at the time in selling his books, is asserted by the police to have been an intimate acquaintance of the love master.

In the City Jail yesterday Clarke denied that the suicide of the girl was linked in any way with her acquaintance with him. Newspaper reports at the time attributed the girl's act to despondency over ill health.

Mrs. Clara Irene Berry, charged by the police with being an accomplice of Clarke's and held with him under bond of $5000 on a contributing charge, yesterday stated that the act of the girl had affected the love physician deeply.

All knowledge of the Westlake Park case was denied by Clarke. He declared that the tale had been started by inmates at Patton at the time he was confined there in 1920, and that the basis of the tale was a letter play upon his name. Clarke explained by showing that elimination of the first and fourth letters of his name leaves the word "lake."

FACES VICTIMS

"There is nothing to that story," he stated.

Clarke for the first time since his arrest faced one of his intended victims yesterday when he was taken to the office of Chief Dep. Dist.-Atty. Fitts shortly before a complaint charging contributing to the delinquency of a minor was issued against him.

X-RAY TEST FOR DEMPSEY

Internal Injuries of Champion Feared; Auto is Badly Wrecked in Accident

Jack Dempsey, world's heavyweight champion, will undergo an X-ray examination today to determine whether he suffered internal injuries, in a serious automobile collision Sunday night near San Juan Capistrano, which would keep him out of the ring. His known injuries are a badly wrenched back, sprained ligaments and muscles in his neck, several cuts on his hands, face and body, and numerous scratches and bruishes.

The collision occurred at 10 o'clock Sunday night at Galivan, three and one-half miles north of San Juan Capistrano. Dempsey, with his trainer, Teddy Hayes, and Mrs. Hayes, known to the motion-picture world as Florence Lee, was on his way to a "location" at Pine Hills for a scene in one of his motion-picture productions. They were making the trip in Dempsey's automobile, a Rolls-Royce limousine, with the fighter's negro chauffeur at the wheel.

SAY CAR SIDESWIPED

Traveling southward along the boulevard, according to the version given by Dempsey and his companions, they saw a second car driving toward them and careening from one side of the road to the other. In attempting to avoid a head-on collision, Dempsey's party told the Santa Ana police, the negro chaffeur dodged across the boulevard and the big Rolls-Royce was sideswiped.

Dempsey's car was hurtled across the road, turned completely over, and landed in a ditch on its side. Within the closed car the heavyweight champion and his party were jostled and tossed about and were eventually dragged from the wreck by Dempsey, though the

DUNLAP DUE BACK THIS AFTERNOON

Asserted Badge Bandit Passes Through El Paso With Officers

Harry Dunlap, captured in Detroit, is scheduled to reach Los Angeles this afternoon in the custody of Sheriff Traeger and Deputy Sheriff Dewar. Dunlap, suspected killer and woman attacker, passed through El Paso yesterday with the officers. It was stated at the Sheriff's office last night that the prisoner is expected at 1:30 p.m. today and immediately will be taken to the County Jail.

Two officers were sent to Detroit, where Dunlap was arrested on the 7th inst., to bring him to Los Angeles. They left this city on the 11th inst. Dunlap has been indicted by the county grand jury on a charge of murder and attempt to commit criminal assault. According to Dist.-Atty. Keyes, Dunlap will be tried on these charges first and not on the charge of insanity, filed in November, 1922, by his wife, Mrs. Maude Dunlap.

Dunlap was arrested in Detroit under the name of William Wilson when he tried to pass worthless checks on a store. According to the arresting officers he was armed with an eight-inch hunting knife and wore a badge purporting to be that of a deputy sheriff.

Los Angeles authorities lay the murder of William Jacobson of Pasadena to Dunlap. Jacobson, who was 26 years of age, was killed on the night of January 3, last, by a man who first robbed him and his companion, Miss Ethel Todd, 18, and then attempted to attack the girl.

In 1908 Dunlap began serving a ten-year sentence in the State prison of Missouri after being found guilty on a charge of felonious assault. He was once arrested in Los Angeles and served two days of a 100-day term for vagrancy.

NEW HOTEL TO SOAR AT LONG BEACH

Commercial and Tourist Hostelry Will be Twelve Stories, Cost $3,000,000

Announcement was made yesterday that construction will start at once on a twelve-story commercial and tourist hotel to be built on West Seaside Boulevard near Neptune Place, Long Beach, at an estimated cost of $3,000,000. According to Lorin L. Baker, Dr. I. G. Baker and Charles L. Hoffman, financial backers and organizers of the project, more than two-thirds of the money needed is available, thus assuring early completion of the proposed hotel.

To be known as the Casa Del Castillian, the hotel will be of Spanish architecture, arranged to contain 400 rooms, a large ballroom, cafe and dining-room. It will be operated on the European plan, charging popular prices and featuring a plunge, gymnasium, assembly chapel and other conveniences. Josiah Moore, consulting engineer, will be in charge of all construction work.

Messrs. I. G. and L. L. Baker are owners of the Commander Apartments at Long Beach. Mr. Hoffman, formerly of Minneapolis, is an authority of loan and building financing and construction. Work on the project should be completed within twelve months' time, the owners state.

URGES CITY PORT FACILITIES

Gen. Beach at Dinner in His Honor Advocates Municipally Owned Terminals

Municipal ownership of port terminal facilities as the best means of insuring fair treatment for all interests concerned was proposed by Maj.-Gen. Lansing H. Beach, retired chief of the United States Army Engineering Corps, who has been in charge of the government's plans for developing Los Angeles Harbor, at a dinner given in his honor last night by the executive committee of the Greater Harbor Committee of Two Hundred.

The dinner welcoming Gen. Beach to Los Angeles, where he is to make his home in the future, was served at the California Club. H. M. Robinson, chairman of the Greater Harbor Committee, as toastmaster introduced a number of officials of Los Angeles, San Pedro and Long Beach who are active in harbor development work. Covers were laid for forty.

Gen. Beach retired from the Army last month. As chief of the engineering corps, he had supervision of the government expenditure of funds for harbor development and submitted the recommendations regarding appropriations for that purpose to Congress. In this work he was aided by the Board of Engineers for Rivers and Harbors.

CITY OWNERSHIP

Acquaintance with conditions in harbors throughout the United States gained as chief of engineers has led him to believe in municipal ownership of terminals, Gen. Beach declared. They should be operated, he said, either by the municipal authorities or preferably by some organization representing all the interests concerned.

"The ownership of the terminals should be vested in the municipalities," he said. "Competition with other cities would force the municipalities to keep them efficient or suffer the loss of their trade.

"In a report I submitted to the government recently I showed that the terminals in the South Atlantic and Gulf States, covered by the report, were operated by the railroads at a loss. About half the cost of operation was covered by port charges, the difference being added on to the haulage charges. The effect is that a great burden is placed on the country at large and the ports are not kept up efficiently. Storage facilities are generally inadequate with the result that freight cars that are needed for hauling are used for storage purposes.

TELLS OF ADVANTAGES

"Los Angeles has advantages that no other city possesses and if Los Angeles Harbor is made a model port, your city may become the greatest in the United States. Behind the port there are no heavy grades to climb such as are found just outside many cities, and no obstructions to cut through or turn around."

Mayor Cryer headed the list of speakers who welcomed Gen. Beach as a resident of Los Angeles. The Mayor was followed by Ray Clark, Mayor and member of the City Council of Long Beach; Boyle Workman, president of the City Council, and chairman of the Council Harbor Committee; Charles J. Colden, president of the Los Angeles Board of Harbor Commissioners; C. E. Gordon, member of the Long Beach Board of Harbor Commissioners; William Lacy, president of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce; H. F. Burmester, president of the Long Beach Chamber of Commerce; Maj. Henry A. Finch, United States Engineering Corps, in charge of goverment river and harbor work in this district; E. A. Dickson, publisher, and Maj. Charles T. Leeds, retired, representing the engineers of the Committee of Two Hundred.

Foreign Artists' Exhibition Opens Here This Week

An exhibition of foreign paintings from the twenty-third international exhibition assembled by the Carnegie Institute at Pittsburg will open Thursday with a reception from 8 to 11 p.m. at the gallery of Fine and Applied Arts, Los Angeles Museum of History, Science and Art at Exposition Park.

Paintings in the exhibition were selected by the director of the Los Angeles Museum and directors of nine art institutions in Pittsburg last May, as the travel exhibition. They were sent directly to Los Angeles from Pittsburg.

Included in the exhibition are numerous paintings that have received international acclaim and the collection of Inro, exhibited for the first time in America, consisting of sixty examples of Japanese lacquer art.

Two Thousand Delegates Register for National Convention; Many More Expected

Some 2000 delegates to the thirty-fifth annual convention of the National Association of Life Underwriters, representing all parts of the country, registered at the Biltmore yesterday where the opening session of the convention will begin at 9:30 o'clock this morning.

It is expected that the attendance will exceed 3000, as several hundred arrived late last night and on early trains this morning. In addition there are about 850 local members of the association, most of whom will attend.

In the absence of the president of the association, Graham C. Wells of New York, who was unable to be present owing to illness, the convention will be presided over by Edward A. Woods of Pittsburg, general chairman of the association's business and educational department; and George E. Lackey of Oklahoma City, first vice-president.

PICK KANSAS CITY

The executive committee of the national association in session yesterday decided on Kansas City as the convention point for next year. The date will not be determined until several weeks after the convention here adjourns, when the decision will be made by the board of trustees. Kansas City delegates urged that the date be made in September, when Missouri weather is considered best, they said.

WILL C. FARRELL

Kansas City won after a strenuous battle with Des Moines, San Francisco, Atlantic City, Houston, Columbus, Cedar Point, Chautauqua Lake, N. Y., and Briar Cliff Lodge, N. Y. All these cities were represented by delegates, who argued for the honor of entertaining the next conference.

It was a motion of a Los Angeles man, Frank E. McMullen, which finally turned the tide in favor of Kansas City.

DIVIDE PROGRAM

Owing to the fact that the convention is being held in Southern California, with its numerous recreational attractions, the program has been divided into two parts, the first being devoted to business and the second to recreational and social activities.

The opening session today, which is under the chairmanship of Will G. Farrell of Los Angeles, will be taken up with discussions of business insurance. Among the notables who will address the meeting is Job E. Hedges, well-known New York attorney and general counsel of the association of Life Insurance President, who will speak on "The Real America." Herbert D. Ivey, vice-prisedent of the Citizens' National Bank of Los Angeles, will address the meeting on "Brains, Indemnity and Bans."

The sessiokn will be opened with singing led by Sol J. Vogel of San Francisco, who will be the song leader for the convention. The invocation will be pronounced by Rev. Bob Shuler, pastor of Trinity Methodist Church of Los Angeles.

DIVERSION PLANNED

The business session will close at 1 p.m. and the program for the afternoon provides for various forms of diversions, including sightseeing, golf and luncheon entertainments, with a reception at the Biltmore at 8 p.m., followed by dancing in the ballroom.

One of the features to be staged during the reception will be a Spanish fiesta, when the second act of the "Mission Play" will be presented under the direction of its author, John Steven McGroarty.

The closing session of the convention will take place on Friday. This is the second time the National Association of Life Underwriters has convened in Los Angeles. The first time was in 1908, when the meeting was attended by only 300 delegates.

REGISTER!

FIVE DAYS REMAIN in which to register for the primary election on August 26. Candidates for county, State and national offices, including the judiciary, Congress, the State Legislature and the Board of Supervisors, are seeking preferment and the Bureau of Power and Light will submit a bond issue of $16,000,000.

Every public office to be filled at the primary or at the November election directly concerns the welfare of the entire citizenship. Men who are to make our laws and those charged with the duty of enforcing the law are to be indorsed. Likewise those empowered to levy taxes and disburse huge public funds must be selected. Self-interest as much as a due regard for civic responsibilities should prompt every eligible voter to register.

HELPING HAND LEADS TO FINE

Ship Gives Supposed Sailor Passage From Hamburg

Immigration Aide Orders Him Held at Harbor

Escape on Forged Pass Gets Benefactors in Mess

Co-operation with the government in playing Good Samaritan to supposed American sailors stranded abroad may cost the United American Line $1000 in the form of a fine imposed by agents of the government.

The peculiar situation, in which the steamship line is made liable to a heavy fine for extending a helping hand to Uncle Sam, arose through the escape from aboard the United American liner Kermit of Thomas Gallagher, said to be an ex-convict, and through the complications of the new immigration law.

PASSAGE ON KERMIT

Gallagher escaped from the ship yesterday morning. He had boarded the vessel at Hamburg, Germany, being put aboard by the American Consul in that city. He had informed the Consul that he was a destitute American seaman and in accordance with the law which requires that stranded seamen abroad be given free transportation back to this country the Consul had made arrangements for Gallagher's passage back to Los Angeles aboard the Kermit.

When the vessel arrived at Los Angeles Harbor early yesterday morning, she was boarded by Immigration Inspector Gatley. He questioned Gallagher but the latter was unable to prove he was an American citizen.

FINE IMPENDS

Thereupon Gatley ordered Capt. W. M. Strong of the Kermit to hold Gallagher aboard pending a further investigation. Some time later, however, Gallagher broke into Capt. Strong's cabin, stole a pass to which he signed the captain's name and fled, taking with him a pair of shoes belonging to the ship's cook.

Informed of the escape, Gatlin assessed a fine of $1000 against the line under the provisions of the new immigration law. Unless officials of the line can prove that Gallagher is an American citizen they will be forced to pay. They have appealed to police to aid in the search for Gallagher, who is believed to have skipped across the border into Mexico. Officers stated that Gallagher served a term of three years at San Quentin for burglary.

GIVEN LEAVENWORTH TERM

TIRES OF ROLE OF COOK

Mrs. Ida Franklin declared her husband regarded her merely as a first-rate cook and took his affection with him on daily calls on another woman, in a suit for divorce from Charles J. Franklin, filed yesterday. They were married May 8, last, and separated July 1, according to her complaint.

MORE PROTESTS IN LUDLOW CASE

Ludlow a "mere subterfuge" and demanded his reinstatement.

The American Society of Civil Engineers declared the Harbor Commission "cannot expect to have or hold a reputable engineer in charge of its operations if such employment is to be at the whim or political desire of said board," and said it condemned the summary action taken, and asked that formal charges be brought "if there be any" against the harbor engineer and the issue tried on its merits.

The Association of Engineers in its resolutions declared "confidence in the ability and integrity of Mr. J. W. Ludlow, harbor engineer, as proven by years of efficient and faithful service to the city," and asked that he be retained unless charges of misconduct can be proven, after a proper hearing.

The Municipal League, through its president, F. D. Howell, said it is "strongly of the opinion that the best interests of the Los Angeles Harbor and the people who are being taxed for its development would be served by the reconsideration of this action at the earliest moment;" while the United Church Brotherhood protested "most heartily against the summary dismissal" and demanded "his reinstatement in his office as harbor engineer."

HUGHES COMMENT

Concerning the beaching of the barges the letter of Federal Engineer Hughes had some politely caustic comment to make. He said:

"In my opinion too much ado is being made over the accidental beaching of the derrick scow at Point Firmin. Many were interested in the experiment, for ever since the breakwater was extended to shore in 1912 there had been discussion and difference of opinion as to whether sand if deposited there would be dragged seaward or pushed shoreward.

"I was particularly interested for I had expressed the opinion that considerable sand or clay armored with sand could be safely deposited in the angle between the breakwater and the bluff to the south without bulkheading. I think I once suggested such experiment.

"On seeing the experiment begun, no thought of risk came to my mind, for it was midsummer, with its westerly winds; small fishing boats were around there every day; another barge had long been at anchor near-by; east of Point Firmin had always been noted as excellent holding ground, and I had myself been so much closer to shores, walls and quarries so many times. Failure to anticipate sudden arrival of abnormal seas or to suspect shale bottom so far out from shore to lessen the usual hold of anchors is excusable. I doubt that a mariner's license would be even temporarily suspended on such account.

LITTLE HARM TO LUDLOW

"The harm from this hasty action by the board is not so much to Mr. Ludlow, except temporarily to his sensibilities; for usually it does good men more good than harm to be dismissed by political bodies, as they rise in the public esteem for having displeased their quota of those who are ever seeking advantages from public works."

"But there is real harm to the harbor—and greater harm to the public service in general, for if men like Mr. Ludlow are discharged on insufficient grounds it will be increasingly difficult to get the most desirable men to enter the service of the city."

The conclusions of the special committee were more caustic and less polite. The committee said in part:

"It appears to the members of this committee that the charges under which Harbor Engineer Ludlow was discharged are false and erroneous, and were merely used as a subterfuge to get rid of Mr. Ludlow for reasons best known to Commissioners Allen and Kibele.

"This particular incident was also most appropriate to the plans and designs of Commissioners Allen and Kibele, as this work had been ordered done by President Colden, they forgetting that in records on file they had concurred in requesting Harbor Engineer Ludlow to make all necessary tests and investigations relative to Cabrillo Beach and report them to the Board of Harbor Commissioners.

"Mr. Ludlow is a public employee who has twelve years of honest, efficient and conscientious work to his credit."

The report was signed by A. E. Henning, chairman; Ray Mitchell, J. H. Booge and J. Frishman.

The committee of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, it was said, set forth to the Mayor the view that Ludlow was a capable engineer with a good record for efficiency in the harbor department, and that the department, which has $15,000,000 to spend on harbor development within the next two years, needs all the capable men it can get.

The City Hall rumor which suggested the probability of Ludlow's reinstatement in a subordinate position, was to the effect that the Harbor Board would seek the advice of the Mayor and the Chamber of Commerce on the appointment of a harbor engineer at a salary of $10,000 to $15,000 a year.

The Mayor is expected to talk matters over with Commissioner Allen, a recent appointee, and Commissioner Kibele, whose term has expired and whose successor has not been appointed, today or tomorrow.

The Association of Engineers, transmitting its resolution to the Mayor, said: "We have no hesitancy in saying that the other engineering organizations in this city will stand with us in such an important matter."

Man Near Death in Mystery Car Crash Near Port

A man believed to be Floyd Elder of La Habra was found in an unconscious condition beside a wrecked motor car on La Habra Boulevard near Wilmington last night. The man was suffering from a fractured skull and other injuries and was rushed to the General Hospital by Officer Perkins of the Wilmington police, where it was said he will not live.

Wilmington police could find no witnesses to the accident last night, but expressed belief that the man was injured when a wheel of the car he was driving came off, causing the car to overturn. Deputy Sheriffs Hachett and Harrington are investigating.

SAYS GOTHAM NOT SO WET

Job E. Hedges, Here on Business, Declares City Would Vote Dry on Referendum

There's more conversation about booze, drinking, making your time than there is actual indulgence in potent spirits and infractions of Andy Volstead's justly celebrated law, in the opinion of Job E. own, bootlegging and kindred phenomena in New York City at this Hedges, well-known Gotham attorney, now at the Biltmore.

Mr. Hedges, who is general counsel for the Association of Life Insurance Presidents, is here to attend the convention of the National Association of Life Underwriters, and will address the opening session of the convention today on "The Real America."

THIRST DYING

"So far as I have been able to observe, the frenzied demand for liquor in New York, which characterized the period immediately after the prohibition amendment went into effect, is dying down," said Mr. Hedges. "Of course, there is still some drinking and rum row, the fleet of booze-carrying craft hovering at a more or less safe distance in the offing, continues to pester the port authorities.

"But taking the city as a whole, the signs indicate that liquor is on the toboggan in New York. It is not being sold freely over the bar, though this seems to be the opinion of the rest of the country.

THINKS DRYS PREDOMINATE

"My opinion is that if the question as to whether the commonwealth should or should not remain on a prohibition basis were submitted to the voters of the State of New York today, the drys would win hands down. Prohibition has been a success in many ways. This is seen especially in the smaller places, where there has been a great increase in savings bank deposits and a marked improvement in general economic and social conditions since the dry-law went into effect."

Speaking of the recent Democratic convention in New York, Mr. Hedges suggested that there never was "anything so funny in the world" as that gathering.

DESCRIBES CONVENTION

"The program had been planned with the most meticulous care," he said. "Everything had been timed, the speeches, the demonstrations, the parades, the music—everything except the selection of the candidate. That was up in the air until exhaustion intervened and the weary delegates were glad to come to some sort of decision to ward off physical prostration."

Mr. Hedges has been a prominent member of the New York bar for many years. He was appointed the receiver of the New York Street Railway Company when the affairs of that concern were in a precarious financial condition and held this post until a few days ago, when the receivership terminated.

whose statements to Fitts and Dep. Dist.-Atty. Joos are the basis for the charge against him; Mrs. Caroline Tautrim, mother of the girl; Cecyle Duncan, clever police "decoy," and Mrs. Reda Douglas.

"The man of a thousand loves" met the ordeal without emotion and it was not until later in the inner office in the presence of Miss Duncan, whom Clarke insists is his wife under the laws of the Church of Cosmic Truth, and Mrs. Douglas, that he spoke of or to any of the quartet.

TAKES CREDIT

"Give me credit for picking good-looking ones," he remarked to Detective Berenzweig, nodding his head toward the two girls.

Clarke and Mrs. Clara Irene Berry, asserted by the authorities to have been an accomplice of the love physician in his attempts to ensnare girls in his net through fake motion-picture representations, are both held under bond of $5000 on charges of contributing to the delinquency of a minor. The charge against the Berry woman is based on her activities in the case of 15-year-old Clara Tautrim.

Mrs. Berry in her statements to Fitts and Joos admitted her part in the fantastic plot to enmesh the Tautrim girl but denied that she knew of Clarke's intentions regarding the girl. When informed that a complaint charging her as an accessory was to be issued, the woman broke down and was led out of the office protesting her innocence and bewailing the intimacy with Clarke which involved her in the affair. In the anteroom she faced the author of her troubles for a long moment as a glance, filled with feeling, passed between them.

PLANS LAID

The 15-year-old girl and her mother were taken to Dep. Dist.-Atty. Fitts's office yesterday morning at which time a statement was made by both. Again in the afternoon they were taken in and at the close of a lengthy session Fitts and Joos announced the nature of the complaint to be filed against the love master.

It is understood that the girl charged Clarke with improper proposals and with having treated her in a highly objectionable manner on two occasions when he had her alone and locked in his Fremont-street apartments.

Despite the number of girls and women upon whom Clarke has attempted to practice his black magic, and despite the mass of documentary evidence of his intrigues in the hands of the authorities, it was found difficult to place definite charges against the man.

PROGRESS IMPEDED

The reluctance of girls and women known to have been preyed upon or marked as victims to lay their cases before the District Attorney's office has impeded progress.

The stories of Miss Duncan and Mrs. Douglas were heard by Fitts and Joos after the statements of Clara Tautrim and her mother. Miss Duncan recited in detail the clever plot engineered by Detectives Berenzweig, Hoskins and Harris, in which she played the leading role. From the time that the want ad was placed in a newspaper in the hope of establishing a connection with Clarke to the time when detectives and a Times reporter broke simultaneously through door and window of Clarke's apartment at 425 South Fremont street, in time to save her from the love master, the girl recounted her experiences with the man.

Mrs. Douglas followed with a characteristic tale of Clarke's activities, which, as usual, began with a want ad in a local newspaper. Her statement, which differs from others of a similar nature in that the love physician made particularly obscene proposals to her, was recorded as pertinent evidence.

ARRAIGNMENT TODAY

The filing of the complaint against Clarke and his arraignment, which is scheduled for today, have in no way halted the investigations of the authorities. The names of a number of women, among them several known to possess considerable wealth, are in the hands of the police, and these cases will be followed through as far as possible.

Simultaneously, a close check of Clarke's activities extending back over a period of a number of years, is being made.

Clarke's demeanor in Fitts's office in no way indicated that he is perturbed over the charges against him. He joked with other occupants of the room at the time and showed no discomfort in the presence of any of his accusers.

"WANTED WIFE"

"Most of them didn't keep their dates," he remarked once in reply to a question from Detective Berenzweig as to how many women he had love affairs with, "but when they didn't show up I went out and got another.

"What I wanted to do was get a wife. I didn't care if I had to marry her sixteen times. I wanted to transfer over to her my patents which will soon be in use by the government and which will bring me in $3000 a day."

Examination of Clarke was brief, Fitts desisting when Clarke refused to confine himself to the subject in hand, and the love physician was taken back to his cell in the City Jail to await arraignment.

Sues Man Who Made Complaint on Dance Hall

Charging Harry J. Tremain, hotel proprietor, with acting maliciously in causing the Police Commissioner to conduct hearings involving his dance hall at 213½ West Fourth street, Louis C. Dodelan yesterday filed suit against Tremain for $60,450 asserted damages.

Dodelan declared the defendant caused a complaint and affidavits to be issued stating that the plaintiff was conducting a disorderly business and that as a consequence the Police Commission conducted hearings to determine if the plaintiff's license should be revoked.

The matter was placed before the commission June 17, last, and the 1st inst., according to the complaint, which recited that the commission finally dismissed the complaint on the latter date.

Dodelan, whose action was prepared by Attorneys O. V. Willson and W. J. N. McCurdy, asked $50,000 compensatory damages, $10,000 for the loss of business he declared he sustained, and $450 for attorneys' fees.

DEMPSEY WILL GET X-RAY TEST

champion was apparently the most seriously injured.

The second car in the collision was driven by Thomas Jefferson Kemp, 2328 West Twenty-fifth street, Los Angeles. Kemp continued to Santa Ana, where he reported the accident to the police authorities and placed the blame on Dempsey's chauffeur. The chauffeur retaliated by blaming Kemp.

While Dempsey and his friends were applying first aid to their injuries W. N. Congdon, a garage owner of San Juan Capistrano, appeared and assisted the party in seeking transportation back to Santa Ana. Congdon stated that the Dempsey limousine was badly damaged and that the champion and his companions had miraculously escaped serious injuries.

At the scene of the collision yesterday morning, though the automobile had been dragged away by a tow-car, seventy-five feet of uprooted fence, great ditches torn in the earth, broken glass, a scattered deck of cards, a few 50-cent cigar butts and various broken pieces of the Rolls-Royce told a mute story of the collision.

Others in the overturned limousine were less seriously injured than Dempsey, according to Dr. Claire Wilson, who attended all members of the party. Florence Lee was suffering from nervousness and shock, the chauffeur was treated for a few minor cuts and bruises, and Teddy Hayes only had his hair mussed.

DOCTOR'S VERDICT

"Dempsey will be confined in bed for three days at least," Dr. Wilson stated last night. "X-ray photographs will be taken today to determine if there are any fractures. Also, there is a possibility that Dempsey has received internal injuries. This cannot be determined without an X-ray examination."

Though he insists that Kemp was responsible for the collision, Dempsey informed the Santa Ana authorities that he would take no legal action against the driver of the car that ruined his expensive Rolls-Royce.

The Pilgrimage Play has been given an official indorsement by the convention committee as one of the attractions to be recommended to the delegates and tomorrow night has been selected.

Tonight at the play is designated as Pasadena night, since a large excursion of Pasadena citizens is scheduled to attend in a body. This occasion will mark the first civic party from the Crown City to attend the play this season.

Employees of the Southern California Edison Company are planning to attend the play tomorrow evening, having reserved a large block of seats for the occasion.

Friday evening has been selected by the City Club, while members of the Wilshire-Boulevard Church congregation are also planning to see the play that same evening. Students of the University of California will attend in a body on Thursday night.

SHOWMAN IS HELD UNDER LABOR LAW

Actresses Take Action to Get Pay Declared Due on Contract

George H. Oswald, the contractor who abandoned the job of paving streets to go into the show production business, was arraigned before Police Judge Chambers yesterday and held under $2000 trust bond on four counts charging violation of the State labor law. His case will be set for trial tomorrow.

It is charged in the four complaints issued by the City Prosecutor's office against Oswald that he failed to pay thirty-one actresses whom he had engaged to appear in a production which was to be known as "Mademoiselle Magnificent." Complaints also were issued against Dick Castle, who was to have managed the production, and Mrs. Ann Small, who was to have produced it. They have not been arrested.

The complaints against Oswald are signed by Billie Benton, Ethel Moore, Goldie Reeves and Helen Herr. Deputy City Prosecutor Concannon, who is handling the case, stated that about $7000 is due the actresses. The complaints were issued after the actresses had appealed to the State Labor Commission for help in collecting their salaries. Oswald maintains that he would have made good all claims against him but for the premature demands made upon him.

Mrs Cody No. 8 Seeks to Annul Marriage Pact

The eighth wife of Carl Edward Cody, who is serving a term in San Quentin on a bigamy charge, filed suit for annulment of her marriage yesterday in the Superior Court at Visalia. Mrs. Cody, 35 years of age, was formerly Gilberta Mae Ogan, a trained nurse of Tulare.

In her complaint Mrs. Cody asserts she married Cody October 3, 1923, in Oakland, after a swift courtship without knowing of his previous marriages. At that time, she said, Cody declared he was a law student at the University of California, and the scion of a wealthy eastern family. She charges also that Cody was a dope addict, and plied her with narcotics to persuade her to marry him.

Cody's arrest and subsequent conviction came as the result of the discovery by Mrs. Cody No. 8 of his previous marriages without being divorced, it was brought out in court here on June 17 last, when he was sentenced to from one to ten years.

RADIO SET LAWSUIT

Purchaser Sues When He is Unable to Get Distant Points

Because he could not "get" long-distance broadcasting stations on his radio set, according to his complaint, Fred W. Morrison, an attorney, was in Judge Shortall's court yesterday seeking to recover $190.50 from Calvin F. Baker and the Electric Lighting Supply Company, from whom Morrison said he purchased the set. Morrison declared the defendants guaranteed he could get the long-distance stations, but he said it developed the only long-distance station he could reach on the set was Oakland. He asked that the purchase contract be rescinded.

Morrison obtained judgment in a Justice Court hearing of the case but the defendants appealed the decision to the Superior Court.

BANDIT SUSPECT TO BE BROUGHT FROM TEXAS

Assistant Captain of Detectives Cato announced yesterday he will send two officers to Houston, Tex., to bring back E. N. ("Jack") Martin, bandit suspect under arrest in that city. Martin, according to police, was an accomplice of George H. Colpe, who was shot to death by Patrolman H. L. Brown while he was fleeing from the home of C. L. Miller at 1237 West Fifty-second street, which he had ransacked. Martin, who was with Colpe at the time, escaped and fled to Texas, according to police.

DRY CATCH MADE FOR PORTLAND

Suspect is Said to Have Carried on Wholesale Liquor Smuggling

A launch and a number of motor cars were used in bootlegging operations which resulted in the indictment a year ago at Portland of John R. O'Neel and Earl Beck on a charge of conspiracy to violate the Volstead Act and the Tariff Act, according to Agent Meehan of the Department of Justice, who arrested O'Neel here yesterday. The defendant is held in the Los Angeles County Jail pending receipt of a certified copy of the indictment.

Government agents and police in every West Coast city have been searching for O'Neel during the last twelve months, Agent Wheeler, in charge of the Bureau of Investigation, reported. Information from the authorities at Portland is that O'Neel and Beck, his cousin, conducted a wholesale liquor-smuggling business between Vancouver and Portland. Beck was apprehended soon after the indictment was returned June 28, 1923, it was reported.

O'Neel was arrested on a downtown street by Agent Meehan, assisted by Detective Reimer of the Los Angeles police.

The Federal officers at Portland reported that O'Neel is a member of a prominent family in that city. It is said that he has been known under numerous aliases, among which were John Howe and John Fisher.

PROMOTER PAIR HELD UNDER SECURITIES ACT

John Saxon Porter and Leslie J. Graham, promoters, were arraigned yesterday before Judge Keetch in Superior Court on an indictment charging them with violating the Corporate Securities Act. The pair were asserted to have offered promotion stock in the Dixie Gasoline Company for sale without first having obtained permission of the Corporation Commissioner. Judge Keetch fixed bail at $2500 each and set next Thursday as the date for hearing the pleas of the accused pair.

Inspection

Los Angeles has held her head high.

She has made one of the world's famous sales organizations wonder how she can lead the field so often.

Next January the famous Hundred Point Club of that organization (N C R,) more than 500 strong, is coming here to find out.

There is nothing for Los Angeles to do but to keep up her reputation and break all records for the last six months of 1924.

Not for anything can the fame of Los Angeles be allowed to trail in the dust when these 500 men go back to their 250 American branches.

TAKES A SHINE

The excuse is made that a rolling stone acquires polish though it gathers no moss. Hardly anybody wishes to be picked out as a mossback, anyhow.

NOBODY LOVES AN UMPIRE

It is mighty seldom that the umpire at a baseball game gets a hand. About the best thing he can expect is a pop bottle. He must needs be an artful dodger to escape that.

DONE IN CASTILE

The cleanest street in the world is said to be the Via Castile, in Seville, Spain. There must be a whole lot in the name. With a bottom of Castile soap it must needs be pure.

SHORT WAY OUT

Civil service doesn't mean anything to politicians. When an administration desires to be rid of a man who holds an appointment under service regulations they achieve it by the simple device of formally abolishing the office he fills. This automatically removes him from the pay roll and the next month they create the same job under another name. It is as simple as a game of stud poker.

FIGHT PROHIBITION

The United States is not the only country whose citizens hold a prejudice against prize fights. A big fight between an Austrian and an Italian has just been called off in Vienna, after the men had been trained in public, tickets sold and great expense incurred. Public opinion ran so high against the professional match that the authorities called it off "for reasons of public safety."

A LIFE SAVER

A man with a cork leg found it difficult to commit suicide by drowning. The floating cork leg had a tendency to keep his head beneath the waves, but it also furnished a rallying point for the rescuers. It was about the same as if he had lit a beacon. The rescuers would sight the spot by the wobbly cork and, although the unhappy man sought to fend them away with his other limb, he was wrested from the waves and piled, panting, on the wharf. There is no particular moral to this incident except that if a person is really determined to commit suicide by drowning he should first unscrew such cork legs as he may have attached to his person.

JAPANESE PLANS

There is an intimation that many of the Japanese dwellers in this State are negotiating for the purchase of thousands of acres of lands in the Mississippi River delta. Under existing laws they cannot acquire title in this State, but there are great possibilities for them in Mississippi and Louisiana. Conditions for raising rice and all vegetables are excellent, and the larger markets of New Orleans and St. Louis are within reach. If all the speculation materializes into fact there may be an exodus of Japanese gardeners from California into the Mississippi bottoms. When they are gone we will realize how much we miss them. It is likely that when it comes to snaffling green goods we will pay even more than we are doing now.

THE STRENGTH OF HUMAN WILL

Moses Juda Wundermann, age 63, born in a little town in Galicia, who never went to school and lived in the direst poverty throughout his youth, has just received his degree as a doctor of philosophy at the Vienna University.

As a grown man he began his own education, teaching himself. In 1915, during the Russian invasion, he fled to Austria. There, at the age of 52, he went to high school and commercial college simultaneously. In 1918 he passed the examination for a teacher in mathematics. In 1920 he passed the examination for a rabbi. And this year, at the age of 63, he stands forth labeled a highly educated man.

No obstacle can defeat the strength of human will power and the capability of a brain worker.

A COMMON SCOLD

A woman has just been sentenced to one year's imprisonment in Trenton, N. J., for being a common scold.

This is an interesting revival. For a long time now scolding, especially from public platforms, has not only been patiently tolerated, but has become accepted as a professional privilege. The Rev. Billy Sunday, for instance, raised scolding to a rhetorical art.

Certain members of drama leagues and art and music interests and other highbrow enthusiasts have been getting away with the most amazing public scolding from platforms. Even politicians have a wonderful time scolding one another or scolding Europe or scolding the electorate or scolding official incumbents of coveted jobs. In fact, we can almost be divided into two classes, the scolders and the scolded.

We are not informed to what extremes the Trenton offender went to arouse judicial wrath or whom she scolded; but why single her out for punishment?

PENALIZING THE INNOCENT

Of recent years there have been installed in many of the larger banks of this country impregnable vaults built by the use of special steels and alloys impervious to attack by the cutting torch. As these vaults are built in huge proportions, in some cases with doors four feet thick and weighing over 100 tons, their use has led to the development of large manufacturing plants, and the resultant cost of all this special preparation for turning them out is great, running up to many thousands of dollars.

In the immense outlay necessary to thwart "the felonious little plans" of safe breakers, an outlay that must ultimately be charged to the patrons of the bank, though of course indirectly, one sees a new and striking illustration of how the innocent are penalized by the acts of the unregenerate. Banks could afford to pay a higher rate of interest on deposits and to charge a lesser rate to borrowers did they not have to expend so much money to outwit safe-breakers, to suffer great losses from banditry and embezzlement and to pay watchmen and detectives.

The householder is penalized in a smaller but none the less burdensome manner, by being obliged to have locks, bolts and other fastenings on his doors and windows, and, if he can afford it, he has an expensive burglar alarm or a private watchman. This constitutes a considerable tax upon his resources—a tax which he pays often without thought, but nevertheless a tax or tribute to crime. If a man is in business he must have a machine to prevent check-raising. Often he pays large premiums for insurance against the theft of his goods, or of valuable tools, implements or other property.

Since the advent of the automobile the innocent, inoffensive citizen has found himself penalized in a new way. In former years he took little thought of the action of the law with respect to himself. He knew intuitively what was right and what was wrong and was not hampered at every turn of a wheel by the dismaying thought that he was likely to fracture some rule of the traffic which carried with it a penalty, but the traffic laws, primarily made to curb the reckless, are daily proving an irritating handicap to the careful. A careful motorist can safely drive his car thirty-five miles an hour on the highway, but as a reckless one cannot do so, the careful man must drive at a lower speed. Also he is penalized by having to observe school and boulevard stops. Not in fifty years, with or without traffic laws, would he run down a child near a school crossing or ram into a boulevard from a side street directly in front of another machine proceeding along it, but as the reckless driver can be depended upon to do so, your careful driver must stop, even though while he is stopping he sees some moron in a swiftly-driven motor car dash across the dead line, with no thought of even slowing down in his mad career.

But these latter are small considerations compared with what the innocent must suffer in the way of high taxes for police protection, judicial administration to build and maintain great Federal, State and city prisons and to clothe and feed their inmates. Often it costs thousands of dollars to run down and capture some sleek criminal, and the bulk of this money is paid by the honest taxpayer. True the fines imposed upon lawbreakers somewhat lessen the tax, but these are inconsiderable compared with the total cost of crime. And it affords the innocent but poor comfort to reflect that this condition always has prevailed and always must prevail as long as there are offenders against the law. How to lessen the number of these offenders is a study upon which the keenest intelligence of our great social order well may be concentrated. Civilization has triumphed over many untoward conditions, but it has yet to achieve any great success in the one which results in the penalization of those who would abide by the law.

THE FALSE PROPHETS

Again the venerable law of supply and demand has routed the politicians. The Democratic and La Follette campaigns were based only a month ago on the discontent in the grain belt. Prices were low and the farmers were assured that the Republican party was to blame. But before the campaigns were fairly launched the prices of wheat, corn, oats and rye have taken an upward turn. These products now bring more in the field than the farmers expected to get by the legislation their pretended friends proposed.

Congress did nothing. The agricultural bills were left on the table. But just as the indignation of the farmers was beginning to kindle prices began to climb. No one seems to know just why; but the fact remains that the rise in prices during the last six weeks will put more than $1,000,000,000 into the pockets of the farmers.

This is brought about through no government subsidy. The farmers are not the recipients of charity. There is no guaranteed price for grain. But farm products are again selling at a price that gives a fair profit to the producer.

And the opposition politicians are tearing their hair. Their whole plan of campaign must be altered. The farmers are no longer sore at the government. They are more likely to eulogize Coolidge than to censor him. They have good and sufficient proof that the Farmer-Labor propagandists were wrong; that they did not know what they were talking about when they blamed the government for the price of wheat and corn.

Conditions have righted themselves without governmental interference. And that is as it should be. Government interference serves nearly always to disorganize economic conditions. The people do and should support the government; for government is necessary to modern society; but it is an error to hold that the government can and should support the people.

To grow and prosper industry must be free. Both agriculture and manufacturing must be self-supporting. Laws which give to all an equal opportunity are essential to just government; but when the laws are so drawn that they discriminate either for or against any class or group they cease to be just and become tyrannical.

Equality of opportunity is guaranteed by the present Republican tariffs, which are so adjusted that they equalize the cost of production here and abroad. The new departure, permitting the President to change rates when economic conditions change, has worked well. The old defect of fixed rates when conditions change has been remedied. And it is doubtless because the economic scales are properly adjusted that a new era of prosperity has dawned.

Most of the opposition to the present administration is based on class and group discontent over things that it is not in the power of a government to remedy. A prosperous summer is always fatal to Democratic campaigns. Education plays its part; for the people have come to be able to judge between reason and fallacy. And the confidence of the country as a whole that the present administration will remain in office has much to do with present prosperity.

He Delivers the Goods

THE "COSMIC" SPIDER

From evidence already gathered and checked, the police have apparently unearthed an unusually pitiful combination of weakness and depravity in the conduct of the so-called Church of Cosmic Truth.

The operation of this pitfall, where the credulous were bled white and the unwary were stained scarlet, was in the sole hands of John Bertrum Clarke. He posed as a cosmic prophet. In reality, he was a cosmic spider.

Whether he has actually broken any specific law or statute of this State or nation has yet to be proved or disproved. That he has broken the law of God is beyond dispute.

Every once in a while these pitiful exhibitions of human weakness are dragged forth into the light of day. Nothing but an almost incredible and wide-spread stupidity could have enabled this false apostle to attain the commercial success that, till the police intervened, crowned his venture.

Nothing but an easy acquiescence—that almost passed the bounds of innocence—could have induced so many victims to accept his obviously worthless self-indited marriage certificates.

For this creature of indecent motives cloaked in a spurious religious cult had none of the gifts or personality or attractions generally the stock-in-trade of all false prophets and libertines who prey on the susceptibilities of women.

He was no Adonis, to catch the butterfly with the charm of youth. He was no Beau Brummel, to hold admirers by the polish of a well-groomed grace of manner. He was no Socrates to dominate the souls of inspired pupils with his assumption of supernal wisdom. He was no Cicero, to rouse emotion in bursts of fiery eloquence.

He was just corpulent, putty-faced, middle-aged mediocrity. His only accomplishments were to make vulgar and violent love to unknown women on first acquaintance and to keep a card index.

"Will you walk into my parlor?" said the spider to the fly. And in what numbers the foolish flies seem always ready to accept the invitation!

DEBASING THE SOLITUDES

The millions of motor tourists who ramble the country over, especially at this season of the year, in their covered gasoline wagons, are rousing the ire of the settlers en route just as intensely as the pioneers enraged the Indians in the days of '49. Human nature changes little, whether one rides in a flivver or behind a team of oxen.

The Indians welcomed the oncoming wagon trains at first, until their occupants slaughtered the buffalo indiscriminately. The modern caravans start camp fires in the forests, which they lack the manners and intelligence to put out on leaving, litter the forests with junk and carve their initials all over the stately firs and pines. Game laws are broken by amateur hunters who take pot shots at any animal that appears to be edible and kill many that are not, merely for the wanton pleasure of slaying. But it is the shattering of their peaceful quiet to which the solitude-loving residents of the lonesome places off beaten trails object, as well as the jar to the esthetic eye the average overladen decrepit automobile presents to those who are accustomed to viewing Nature in her wildest mood.

According to some of the disgruntled mountaineers there is no place so far off the beaten trails and boulevards in Oregon and Washington that a man can escape the cruising automobile. Railroads, telephone and telegraph began the civilizing and connecting up of the great open spaces. Henry has completed it. Those who love not their fellow-man, but prefer Nature's solitude, can find no mountain peak secure from the invasion of phonographs and radios carried by auto caravans. The great West, says an old-timer, is now too effete, and pioneering souls will have to move on to Siberia or some other of the far-flung spaces where civilization has not smoothed off all life's rough edges.

THE SAGE OF CALABASAS

Did you know that—

The new paving at Hill and Second streets, in place only a few months, has been torn up four times since it was laid?

There are more kinds of new automatic traffic signals on trial around town than anybody imagined existed a few months ago?

The bathing season has been opened several weeks without a sign of the usual movement to make bathing costumes more modest?

The number of idiots who start forest fires is increasing more rapidly than the population of Siam?

The fad for making home-brewed beer is as extinct as the hair rat?

A great many things about the home and the automobile could still be repaired with hairpins if there were still any hairpins.

The words "horseless carriage" have not been seen in print for more than twenty years except in quotation marks?

This is the only department of any newspaper that has never discussed how to reform the motion pictures?

RIPPLING RHYMES

SPOILING A KINDNESS

I called on Charles H. Gander and asked him for a loan; "So help me, Alexander," I said, "I need a bone;" he sighed, with cruel candor, "You make my spirit groan. The times are hard as thunder and plunks are far between; I have small store of plunder, my bank account is lean, and it would seem a blunder to ask me for long green. My wife and children holler for kopecks from my till and every measly caller, it seems, presents a bill; but here's a hard-earned dollar, your long-felt want to fill." I went away repining and shed a furtive tear, for Gander's plaintive whining was very sad to hear; one's features should be shining when busted friends are near. If one would do a favor it should be done with zest; a kindness should not savor of gloom and thoughts depressed; produce a smile and wave her and perpetrate a jest. But on a gladsome morrow the luck was mine again; I shook off all my sorrow and brandished franc and yen; and Gander came to borrow a brace of iron men. For he was sorely busted, no assets did he own; the oil concern he trusted made off with every bone; and, weary and disgusted, he asked me for a loan. "If money's what you're seeking," I said, "you've found the place; with coin I'm fairly reeking, my wealth is a disgrace; so wipe those teardrops streaking adown your furrowed face."

THEIR MAIN JOB IS DONE NOW

The Democrats by a dead lift effort have solved the worst of their convention problems and have nothing to do now but pick a candidate for President. That will be easy, of course; their real job was to pick a keynoter and that they have accomplished. He is Senator Pat Harrison of Mississippi.

It is universally conceded that the principal business of a national convention is to produce a keynote. The keynote is the speech of the temporary presiding officer, and he sounds it when he takes the chair. The delegates do not know what they are there for, they do not know what their party doctrine is, they do not know what the issues of the campaign are to be until they hear the keynote. After hearing it they never make any mistake; they frame the right platform, they do all things in a beautiful harmony and nominate exactly the logical and inevitable candidate. Such is the compelling power of a keynote. Nobody ever heard of a party being defeated when it had a right keynote.—[Kansas City Star.

LETTERS TO The Times

The Einstein Theory

LOS ANGELES, July 18.—[To the Editor of The Times:] The three political parties, namely, the Democratic, Progressive and Republican, have held their conventions and are now about to begin a torrid battle for the election of their nominees to the Presidency of these United States.

According to my belief the Democratic convention with its various proceedings killed whatever chance the Democrats ever had. In the first place, any party which cannot name a President within two weeks does not possess sufficient control. Secondly, the religious issue raised was a disastrous factor. The bitterness engendered leaves a wreckage that cannot be cleared. Thirdly, the nominating of Davis was fatal. Davis is a member of the House of Morgan.

The Progressives, headed by La Follette, will, in my opinion, fare no better. La Follette, it is true, will poll a great many votes from both Republican and Democratic camps and will be supported by labor, but in spite of all, he will go down a vanquished man. La Follette was counting on many votes from the agricultural section, because of low prices of crops, but, due to circumstances the prices of wheat, corn and oats have mounted and this source of votes is now closed.

While the Republicans will have to bear more pressure than usual due to the entrance of a third factor, they will emerge victorious.

ROBERT E. EINSTEIN.

How Investors Feel

LOS ANGELES, July 19.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Articles of Thursday last, and of today in The Times relative to "Our Slumbering Council," remind me of conversations I had last year with clients of mine, eastern capitalists and investors, who said: "The trouble with your Los Angeles is that yours is a sleepy city in regards to improvements; you are only thinking and talking while we in the East in the same time are acting and accomplishing." "How do you expect us to invest here when you are Philadelphing—all your time asleep, doing nothing." "In Detroit," one of them said to me, "I bought a lot, knowing that the street would be improved. Paid $75,000. At the time negotiations and sale went through and plans prepared, the improvements were nearly ready and I started to build, and by the time the building was ready, the improvements and half a dozen other buildings were ready and occupied. What would it be here? They would still be thinking of making the proposed improvements."

One little instance: Moneta avenue, south of Manchester, to Ninety-second street, came into the city limits of Los Angeles many years ago and is intended to be paved. Plans are ready for it. One technicality holds back the work. It is necessary that an appropriation be made by the City Council for such correction and this appropriation was [illegible] middle of 1922, [illegible] owners begging for it.

Q.: Who wrote "The Night Before Christmas?" A. G. R.

A.: The correct name of the poem, "The Night Before Christmas," is "A Visit From St. Nicholas." This was written by Clement C. Moore, an American poet and educator, at New York City, in 1822. Q.: What is a "philharmonic" and a "symphony" orchestra, and what is chamber music? E. J. M.

A.: The word "philharmonic" is from the Greek, meaning "loving harmony." The word "symphony" means "full tone." Either may be applied to an orchestra which gives elaborate programs, arranged for the full number of musical instruments to make a complete harmony. Chamber music is usually more simple and adapted to a few pieces which are more often stringed than wind instruments.

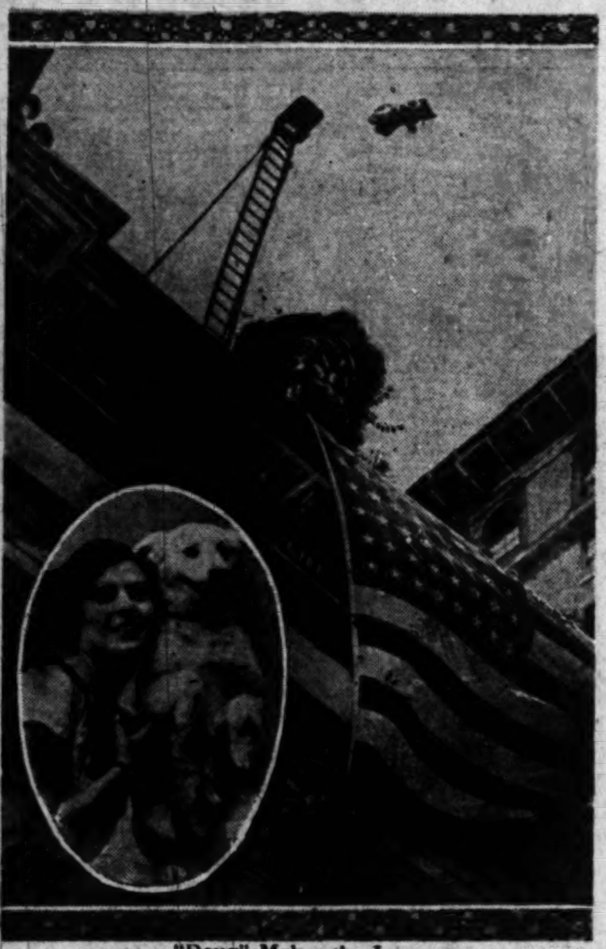
DAREDEVIL DOG THRILLS CROWD

Jump to Street Swells Lorain Fund



"Doug" Makes the Leap

The young woman imparting encouragement is Marguerita de Levette.

WHETHER he's a sure-enough canine or a member of the flying-squirrel family is a matter of some doubt to "Doug Fairbanks," dog actor, whose specialty is high diving, a pursuit he has followed for seven years without breaking his neck.

Yesterday "Doug" assisted in raising money for the Lorain (O.) tornado victims, by leaping sixty feet from a ladder on the roof of the Biltmore court to the sidewalk below in the presence of a crowd of some 4000 spectators, who gave vent to a composite gasp when the dog struck the canvas spread out to receive him.

The demonstration was conducted under the auspices of the Ohio State Society of Los Angeles, which is conducting a drive to raise funds for the Lorain sufferers.

Doug is a medium-sized dog of the Eskimo-Spitz brand. He belongs to B. Bernard, a trainer of dogs, who has a pack of sixteen animals, trained to do stunts of different kinds for exhibition purposes. Doug is the champion canine high-diver of the world. His trainer started him out on his perilous career when the animal was a year old.

In addition to being a high diver, Doug is a first-class climber of ladders. He climbed the sixteen-foot perpendicular ladder on the dizzy edge of the Biltmore roof yesterday without any assistance except a little encouragement from Miss Marguerite de Levette, local dancer, who was at the foot of the ladder.

His ascent was deliberate, with a brief interval for breath between each rung, and when he reached the little platform at the top Doug paused for nearly a minute, coolly surveying the throng beneath him.

His trainer was on the sidewalk below and when he shouted, "Get ready, Doug," the dog instantly gathered his four legs beneath him for a spring into the atmosphere.

"One!" counted the trainer. "Two! Three!" and without a second's hesitation the dog hurled himself into the air spreadeagled, landing in the center of the canvas amid a cloud of dust and the vociferous applause of the spectators.

Don't Forget the Cause

Proud and pompous, the doctor was strolling down the street, when he was spoken to by a poor woman.

"Good morning, sir," remarked the latter.

"Good morning, madam," replied the M.D.

"I expect you are making a good thing out of fattening to that rich Smith boy?" suggested the lady.

"Oh, yes, a fairly good fee," replied the doctor, somewhat angrily.

"Well," whispered the lady, "I hope you won't forget that it was my Willie who threw the brick that hit him."—[Unidentified.

CONSTABLE IS SOUGHT

Charged with leaving a camp fire burning in Santa Ynez Canyon in Santa Barbara county, Steve Jackson, veteran constable of Santa Monica township, was being sought yesterday on a bench warrant issued in the northern county and filed with County Fire Warden Flintham for service. Two deputies were sent to Santa Monica yesterday afternoon to take Jackson into custody. The offense of which Jackson is accused is punishable by a fine of $500 or 500 days in the County Jail.

PUBLIC PHONES SOUGHT

Compton is to have public pay telephones installed throughout the city if the application of the Consolidated Utilities Company of Compton, which was filed with the State Railroad Commission yesterday, is granted. The company asks the commission for authority to install pay telephones at various points in the district it serves and to charge a 5-cent toll for local call service.

BUNKO MAN SENTENCED

Marco D. Fasola was sentenced to serve a term of 180 days in the City Jail yesterday by Police Judge Crawford. He had been convicted of bunko. It was charged that he sold an investment business to J. A. Reddy after representing that it had been operaitng for some years. The business, however, had been in existence only two months.

ACCUSED OF HORSE THEFT

Complaints charging grand larceny and embezzlement were issued yesterday by Dept. Dist.-Atty. Murray against T. E. Davis and H. B. Morley, accused of horse theft. They are charged with renting two horses valued at $100 each from the Griffith Park Riding Academy and of failing to return the animals.

BIGAMY SUSPECT HELD

Max Reiber was held to answer yesterday by Justice Blake on a charge of bigamy. Bail was set at $5000. Reiber is charged with marrying Alice Jackson in San Diego two months after he deserted his wife and six children in Los Angeles.

FINDS WOMEN'S LETTERS

Five letters from five different women, varying only in degree of warmth, were found by Mrs. Bessie E. Campbell by "fishing" in her husband's pockets, she declared in a suit for divorce from William Campbell, filed yesterday.

ANNEXATIONS CERTIFIED

The City Council yesterday formally certified that annexation had carried at the recent special elections in Wagner, Fairfax and Santa Monica Canyon additions, thus clearing the way for the taking over of these districts by the Los Angeles city government.

Not Willing to Go

An irritable old sportsman was aroused from his bed at 3 o'clock in the morning by the insistent ringing of his door bell. On answering it he found a man struggling hard to maintain his equilibrium.

"What do you mean by waking me up at this hour?"

"Ish you Mr. Smithers?"

"Yes, yes. What of it?"

"Ish you the gent what advertised for a partner to go lion huntin' in Africa?"

"Yes, I'm the man. What do you want to know about it?"

She: Well?

He: Well, I didn't promise, did I? You were the one that did that. I presume I have the right to ask you a civil question, have I not, without running the risk of being dragged into court?—[Exchange.

Unaccommodating Pill

A doctor brought a dyspeptic farmer a big brown pill. "I want you to try this pill at bedtime," he said. "It's a new treatment, and if you can retain it on your stomach it ought to cure you."

The next day the doctor called again. "Did you manage to retain that pill on your stomach? he asked eagerly.

"Well, the pill was all right as long as I kept awake," said the farmer, "but every time I fell asleep it rolled off."—[Unidentified.

FORD MUST GUARD HIS LAURELS

Baby Can Name Every Car She Sees

Jean Bargy

IF LITTLE Jean Bargy were a boy she probably would grow up to be an automobile magnate eclipsing Henry Ford. Although only 4 years of age, this young lady can tell the make of any car she sees.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Bargy of Chicago, who are now at the Biltmore. Mr. Bargy is a musician and an ardent auto fan. Jean has accompanied her parents on many motor tours, the latest being the trip to California. She has heard auto talk ever since she can remember.

The result is that she probably knows more about gas wagons than any other infant in the United States. "One of the diversions on our tour to California was to have Jean name the cars we passed," said Mr. Bargy. "'That's a Dodge,' she would say, or 'there's a Packard' or 'here comes a Ford.' The only machine that stumped her was a Rolls-Royce which we passed just as we were leaving Albuquerque."

Little Miss Barby is more than ordinarily intelligent in other ways besides being able to tell the makes of cars. At the hotel her eyes and ears are wide open all the time learning all she can about every new object that comes under her observation. It keeps her governess on the verge of nervous prostration all the time answering the child's questions and trying to prevent her getting lost on her numerous expeditions of investigation.

NOTASEME

ICE

The STONE LINED ICE BOX SAVES Ice Bills

The temperature of stone does not fluctuate quickly with surrounding changes. If during the dinner hour your refrigerator is opened twenty times, which it often is, the lining comes in contact with warm air every time it is opened. Does this contact with warm air affect your refrigerator? It will most ice boxes. But the Belding Hall Notaseme is lined with stone—stone holds its temperature—a few seconds contact with warm air does not change the inside temperature. This is what keeps the ice from melting in a Notaseme. Ice that lasts twice as long cuts ice bills in half.

The saving in ice bills is only part of the service of a NOTASEME. This clean cool refrigerator keeps dainty deserts at an even low temperature, making them firm and appetising at the time of serving. The rounded corners of The NOTASEME refrigerator make the collection of dirt impossible. The inside of a NOTASEME is always spotlessly white.

Time to Face the Facts

"So much has been said against the use of patent medicines that I have had a strong prejudice against them. But after four years doctoring with six different doctors, without results, for acute indigestion, gastritis, constipation, appendicitis and other ailments I was said to possess, I was encouraged to try Mayr's Wonderful Remedy, seeing what it had done for a friend similarly afflicted. I also was entirely relieved of my trouble, and am sure this medicine will do all and more than is claimed for it." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. At all druggists.—[Advertisement.

SOCIETY

BY JUANA NEAL LEVY

The marriage of Miss Janet Benedict, daughter of Mrs. Laura Benedict of Tacoma, to Earl H. Boogar, son of Mrs. Harry Boogar of South Hobart Boulevard, was solemnized last evening in the Church of the Messiah, Wilshire Boulevard, Rev. Edward D. Gaylord officiating. The church was beautifully decorated with a profusion of ferns, potted plants and summer flowers, and the dainty bride, who was given in marriage by her mother, wore a becoming gown of white crepe satin, cut on simple lines, her veil of tulle being held in place by orange blossoms and also caught to the train by the same flowers. Mrs. Harry B. Lehmberg assisted as matron of honor, wearing a gown of sea-green georgette over metal cloth, with trimming of clipped ostrich and silver. Miss Marian Boogar, sister of the bridegroom, in peach georgette, was maid of honor, while Miss Helen Dook, the bridesmaid, wore pale poudre blue georgette with trimmings of cream-colored lace. They carried arm showers of sweet peas and maidenhair ferns. Little Isobel Hall was the dainty flower girl and George Struble carried the ring. Jack Toon served Mr. Boogar as best man and the ushers were Dion Romandy and Henry R. Gillingham. Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bridegroom's mother, where the decorations were carried out in white and green. Mr. and Mrs. Boogar are motoring in the north on their honeymoon and will be at home in Los Angeles after August 25. The bride, who attended University of California, Southern Branch, is a member of the Sigma Alpha Kappa Sorority and had been the motif for numerous charmingly arranged affairs prior to the wedding. Mrs. Benedict received her guests in a gown of poudre blue, heavily beaded, and Mrs. Boogar wore a gown of violet lace with silver trimmings.

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

Keep Away From Trouble

Don't take a chance with very fine silks and muslins, but iron them with a piece of cambric laid over them.

The Soap Shaker

No kitchen is complete without a soap shaker. All bits of soap that accumulate in the house may be put therein, and a few shakes in the dish water will mean a lovely lather. All boiling down of soap is avoided if this utensil is used.

Copying Filet Patterns

It is pretty difficult to copy filet lace patterns from newspaper diagrams, and perhaps the easiest method on the eyes is to draw a pencil through each line as it is finished.

Good for You

Stewed rhubarb is so good for the system that we like to see each member of the family eating more. Sometimes a dab of whipped cream on the serving will do the trick.

Nonsinking Raisins

Before putting raisins in cakes or puddings, try rolling them in butter. This will prevent them from sinking to the bottom.

A Pleasant Method

One well-known authority on household lore claims a piece of candy when she is dead tired from housework perks her up to her usual speed.

Prevents Tarnishing

Put a piece of camphor away with that silver that is to be stored while you are away. Then it will be shiny and bright when you return home.

In Lieu of a Screw Driver

So often the screws in eyeglasses become loose and we have no screw driver small enough to tighten them. A steel pen or the end of a cuticle knife will answer the purpose.

Keep the Door Closed

Persons who store rather large quantities of potatoes and apples in their cellars should keep the door of the cellar closed on warm days when the temperature outside is much higher than that where the vegetables are stored. Open doors will cause the potatoes and fruit to sweat, which means eventual decay and rot.

In the Tea Canister

LITTLE ECSTASIES

The big Japanese liner was in port. They were included in a company of citizens invited down to dine and celebrate. Six years before this liner's sister ship had brought them home from travel honeymoon.

And the ship was decorated in the entrancing Japanese way, just as that other ship had been decorated for the farewell dinner the night before landing six years before. The Japanese orchestra played gay dance music. The Japanese crew staged a wrestling match. And a full moon shed its radiance over a still Pacific ocean.

Presently they wandered to a deserted part of the ship. She ventured to squeeze his arm.

"Gee, I love the smell of bilge water," he said.

"So do I," she breathed ecstatically.

A short, podgy, unpoetic figure of a man. He stood on the heights of a rolling hill that reach right down to the ocean's edge. Fine winding roads, cleverly planned, expensively made, stretched out round the hills beneath him. Trees and palms had been planted. A vast dream of a beautiful town to rise there, homes to be built to enjoy the matchless inspiration of that view.

A tremendous monetary investment in the faith of an ideal. But it wasn't selling. Buyers came, admired, even raved in ecstasy, but failed to purchase. The dream was too fine for them. Something on flat land, near the city, good business property, sure increase in values, that was the common sense thing.

"God, but it's beautiful," sighed the podgy little man. "And I'll be broke and dead before it gets them," he added with a crooked smile.

A dilapidated woman in a street car, quite unlovely. A nervous young mother with a crying 2-year-old on her lap sat next. Mother getting desperate, small boy unappeasable.

"Look what I got in my bag," coaxed the dilapidated specimen. And pretty soon the irascible small boy was sitting on her lap, and turning her poverty-stricken bag inside out and gurgling with delight. The mother relaxed with infinite relief.

"You sure got a way with children," she remarked gratefully.

"He does seem to like me, don't he?" murmured the dilapidated one in ecstatic surprise. "I passed my block quite a while ago, but I ain't going to leave him till you gets off," she beamed.

A sullen small boy sat in the back of the automobile, with all the baggage piled around him. They must have come a long way in that dusty, comfortless machine. Father at the wheel looked worried. Mother, by his side, just looked tired and wretched.

"Hullo, buddy, cheer up," called the traffic cop as they turned on Broadway. "Long ride from Texas, eh?"

"Gosh, ma, he was talking to me," grinned the small boy, instantly alert. "He was, ma, really. I'm a-agoing to say 'hello' back to him."

And as they drove out of sight, father was smiling, mother was laughing and a reckless small boy was waving his hand at a cop.

Nothing much ever happened to Luella, way off in the small desert town. So one day she timidly wrote to a man whose writing she admired on a big city newspaper.

And he answered the letter. That was three years ago and it is still one of her most precious treasures. A bit frayed and dirty, because it has been handled so often.

"Fancy him troubling to answer me and him such a great man," she beamed in radiant ecstasy.

WIFE SAYS ANGELENO IS TEN-DAY HUSBAND

Henry Priesmar was a ten-day husband, Mrs. Clara Heacox Priesman declared yesterday in filing suit for an annulment and a judgment for $125. He married her June 18, she said, and left her the 28th after borrowing $125 from her and failing to return it. The marriage was founded on false pretenses, she asserts. She declares he was married once before, also, and lived with his wife but ten days on that occasion.

NATURAL FOOD AND VIRILITY (No. 2)

In yesterday's paper I gave you a partial resume of Dr. Robert McCarrison's lecture on his work in the Himalayas. He found there among the Himalayans many races who are of magnificent physique, unusual fertility and virility, preserving until late in life the characteristics of youth. He attributes their virility to the fact that they live on natural foods and that their manner of life requires vigorous exercises and that their religion prohibits the use of alcohol. One of the chiefs took the doctor to task for his eagerness to prolong the lives of some of his people. The operation for senile cataract appeared to the chief to be a waste of the doctor's time; and he tentatively suggested the introduction of some form of lethal chamber to remove those who by reason of their age were no longer of use to the community! There used to be a custom among some of the races which required the eldest son, on pain of death, to carry in a conical basket his aged and decrepit parents to the top of a high rock from which to hurl them to destruction. This custom died out only in recent years, under the protective influence of the British rule, and the proverb "Every man's basket for his son" still survives the custom.

The fact that the gastro-intestinal tract is the first function to suffer on an ill-balanced diet, McCarrison proved by experiments in the feeding of wild monkeys. Research workers in America have proved the same. Here's the description as given by McCarrison himself:

"Thirty-six wild monkeys were captured in the jungles of Madras and transported to my laboratory in the hills at Coonor. They were in perfect health and full of vigor—wild things usually are. Each of these animals was placed in a separate cage, and all were confined in the same room. One attendant looked after them all. Twelve of them were fed on natural food, the remaining twenty-four on food deficient in some cases in vitamins as well as ill balanced; others were fed on natural food in which the living essences had been destroyed by sterilization. Those that were naturally fed remained free from intestinal disease; those that were fed on deficient and ill-balanced food and on sterilized food developed, within a short time in the majority of cases, diarrhoea or actual dysentery. Here, then, is an unequivocal instance not only of the effect of faulty food in inducing a specific disease such as dysentery, but of the protection against it that is afforded by a natural and well-balanced food."

McCarrison also found in his animal experiments that the faulty diet not only had a very bad effect upon the digestive organs and the gastrointestinal tract, but it had very harmful effects upon those regulators of the body—the internal glands (the thyroid, pituitary, and so forth,) and there was a lowering of the activities of the liver. McCarrison believes that the prolonged use of a moderately faulty food will lead to disturbances in the system just as certain as the less prolonged use of a more faulty food. With the impairment of the gastrointestinal tract there is also a lowering of the resistance of the intestinal mucous membrane against infection. This not only results in infections of the mucous membrane itself, but also permits the germs to gain access to the blood stream. McCarrison's work and conclusions are supported by the work and conclusions of the nutritional experts in our country and elsewhere.

In the last part of the lecture, McCarrison presented evidence that faulty food is largely used by many civilized people at the present day. He concluded his lecture as follows:

"I trust I have said enough to serve as an introduction to the study of this important subject, than which there is none more worthy of the consideration of those whose life is spent, or to be spent, in guarding the national health. It seems to me that in regard to it we have three obvious duties; the first, to instruct the masses as to what to eat and why they eat it; the second, to apply he results of our science to the production of natural foods in abundance and to their widespread and cheap distribution, rather than to the election of institutions for the treatment of maladies due to their want; the third, and most important, ardently to pursue our investigations and acquirements of knowledge.

"'Let not him who seeketh, cease from seeking until he hath found, and when he hath found he shall wonder.'"

RUM CHARGE IN HILL, HILL DECREE SUIT

Wife Wins Divorce After Husband Accuses Her of Cruelty to Auto

The case of Hill vs. Hill, with testimony that smacked of the days when Hill and Hill rested in their rightful place behind and on the mahogany bar, was opened yesterday in Judge Craig's court.

William P. Hill sued Gertie Hill for divorce, seeking to dissolve the marital firm of Hill & Hill because, he asserted, Mrs. Hill was cruel to his automobile. The specific act of cruelty, he declared, was that she forced him ot keep his machine out in the weather in order that her son, by a former marriage, might keep his car in the garage.

Mrs. Hill came back with a cross-complaint charging her husband with habitual intoxication.

In proof, she declared her husband "bought bootleg whisky by the barrel."

"That's not so," Hill replied. "I never buy more than a gallon at a time."

Although Judge Craig did not rule officially on the quantity of liquor habitually bought by Hill, he did support Mrs. Hill's counter-suit and gave her the decree.

TRIAL OF SUSPECT IN LARCENY CASES OPENS

FRED L. MAIN FACES CHARGES OF WORTHLESS STOCK SALES

Trial of Fred L. Main, accused on five counts of larceny, was begun yesterday in Judge Hardy's court. He will be tried first on a count of the indictments charging that he sold worthless stock in the Southern Oregon Oil and Gas Company to Mrs. Carrie Bowman of El Monte for $10,000.

Main was arrested in Oregon last January, after a two years' search following the forfeiture of $5000 bail under which he was held during extradition proceedings in New York. He now is held in $20,000 bail. The case is being prosecuted by Dep. Dist.-Atty. Shelley.

FATHER SUES DAUGHTER

Declaring he placed his property in his daughter's name at a time when he was in domestic trouble but that she now refuses to reconvey it to him, Albert Sundt yesterday filed suit against Blanche Smidt Woodsend to have the property held in trust for his benefit. The property is said to be valued at $16,000.

CANDIED PLUMS

The best way to chop toasted almonds is to lay them on a bread board and chop with a sharp French knife.

To candy fresh prunes drop four pounds of fresh prunes in boiling water and boil ten minutes, drain well. Place in a preserving kettle a four cupfuls of water and four cupfuls of sugar, bring to a boil and boil until a little will form a soft ball when dropped in cold water, add the drained prunes and keep warm, not hot, for ten hours, turning the fruit four or five times. Skim out the fruit, bring the syrup to a boil, add the prunes and let stand ten hours; repeat this process four times. Skim out the fruit, make a fresh syrup with four cups of water and four cups of sugar. Drop the prunes into the fresh boiling syrup, cool, drain out the prunes and set on pans to candy. Pack in layers between waxed paper.

HAM

M. A. L., Hollywood, wants to know how to boil and make a four-pound piece of ham, how many glasses of jelly she can get from sixty small boxes of loganberries and how many glasses from sixty quarts of strawberries. She can get about fifteen glasses of jelly from sixty small boxes of loganberries and about sixty glasses from sixty quarts of strawberries.

To boil and bake a four-pound piece of ham place it in a deep saucepan, cover with cold water, bring to a boil and boil one hour and twenty minutes, add to the water before boiling a slice of onion, on small carrot, three whole cloves, and half of a bay leaf. Do not boil fast, simmer and cool in the water. To bake place the cooked piece of ham in an earthen ware baking dish, sprinkle with six whole cloves, fine bread crumbs and brown sugar, add four tablespoons of the water the ham was boiled in and bake twenty-five minutes in a moderate oven.

It is hot necessary to soak the better grades of hams, wash well before boiling and let cool in the water that they are boiled in and they will not be dry.

We do not send recipes or directions by mail, all requests are answered in these columns, so please do not send stamped envelopes for a reply.

SEEDLESS GRAPE JELLY

A. B. W., Hollywood, asks if seedless Thompson grapes will make good jelly. Place in a perserving kettle four quarts of just ripe seedless grapes washed and picked from the stems; add a cup of water and cook slowly until soft; pour into a jelly bag, drain and measure into a preserving kettle, add two cups of sugar for each two cups of juice, stir until the sugar is dissolved, boil up once, pour into glasses and cool. Cover and store in a cool, dry, dark place.

If the grapes are too ripe they will not jell. Thompson grapes are on the market now.

WATERMELON PICKLES

W. L. W., Yuma (Ariz.) requests recipes for watermelon pickles and cantaloupe pickles.

Remove the green and red part from seven pounds of watermelon rind, cover with boiling water and cook until tender, drain well, place in a large saucepan, add three cups of vinegar, three pounds of brown sugar, one ounce of stick cinnamon broken in small pieces, and half an ounce of whole cloves. Bring slowly to a boil and simmer two and a half hours. Pack in hot, clean jars, overflow with the syrup and seal. The rind should be cut in pieces about one and a half inches square.

PICKLES CANTALOUPES

Peel and remove seeds from firm ripe, cantaloupes, there should be five pounds of the meat. Place in bowl, cover with vinegar and let stand two days. Drain off the vinegar into a saucepan, add five pounds of sugar and boil fifteen minutes, pour over the melons and let stand over night; drain off the syrup, reboil, pour over the melons, let stand over night; repeat this process four times. On the fifth day add the grated rind and strained juice of two lemons, three ounces of cinnamon broken in small bits, and two dozen whole cloves; add the pieces of melon and simmer slowly until the syrup is thick. Pack in clean jars and seal. Fine with cold meats and ducks.

DRIED CORN

L. D., San Gabriel, asks for directions for drying and canning corn and for making sauerkraut.

To dry the corn select young tender ears, strip, plunge into boiling salted water for six minutes. Cool, cut the corn from the cob, using a sharp knife, onto trays, drys from three to four hours at a temperature of 120 to 145 deg., Fahrenheit. To dry in the sun set the trays in a moderate oven for twelve minutes, remove and set in the sun. If the weather is damp do not attempt to dry in the sun. If the sun method is used set in the oven ten minutes after the corn is dried.

CANNED CORN

Cut the corn from the cob into a saucepan as soon as gathered, add a seasoning of salt and sugar, and a little water, bring to a boil, pack in hot jars, seal lightly, process in boiling water for one hour each day for three days, loosen the tops each day after processing and seal tight the last day.

SAUERKRAUT

Remove the outside leaves and cores from firm heads of cabbage and shred the rest fine. Line the bottom and sides of a clean wooden barrel with the outside leaves, lay in a three-inch layer of the shredded cabbage, sprinkle with five tablespoons of salt, continue this process until all of the cabbage is used, line the barrel with the large leaves as it is filled. Pound down well until the barrel is filled and covered with brine. Lay large leaves on top, cover with a tip to fit inside the barrel, lay on a heavy rock to keep the cabbage covered, do not use a lime or sandstone rock, remove the scum as it rises and let stand seventeen days in warm weather. To can pack in jars, cover with boiling water, seal and process in boiling water for forty-five minutes.

Answers to Questions

Answers to readers' questions regarding diet will be given by Winifred Stuart Gibbs, food specialist, writer and lecturer on nutrition. Questions should be accompanied by a self-addressed, stamped envelope as only those of general interest will be answered in this column; others will be answered through the mail. Every effort will be made to answer questions promptly, but we bespeak the indulgence of our readers for any unavoidable delay. The number of letters received is large and each must take its turn.—Address: Winifred Stuart Gibbs, 37 West 39th street, New York City.

I would thank you to give me some suggestions how to induce my 18-months-old baby girl to eat. She takes a quart of milk prepared with eight ounces of water and four teaspoons of sugar in five feedings of eight ounces each. This is the only water that she gets as she refuses water when I offer it to her. I started feeding her last September such things as beef broth, orange juice, apple sauce, string beans, spaghetti and rice, but the first of the year while she was cutting four teeth she did not care to eat, and now she refuses to eat at all. I would certainly appreciate it if you can tell me how to get her to do so.

R. C.

It seems to me that you are feeding your baby very wisely and I do think her lack of appetite comes from her teething.

I have one suggestion to make, however, and that is to exercise the greatest care in regard to her bowels. It may usually be that her lack of appetite comes from constipation. Fruit juice such as orange or prune juice may be given, and also tomato juice.

It may be that the baby will take more water if it is flavored with fruit juice. She needs more than she is receiving in the feedings.

BABY'S DIET

My baby is 9½ months old. She is a fleshy fine baby, but wants to eat food. I am writing you for list of what to give her. I have been giving her crackers and butter milk. She is also bothered with indigestion. Thanking you, I remain.

A. M.

At the end of the ninth month a child should be receiving the following foods divided into five feedings: Milk, thirty ounces; water, three tablespoons; barley flour, eight ounces; milk sugar, three tablespoons. These ingredients combined should be, as noted above, divided into five portions of six ounces each.

Between the two morning meals give one to three teaspoons of orange juice.

After a while increase the milk one ounce per month, decrease the milk sugar one tablespoonful per month and add barley gruel as above. The orange juice may be increased to three tablespoonfuls if the bowels are not in good condition.

After one feeding the soft yolk of an egg may be given or a small piece of bread crust. Do not give any more than this during the first year.

OFFICE WORKER

Kindly advise me as to a good diet for my husband. He works in an office all day and does not get much exercise.

Your husband's diet should be something like this: For breakfast, fresh fruit, an orange, an apple, stewed prunes or stewed dried apricots; three-fourths cupfuls of rolled oats or wheat cereal with a cupful of milk and a tablespoonful of sugar; two slices of French toast or toasted English muffins, with a cupful of black coffee.

For luncheon, a cheese dish, either cheese and scalloped potatoes or cheese toast, three slices of graham bread and butter, a generous serving of stewed fruit and a glass of milk or cocoa.

For dinner, a four-ounce serving or plain broiled or roast meat, two medium potatoes, one-half cupful of mashed turnips, or carrot, or cauliflower, or brussels sprouts, three slices of whole wheat bread and butter, and a very simple custard or gelatine or fruit pudding.

It is very important that anyone doing office work should give special attention to the bowels. Here is a list of foods that will be good for this: Fresh and dried figs, tomatoes, berries, nuts, whole grain cereals, bran, shredded wheat, celery, lettuce, cucumbers, radishes, salads, all greens, malted milk, malt sugar in place of too much cane sugar, and, if necessary, mineral oil to keep the intestines perfectly clear.

MALT FOODS

I have been told to use malted foods, yet cannot tell just what kinds of foods come under this head. I have trouble with my nerves, stomach trouble and an anaemic condition. I would be very glad if you can tell or give me a list of these foods as well as any advice that lay in your power.

T. A. S.

The term malt is applied to grain, especially barley which has been allowed to sprout. This is used in making the malt extracts, malt beverages, etc.

For example, malted milk is milk which has been combined with the extract of this sprouted grain, either barley or wheat. Malt extract is a liquid obtained from this same grain. Malt extract is often advised by the physician, and is taken one or two tablespoons at a time. This must not be done, however, unless the physician advises it.

FINED FOR LEAVING BURNING CAMP FIRE

SAYS WIFE WENT TOO FAR

To avoid a scandal Ralph W. Witwer put up with his wife's infatuation for Richard O. Chamberlain, until she began buying Chamberlain clothes and charging them to Witwer's account, he declared yesterday in a suit for divorce placed on file. He asserts his wife, who is named Jeanette D. Witwer, met Chamberlain in Walla Walla once and accompanied him to Long Beach.

POLICE HUNT OFFICIAL OF VENICE BANK

First National President Reports Funds Short and Cashier Missing

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

VENICE, July 21.—A search was begun by the police today for Rubin R. Bailey, cashier of the First National Bank, following the reported discovery of a shortage in the funds of the bank, according to W. D. Newcombe, Jr., president of the bank. Bailey left on a vacation to the mountains on the 11th inst. When he did not return within the period of his leave of absence, Mr. Newcomb said, the examination of the bank's funds was made.

The amount of the shortage was not given out by Mr. Newcombe, who stated it is covered by insurance. Bailey had been employed by the bank since 1918. Mrs. Bailey, wife of the missing cashier, told bank officials she had not heard from her husband since the 11th inst., when he wrote her from Los Angeles that he intended to go to the mountains to recuperate from an illness.

Supreme Court Meets Here Today to Consider Six Appeals from Death Penalties

The State Supreme Court will open a three-day session in Los Angeles today at 10 a.m. to consider a calendar which includes three test cases on the constitutionality of local zoning ordinances, the appeals of six convicted murderers from death sentences, and a final decision on the so-called cropping contracts involving the alien land law.

Boy Who Aided Poor Playmate Lands in Court

Alonzo Garcia's friendship for a playmate in distress resulted not only in Alonzo's being chased all over Rose Hill by a squad of policemen, but also in his being brought before juvenile authorities on complaint of his father. He said the boy had absconded from home with family savings to the amount of $51.

According to Probation Officer Freeman, who was assigned to the case, Alonzo had a friend whose stomach was empty and whose shoes were sadly in need of repair. Alonzo is said to have gone to the Garcia cash drawer and to have taken $3 to put his friend on his feet again. But the $3 only served as temptation for Alonzo, according to Freeman. He said the boy returned to the cash drawer and took $48 more.

When the elder Garcia learned of the shortage of his funds, he sought Alonzo who could not be found. Police were informed and a squad was sent to search in the vicinity of Alonzo's home. It developed, Freeman said, that Alonzo had not only replenished his friend's stock, but had bought himself some new clothes and a bicycle, and had gone to live in a pepper tree near his home.

Alonzo will be arraigned before Juvenile Court Judge Archbald tomorrow.

Olaf the Genial Takes Chance on Judge and Wins

Olaf Finkelsen, a Swede with a limited knowledge of English, appeared before Justice Scott yesterday to answer to a charge of speeding. Justice Scott explained to Olaf that he could plead guilty or not guilty and then take his chances either with a trial before a jury or with the court sitting in judgment.

Olaf appeared puzzled. Then his face cleared. He looked Justice Scott over very carefully, stooping to inspect even his shoes, and finally said:

"Vell, I tink I take a chance on you."

Justice Scott laughed and then asked Olaf for bail. The prisoner had no money and with many halts and gestures explained this to the court.

"Well," Justice Scott said, "since you have taken a chance on me I will take one on you. You are released on your own recognizance."

Friends of Olaf explained what had happened and he went out smiling with a promise to be on hand for his trial next Monday.

IMPEDED FIRE FIGHTERS

Motorists Scheduled for Trial for Not Heeding Sirens

About thirty motorists are scheduled to appear before Justice Miller of Newhall this week for failing to heed sirens on county automobiles carrying crews of fire fighters into the fire-infested area near Elizabeth Lake last week.

According to Deputy Fire Warden Turner, the work of the fire fighters was hampered by traffic on the highways leading to the scene of the fire. Turner said all the county machines carrying men to fight the flames were equipped with sirens, but that numerous motorists failed to make way for them.

The deputies took the numbers of the cars that caused delays and yesterday were checking them through the State Motor Vehicle Department to locate the owners.

WORE HIS LOVE AWAY

Wife's Habit of Reading in Bed Blamed in Divorce Suit

Her fondness for reading in bed wore away the love of H. B. Warren for Della M. Warren, until after ten years there was nothing left of it, Warren asserted yesterday in a divorce suit filed in Superior Court. Warren said he had to sleep on a couch because his wife's reading disturbed him, and to get his own breakfast because she was too sleepy to get up.

To annoy him, Warren declared, his wife professed opposite political views to his, and took pleasure each election day informing him she had killed his vote. In 1917 she wanted diamonds. He bought her two, she demanded a third and refused to wear those she had because he could not finance the purchase of the third one, Warren said. They were married in 1896.

REASONS FOR EATING FISH

Patriotic Duty Now as Much as in Time of War When Conservation of Food Was Need

Some of us arte apt to feel that food and patriotism have no particular connection now that there is no need for war-time conservation. In general, however, it may be said that a wise use, a wise selection and utilization of foodstuffs are of supreme importance over many angles and the patriotic is not the last.

All of which is by way of introduction to the statement that the United States government is asking us to eat plenty of fish.

RICH IN VALUES

Fortunately, we may be patriotic and at the same time eat food that is rich in life-giving material.

Those of us who have come in contact with undernourished children know that rickets is one of the common diseases and scientists now tell us that an important factor in the treatment of rickets is the use of one of the most important vitamin, vitamin A as it is called. This vitamin A is present in generous proportions in the fat or oil of our common varieties of fish. Cod, salmon, mackerel and herring are examples. The flesh of herring, mackerel and salmon gives one of the valuable oils containing the vitamins and in the fat liver of the cod this oil exists in unusual large quantity.

COD LIVER OIL

Our grandmothers put much faith and rightly in the bottle of cod liver oil on the pantry shelf. Today we have this same cod liver oil and dressed up in various emulsions. Grandmother did not know, however, as we do, the scientific reason for the value of cod liver oil. She only knew that it made pale cheeks pink and thin blood rich; flabby muscles strong and "logy" children frisky.

The tiny microscopic organisms found in sea water play all sorts of interesting roles in the drama of life and health. They are like tiny fat capsules and this explains the fish odor and texture of a piece of thin bolting cloth after it is dipped in sea water.

It is interesting to note that the vitamin of which we have been speaking is not the only treasure held in trust for us by fish. Still another vitamin which so far has not been named is present and it is thought that they even more than vitamin A help in preventing and curing rickets and other bone diseases.

Food From Flowers

Did you ever stop to consider the almost poetic source of honey? Have you ever thought of the millions of journeys made by the bees to get the nectar from the flowers? When next you enjoy honey on hot biscuits, consider for a moment this marvel of nature.

Not all flowers are honey producers. Mountain sage, orange blossoms, the clovers, and mesquite, are among the best, while on the other hand, our cultivated flower gardens are almost useless.

But nature is ever capricious. Seldom do all the honey-producing flowers yield honey every year. So it is necessary to combine honey from many sources in order to supply the demand. And a blend of flavors is more delicious than a straight flavor.

This is the idea back of BOYDEN'S HONEY. A delicious combination of flavors—always the same and always obtainable at all good grocers.

CHECK SUSPECT WAS ON SCREEN

Federal Prisoner Known in Studios as Pearson

Taken in San Francisco on Local Indictment

Passing Counterfeit Drafts Laid to Pillsbury

F. E. Pillsbury, alias Fred E. Peters, arrested last week by secret service operatives at San Francisco on an indictment returned in Los Angeles a year ago charging him with passing counterfeit government checks, was employed for several months as a motion-picture actor at Hollywood studios, where he worked under the name of Fred E. Pearson, according to information given by the defendant yesterday to Agent William Ashe, in charge of the local secret service office. Pillsbury was brought to this city from San Francisco yesterday and was placed in the County Jail under $10,000 bond.

The indictment was returned after some $2000 worth of bogus government checks had been passed on local hardware dealers in payment for goods ordered for the Navy. According to Agent Ashe, Pillsbury posed as an officer of the Navy when he ordered the goods, which were delivered to the docks at Los Angeles Harbor where later they were recovered by the dealers. Pillsbury, it is said, gave checks for $100 and obtained from $40 to $50 cash on each.

According to information received by Agent Ashe, the secret service operatives at San Francisco arrested Pillsbury shortly after the latter had passed numerous asserted fictitious checks in that city. It was reported he introduced himself as a newspaper correspondent to the commander of the British Fleet when the fleet visited San Francisco and that he accompanied officers of the fleet to clubs where the asserted bad checks were given by him.

Pillsbury, who is 36 years of age, said his home is in New York. Reports received by the secret service show the defendant served a prison term at Atlanta on a charge of impersonating a Naval officer, and that he has served terms at San Quentin, the Vermont State prison and in Canada on forgery charges.

CHAMBER EXECUTIVE AND WIFE RE-MARRIED

COUPLE WED HERE AFTER DIVORCE TWO YEARS AGO IN ST. LOUIS

Robert D. Sangster, former industrial commissioner of the St. Louis Chamber of Commerce and now assistant industrial manager of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, was remarried in this city on the 16th inst. to Nellie H. Sangster, whom he married in 1904, but from whom he was divorced about two years ago in St. Louis.

Discovery that the old love was not dead and their desire for their three children to live with both parents were responsible for the remarriage, Mr. and Mrs. Sangster declare. Previous to the second marriage the children, Nelle, 18 years of age; Daniel, 12, and Louanna, 11, lived with their mother.

ITALIAN FESTIVAL

Society Plans Four-Day Program Beginning Saturday

A four-day festival in which Italians of the city are expected to join has been arranged by the San Vittoriano Martire Society. The fiesta will begin next Saturday at the San Pietro Church on North Broadway. Concerts will be given every afternoon and evening during the four days by Fioravante Pierno's band. A parade will follow mass at the church Sunday morning. Bernard Carlucci and G. Musacco, president and director of the society, will be in charge of the program each day.

RITES TODAY FOR PIONEER WOMAN

Mrs. Eleanor Dorman

Mrs. Eleanor Dorman, a resident of Southern California for thirty-seven years, who died Sunday, will be laid to rest today. Funeral services will be conducted from the family home at 518 South Van Ness avenue.

Mrs. Dorman was 79 years of age. She was the widow of Alanson Dorman and moved to Rivera with her husband thirty-seven years ago. In 1903 they came to Redondo and seven years later moved to this city.

Mrs. Dorman leaves five children, Mrs. Mary E. Coote of Redondo Beach, Mrs. Amy C. Tweedy of Mesa, Ariz., William S. Dorman of this city, Dudley M. Dorman, president of the Crescent Creamery here, and George C. Dorman of Glendale.

City Mothers' Tag Day Teams Plan Meeting

A meeting of the sorority and society teams for the City Mothers' tag day, the 26th inst., will be conducted Wednesday at 2:30 p.m. at Ansonia Apartments, 2205 West Sixth street. Mrs. J. H. Robinson will be in charge.

Teams from sororities, society, motion pictures, bathing girls, etc., will sell tags in the morning in Los Angeles and Crystal Beach during the afternoon. A program will be given at Crystal Beach in which air, water and land sports will be features.

Proceeds from the tag day and program will go to the City Mothers' fund for undernourished children and to rebuild the day nursery.

STUDIES STATE LAWS

Oregon Real Estate Commissioner Confers With Keiser

In an effort to have Oregon adopt real estate laws similar to those now in effect in California, Real Estate Commissioner W. A. Mullen of Oregon went into conference yesterday with California Real Estate Commissioner Keiser at his Los Angeles office to familiarize himself with the California provisions.

Mr. Mullen said that he intends to place before the Oregon Legislature at its next session several new provisions relative to their real estate act which will be based on California regulations. The Oregon law now in force was originally modeled after California statutes, the commissioner said.

RENEWS DIVORCE PLEA

Norman Howell, who recently failed to obtain a divorce from Pauline D. Howell in a suit in which he named Phillip Knagg as co-respondent, yesterday opened another effort by filing a suit charging desertion. Mrs. Howell, at the trial of the former suit, declared that her husband had condoned her offense, which she admitted, and Judge Summerfield declined to give him a divorce.

APPAREL REVIEW OPENED

Bathrobes vied with fur coats and blouses rivaled frocks yesterday as Los Angeles' first exhibit of apparel by local clothing manufacturers started at 11 o'clock with a promenade by models in different types of apparel. The exhibit room at 757 Los Angeles street, under direction of Mrs. Frances Webb, was lined with booths in which manufacturers displayed examples of the various lines which they make.

In the creation of this fashion show and also of the permanent exhibit for buyers a new stride in the growth of Los Angeles has come to view. The manufacture of clothing and especially of women's apparel has crept up in importance until it now is ranking as one of the first industries of the city. However, the display this week is the first effort of local manufacturers to exhibit their goods together publicly for the benefit of buyers and also for the general public.

TO INVADE NORTH

The next step in promoting the growth of the city in this line will be a trip into Oregon, Washington and Montana by Mrs. Webb, taking with her examples of Los Angeles-made products to create interest in those States. She will not sell anything en route but will merely show what Los Angeles is doing in the clothing line.

Miss Helen Livingson, a teacher at the Southern Branch of the University of California, will take her students, who are training for the garment-making trades, to the exhibit to show them how local products are made during the week. Other classes are planning similar trips.

At the Chamber of Commerce yesterday members of the Retail Merchants' Association and the Apparel Manufacturers' Association were guests of the manufacturing committee of the chamber.

PLAN CO-OPERATION

The meeting was called to perfect a plan outlined to A. G. Arnoll, manager of the industrial department of the Chamber of Commerce, by Arthur Strasburger, president of the Merchants' Association, for co-operation between the manufacturers and the marketers. Briefly, Strasburger's plan calls for a series of meetings which will be attended by representatives of the city's merchandising men, officials of local apparel factories and R. D. Sangster, assistant manager of the chamber's industrial department, who will act in the nature of mediator.

Mr. Strasburger was appointed to select six men from his organization to meet with six men representing the Apparel Manufacturers' Association, which will be chosen by President Holmes and Mr. Sangster.

It was pointed out at yesterday's meeting by Mr. Strasburger that many local buyers, employed in the larger retail stores, feared Los Angeles manufacturers could not produce a product that would steadily maintain a standard of quality and for that reason, they sought eastern markets.

NO SWEAT SHOPS

Henry W. Louis, a member of the manufacturing committee of the Chamber of Commerce, declared Los Angeles was void of sweat shops. He urged the department store men to take into consideration the fact that the quality of goods here was higher than that of eastern concerns.

John M. Jeffers, proprietor of a local knitting mill, declared that in some instances, Los Angeles-made goods were of such high standard of quality that they were successfully competing with German and English-made goods in foreign countries and manufacturers on the continent were unable to bring their clothing up to the Los Angeles standard.

DROP IN SCHOOL OPERATION COST

Expenses for Year Are Cut $2.45 Per Pupil

Attendance in City Shows 22 Per Cent Increase

Auditor Submits Report to Education Board

That the cost of operating the city schools was $2.45 less per pupil for 1923-24 than for the previous year, notwithstanding that there was an increase in daily attendance of more than 22 per cent, was the showing made by Auditor C. F. Lenz in his annual report to the Board of Education last night.

Operating expenses for the year ending June 30, which included business administration and instruction in all branches of public-school work, operation, maintenance, auxiliary and miscellaneous items, totalled $16,014,710.59, an increase over the previous year of 19 per cent, although there was an increase in daily attendance of 22 per cent.

Capital outlay for land, buildings and equipment was $70.76 per capita and operating cost $109.18 per capita.

William R. Tanner, president of the High School Teachers' Association, who had just returned from the annual meeting of the National Educational Association at Washington, reported that California had a larger representation than any other State.

A delegation headed by L. A. Dalton, representing the Lankershim district, urged a decision on the purchase of a high school site. The visitors offered a fifteen-acre tract for $38,500 or a tract comprising nineteen acres for $45,000. Both are situated within a block of Lankershim Boulevard and contiguous to Victory Boulevard and Sherman Way. They were assured of an early response.

Changing the name of the McKinley Home school to One Hundred and Eighty-second street school and the Leesdale-avenue school to Victory Boulevard school was proposed and adopted.

Miss Ethel Andrus, principal of Lincoln High School, urged the construction of a building to house ceramics and for increased shop space. Miss Andrus, while admitting the inaccessibility of Lincoln High School location, insisted that the growth of the district demanded these and certain other improvements of minor character.

A million years ago somewhere near the spot where the Palos Verdes Hills now are a Carcharadon shark, 140 feet long, was swimming around, according to evidence presented in the form of a shark's tooth which has been excavated by S. Maus Purple, explorer of this city. David Starr Jordan, chancellor of Stanford University, who is in this city en route to Honolulu to make explorations there, stated that the shark in whose mouth this tooth grew was without a doubt the largest of its kind known to science. He considers the discovery a valuable one.

In the Palos Verdes Hills there are twenty acres of marine deposit and it is there that Purple has unearthed many interesting and important specimens, helping science considerably in its effort to join the present day with the life thousands of years ago. Among other examples of prehistoric life which have been unearthed there is a tooth of a prehistoric horse.

The shark's tooth recently discovered is five inches long and must have been three and half inches long at the base, although that is hard to determine as the base has been broken off, it was stated. It is considerably wider and more regular than the two specimens in the museum at Exposition Park, which have been believed to be teeth of the largest sharks known to science. These teeth evidently came from sharks about 120 feet long, while the example belonging to Purple establishes a record illustration that about a million years ago there existed a shark 140 feet long. The latter conclusion was that of David Starr Jordan, who plans to use this specimen in his data on prehistoric sea animals.

Bids Received and Held Up for Alarm System

The Board of Public Works yesterday received and opened bids for cable and stands for fire alarm boxes for the $1,000,000 fire alarm and police signal system, but decided to readvertise for bids for the 1000 boxes for the system to permit technical changes in specifications. The bids opened were referred to City Electrician Manahan for checking and report. Changes in the specifications approved by the Council yesterday, permit bidders to submit prices on boxes of either cast iron or aluminum, and also set forth terms under which the city will pay for boxes purchased by the city.

The bond money for the fire alarm system was voted two years ago and Chief Scott has repeatedly urged action in installing the system. The Council was unable to agree for months on the specifications for the boxes, and yesterday's rejection of bids for boxes and the readvertisement under changed specifications, was just another of the many delays which have characterized the fire alarm proceedings. It is believed that it will be next summer at least, before the new system can be built and placed in operation and give needed added fire and police protection to the city.

POWER SAVING IS SPEEDED

Water Companies Voluntarily Antedate Regulations; Riverside and Colton Get Warning

The order requires all consumers of water which is produced by means of electrically driven pumps to curtail water uses so that a 25 per cent reduction in power may be maintained. Sprinkling of lawns will be allowed only between 6 and 8 a.m. and 6 and 8 p.m. and irrigation may only be done under regulation.

The companies who announce that they will immediately comply with the order are the Bell Water Company, Belvedere Water Company, California-Michigan Land and Water Company, Home Gardens Water Company, South Gate Gardens Water Company, South Los Angeles Water Company, South Park Water Company and the Inglewood Water Company. Consumers will be further asked to reduce the use of water for sprinkling 50 per cent, it was stated.

Letters to the cities of Colton and Riverside were sent out yesterday by Supervisor Butler calling attention to the fact that proper curtailment in the use of electricity is not being observed. Colton, Mr. Butler said, has increased its use of power rather than curtailed it, while Riverside has effected only a 2 per cent reduction.

Chief of Police Heath was asked to instruct officers to warn foreign fruit-stand vendors that they must comply with the curtailment regulations. They have ignored the orders in the past, Supervisor Butler said.

Mr. Butler approved the lighting plans for the new Santa Monica pier which will open Wednesday. It will be illuminated by privately owned plants.

SINGER IS HIT

ADELE ROWLAND SHOWS FINER ARTISTRY THAN EVER

By Grace Kingsley

If you feel a trip to the Orpheum coming on don't have any suppressed desires in that direction. You won't be cheated. Though some spots are higher than others, there's something for every taste, as the cafeteria girl said when she vamped the loose Duke who wandered into her domain.

When anybody is as fine as Adele Rowland I think she should be called on artiste—not omitting the final "e." She is piquant and chic, yet remains one of the American girls in spite of those exotic adjectives. She sparkles and fascinates every minute with her light yet rich voice, her vivid personality, her style, her dainty sweetness. There ought to be just one word to describe her, because her charm is of the tout ensemble, but there isn't, so we'll just have to trail the good old adjectives along. She is the American Yvette Guilbert when it comes to the character songs and, while she has a very good assortment and makes absolutely the most of them all, I think she should have something just a little more distinctive. She is worthy, her art is equal to any song that could be written for her. Harry Carroll's "Susanne" is perhaps the best of her songs. Hers is a pastelle art, but dainty, exquisite, different. She has a clever little monologue, too. Her accompanist, Dudley Wilkinson, is sympathetic and skillful.

"Oh, goodness!" exclaimed Priscilla Bonner, who was with me, "won't this be a blow to the girls who admire Conway Tearle when they see what a wife he has? I'll bet his fan mail goes down!"

I don't know why Harry Carroll's revue was advertised as new. It is the same, to me, only fairly entertaining melange of songs, dances and actlets that engaged our attention a few weeks ago. He has clever people, who all work hard, and the act registered another big hit.

Richard Kean says he is living in Hollywood. I'm glad to hear it, because I think the pictures need his fine art—an art almost lost in these days of jazz. His impersonations of various characters of the drama, including Cardinal Wolsey, Peter the Hermit, the Jew in the Merchant of Venice, keep even those of us spellbound who have heard him often before.

You are pleasantly disappointed to find out that Enrico Rastelli is not a singer—probably it is his name that suggests that he is—but a juggler. And what a juggler! He makes various trick balls and sticks obey him in marvelous fashion. His act is nicely dressed, but we should love to see him cut out the rose-bud lip make-up.

Phil Baker is like a new boy this week, his act is so much more spontaneous and amusing. I find the concertina can be comic, too—that is, consciously so. And I almost like it in those wonderful obbligatos which he plays to his partner's singing. Here is a genius not quite doing the things he might be, for some reason or other, but sufficiently good to make him a tremendous hit just the same. He has the smile of a barefoot boy, as Priscilla poetically put it.

Jean Granese, modestly billed as "the usual songstress," isn't. She is more than that. She has a very nice voice and personality. The two men with her are both good comics as well as good singers. They work from the audience at first and focled even Priscilla of the pictures, so that she glared at them with all the ferocity of a canary bird when they began to talk aloud in the audience.

Bernt and his girl partner, billed as Bernt and Partner merely—"Isn't that just like a German? I'll bet he can't speak a word of English!" demanded Priscilla—amaze with some feats of contortion and strength.

Opening up the bill is a dog act that is just a shade more entertaining—or irritating, according to whether you like dog acts or not—than the usual canine performances.

Claire Windsor Comes Home

Claire Windsor, who has been playing the leading feminine role in "Born Rich," a First National production, back in New York, will return to Hollywood tomorrow. Miss Windsor's name is up for several leading roles, notably one for Metro-Goldwyn, to whom she is under contract, but nothing will be decided until she reaches home.

Couple Again Play Opposite

Eleanor Boardman and Conrad Nagel did such excellent work as an acting team in the leading roles of Hobart Henley's recently completed production of "Sinners in Silk," formerly titled "Free Love," at the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios, that Harry Rapf has assigned them the leading roles in another picture under the same director.

Allan Will Have His Joke

A practical joke nearly cost Allan Forrest his life, a day or two ago. A collapsible sword was brought out of the property room at the Vitagraph studio, where the star is playing Lord Julian Wade in Sabatini's "Captain Blood."

The trick weapon was the toy of nearly everyone in the cast and was finally thrown into a box containing a number of real swords. Toward the close of the afternoon the company's morale was low, and Allan Forrest thought he'd brighten everyone up with a little levity. He reached into the box, ostensibly for the collapsible sword and mock dramatically proceeded to commit hari-kari.

BURBANK PRODUCES ELABORATE REVUE

Walter Van has outdone himself in staging one of the most elaborate burlesque revues witnessed in many months at the Burbank Theater. The Baby Dolls are attired in the latest of gowns and sing the latest songs and dance the latest of steps.

Lee Bud Harrison, Henry Sheer and Bob Fitzsimmons surpass themselves in new jokes and original gags, furnishing the humorous moments for the spectator. Ruby Darby, Fern Emmett and William McKee have evolved a series of new songs and put them over in their own individual manners.

Blondes Are Featured on Pantages Bill

For this week we suggest that the local Chamber of Commerce take the "White Spot" insign and place it over at Pantages where everything rustles along in true prosperity fashoin. Besides featuring one of the brightest spots in vaudeville history the current program specializes in blondes on stage and on screen, making up an unusually bright collection of entertainment.

Heading the stage divertisement are the four Hamel sisters, assisted by Stross. This pleasing arrangement of musical selections is one of the finest of its kind seen here in many moons, not only because the portrayers are all talented blondes but because Mr. Stross makes an appropriate director and co-worker. Every number is delightful and well done except that tone volume is overworked in parts. Less noise would be to advantage.

Dinus and the Belmont players offer a series of dances and vocal selections, presented in an entirely different atmosphere. The clever toe dancer deserves mention from a humorous and terpsichorean viewpoint. Called a Musical Frappe, this goodly aggregation of entertainers also feature two sisters in a group of popular numbers. La France and Byron in Party of the Second Part have presented their little skit here before but it is as amusing and laugh-provoking as ever.

Probably what could be constituted as a headline act is the group of musical offerings given by the three White Kuhns. This aggregation of men render some intriguing stringed instrumentations along with their song interpolations. On the side, they give some burlesque work with the bass violin assisted by an unnamed female singer from the audience. Eastman and Moore in Bargains introduce some variations in vocal work, including some tomfoolery with a floorwalker in a department store. Winnie and Dolly have the usual death-defying stunts in midair, hanging by their feet and twisting in contortionistic fashion on a trapeze.

We mention the feature play last but it deserves place among the ribbon holders. Laura La Plante makes a very likable blonde in "The Dangerous Blonde," featuring herself and Edward Hearn. Many blondes were in attendance yesterday.

PLAYHOUSE FARCE TO RUN TWO WEEKS MORE

Two more weeks for "The Whole Town's Talking." While a man may not be a philosopher in home territory, co-authors John Emerson and Anita Loos have no trouble being recognized in the city of their adoption.

The run of their farce at the Playhouse has been extended two weeks by Louis O. Macloon, proving that genuine merit will out.

The popularity of "The Whole Town's Talking" is in no small measure due to the performances of Johnnie Arthur, the blushing, blustering bachelor, who goes a wooing his boss' daughter with mock pedigree as an ex-lover of a movie vampire, and Nina Romano, who plays the vampire.

KOSLOFF DANCERS IN 'BUTTERFLY' PROLOGUE

A spectacular ballet prologue, done by twenty-four artist pupils of the Theodore Kosloff school, will be staged with every performance of "Butterfly," Clarence Brown's production of Kathleen Norris's novel, which will have its world premiere showing at the Forum Thursday night.

The Russian ballet maestro has had a private preview of the film in order to become familiar with its atmosphere as a basis upon which to build the dance numbers. Some of the best dancers in the Kosloff school will have parts in the pantomime, and Kosloff himself will direct the presentation, design the special costuming and scenery, and generally supervise the entire prologue.

Two Headline Acts Listed at Hillstreet

Jane Green brings an armful of the newer songs and a lot of pep with her to the Hillstreet this week, where she is sharing headline honors with Fritzi Ridgway. She also brings Arthur Franklin at the piano, to whom not a little credit for the speed of the act may be credited. Miss Green's personality, the style in which she delivers her numbers, and the selections themselves combine to make the offering predominant in a list of very good features.

Miss Ridgeway returns with her "A Wife's Honor," the skit written by Frank Condon, which was a part of last year's Writers' Revue, and which has been playing the larger vaudeville circuits of the country since then. This is the much-talked-of novelty burlesque of the movies, which presents a dramatic scene in three speeds, normal, slow and ultrarapid, and is decidedly interesting.

Two of the funniest comedians to grace the Hillstreet stage in weeks are Bert and Betty Wheeler, experts at the nut stuff. Bert spends most of his time on the floor fooling around with childish toys. Betty tells jokes for Bert to wise-crack about, sings and is generally an able little assistant. This act, too, is worth seeing.

Local talent appears with the presentation of the Trojan Five, a group of University of Southern California boys who display pleasing voices in a number of songs. Their talents are diversified, and whistling, bird imitations and piano numbers form part of their program. They occupy the closing spot, but are well worth waiting for.

Frank Ward entertains in a number of ways, telling stories and dancing with his fingers. He has appeared here before with the same success he merits this time. Harry and Nancy Cavena open the program with "The Free Exhibition," indulging in a little wire walking and balancing, song and dance.

On the screen "Chastity" holds the featured place, starring Katherine MacDonald. Alberta Vaughn in "Love and Learn," one of the "Telephone Girl" series, also is on the bill.

ALICE GENTLE AGAIN

Singer to Appear at Hollywood Bowl in August

By popular demand, Alice Gentle will appear in the Hollywood Bowl for the second time this season on August 5, it was announced yesterday by Alfred Hertz, conductor of the bowl orchestra. Miss Gentle, who sang to 20,000 persons last Thursday evening, made what was said to be the biggest hit ever achieved by a soloist in the bowl. She is recognized as one of America's leading singers.

The bowl management also announced that it is practically assured that one of this country's leading baritones will sing in the bowl some time in August. Negotiations have virtually been completed.

Tonight's program opens the third week of summer concerts. The program consists of the season's second offering of the suite by Rimsky-Korsakow, "Scheherazade;" Tschaikowsky's symphonic poem, "Romeo and Juliet," and Wagner's overture to "Tannhauser."

FORDING RIVER GIVES AUDIENCE A THRILL

In James Cruze's production of "The Covered Wagon," now in its fifth week at the Million Dollar, the biggest thrill is that which shows the fording of the Platte River, a series of sequences which many believe to be the supreme directing achievement of Cruze.

The situation finds man pitted against an insurmountable obstacle, and he surmounts it. This is no paradox, even though it seems to be.

There is a love story, of course, with the cast including Lois Wilson as Molly Wingate, the heroine, J. Warren Kerrigan as Will Banion, the hero, and Alan Hale as Sam Woodhull, while what has been said to be the greatest piece of characterization in the film is Ernest Torrence's conception of Jackson, a Missouri backwoodsman.

PLAYDOM

"CALIPH" OF INTEREST

HITCHCOCK COMEDY TAMER THAN USUAL

By Edwin Schallert

At any rate, Raymond Hitchcock is here once again. His dry, unctous humor, albeit, it is somewhat tamer than usual, manages to gloss over some of the dull spots in "The Caliph," which opened last night at the Biltmore Theater, and his curtain speech between the second and third acts will be pleasantly remembered.

"The Caliph" is a prerelease in musical comedies of the season. It is not beyond the tryout stage yet, and it may never be as a matter of fact, but it comes to Los Angeles after a long, quiet spell for traveling attractions, and on that account will probably engage a share of popular attention.

The career of the piece began, I believe, recently in San Francisco. The book and music and lyrics are by Maurine Montague, and the costumes and the settings—the latter by Dickson Morgan—have a newness and freshness that would lend distinct charm, were the lines and music of proportionate interest. Some of the music is passable but the dialogue is dull.

Like many others, I still have recollections of that capital show that Hitchcock brought out a few seasons ago under the title of "Hitchy Koo," when he had the Duncan Sisters with him, and the late Bert Savoy and Jay Brennan. It was one of the most diverting offerings that had ever been presented on the stage.

Those who expect the same sort of amusement from "The Caliph" are going to be disappointed. This piece has neither the people nor the material, although it will probably not be altogether deficient with speeding up. The performance last night ran beyond the time that is suitable for musical shows, and everything seemed to drag in the action and the staging.

Improvement of certain phases of the presentation may be expected within a day or so—those that pertain to the tempo. I do not feel that there is any assurance of the success of the piece until the lines are gone over thoroughly, and given a sparkle, and a more genuine spirit is visible in the performance.

Hitchy's droll line is always capital, but he has not the bright bon mots that he needs for his best comedy. His personality, I felt, did not shine through in its wonted way, and I suspect that this is because he himself feels that there is much yet to be done to improve the show. Much of his improvised talk was, however, thoroughly delightful and amusing.

The best aides he has are Lew Lubin and Marie Horgan. Lubin does a near-Jolson with some of his singing and stepping, and even though you feel this sense of imitation in his work, you enjoy it.

Miss Horgan offers a broad perspective in her role that serves to enhance the humor, and she does some singing and burlesque romancing very acceptably.

Roland Bottomley, Cooper Lawley, Ethel Cattus, Theodora Warfield, Henry T. Hanlin and Allmar are other principals.

The oriental dance by Marie Dorall is a special hit, and the chorus registers as very attractive.

KINGSLEY RECITAL

Organist Gives Interesting Program at Bovard Auditorium

Music of legend and romance comprised the organ recital given by Dr. Bruce Gordon Kingsley last night at Bovard Auditorium. The program opened with the "Euryanthe" overture, by Weber, and included the Minuet of the Old Lovers, from "L'Arlesienne," by Bizet, the graceful and rythmic "Dance of the Nautch Girls," from Rubinstein's "Feramors," and the symphonic poem, entitled "The Spinning Wheel of Omphale," by Saint-Saens.

The organ responded nobly to Dr. Kingsley's touch. His rendition of the Overture-Fantasie, Romeo and Juliet," by Tschaikowsky, was exceedingly well received, the number being characterized by beautiful contrasts in registration and clear, rippling effects. The "Rhine Music," from Wagner's "Ring of the Nibelung" also made a fine impression. This number was preceded by an explanatory talk concerning the leitmotifs which are woven into the composition. The "Triumphal March," from "Sigurd Jorsalfar," by Grieg, was also given a dramatic interpretation, the resources of the instrument being well demonstrated in this selection, which contained a beautifully expressive trio passage, and closed with a stirring climax.

As an encore Dr. Kingsley played by request the Overture from "William Tell," by Rossini, this selection being repeated from a previous program.

"THREE MUSKETEERS" SHOWING AT MISSION

"The Three Musketeers," with Dumas's hero, D'Artagnan, portrayed by Douglas Fairbanks, will be the attraction at the Mission Theater for today only. Sixteen duels, a man holding up a broken bridge while three riders cross, the stealing of the queen's jewels, a desperate fight for their recovery, the smashing of one of the great intrigues of history—these are but a few of the dramatic incidents in the adventurous and romantic story of world-wide popularity.

Mary Pickford will present her picturization of Grace Miller White's story, "Tess of the Storm Country," tomorrow.

"PERFECT FLAPPER" NOW AT ALHAMBRA

The "Perfect Flapper" has captured Alhambra Theater audiences. Colleen Moore, tomboy flapper of the screen, proves conclusively that she is the rightful owner of the crown. The picture is full of comedy and pathos, stunning gowns, daring escapes and spectacular scenes.

Sydney Chaplin in an important role gives the picture its greatest comedy moments. Frank Mayo is as handsome as ever and does some very creditable work. Lydia Knott as Aunt Sarah is in strange contrast to the dynamic Colleen, while her father is played by Charles Wellesley.

A Message to the Cinderella Roof

Mr. Geo. McCarthy, Manager, Cinderella Roof,
Los Angeles, Cal.
Dear Sir: It was my extreme pleasure to hear Isham Jones's orchestra at the Cinderella Roof last night. I cannot but comment upon the music of this famous orchestra but at the same time I congratulate you upon the general conduct and refined atmosphere of your ballroom. I have never seen a dance place so well regulated. I am sure that a place of this kind means much to the community. Sincerely,
(Signed) H. A. Kehler, Vice-President

OPEN EVENINGS

THE WHOLE TOWN IS TALKING!

About Bozzani's monster sale of used cars. Listen brother, when you can buy a Buick roadster with a California top for $250, or a Maxwell coupe for $445, or a dandy Ford sedan for $325, and a Gardner touring for $175, then you had better hurry before they are all gone.

It would cost me a small fortune to advertise every car in the newspaper, so I will leave it to your sense of good judgment to look our stock over before buying.

We are not in the used car business, consequently every car sold you has been traded in on new Willys-Knights and we do not have to make a second profit from used car buyers.

We give liberal terms and are open evenings.

Sunset at Broadway.

BOOM!

The battle is on! Brother do you see those people milling around 617 N. Broadway? Well, they are just part of the crowd that are looking over Bozzani's huge stock of used cars now on sale. Every summer we clean house. Join the crowd, be a lucky buyer. Do not take chances, buy from Bozzani and save the difference.

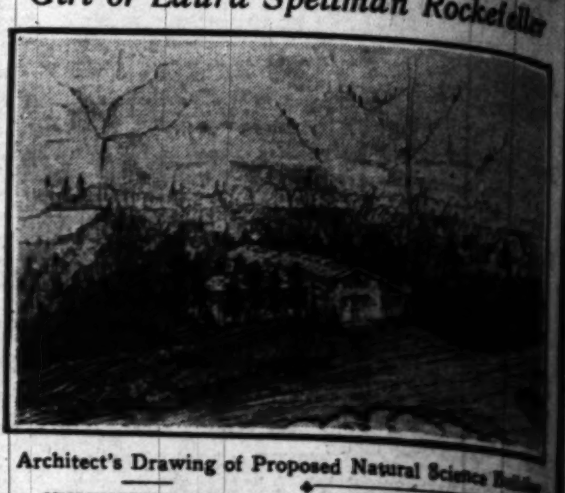
YOSEMITE TO GET NEW MUSEUM

Gift of Laura Spellman Rockefeller



Architect's Drawing of Proposed Natural Science Building.

ANNOUNCEMENT was made yesterday by the Department of the Interior that a gift of $75,000 for the construction, equipment and maintenance of a museum of natural sciences in Yosemite National Park has been received from the Laura Spellman Rockefeller Memorial Foundation of New York.

Of the total appropriation, $50,000 will go for the construction of the new building, $10,000 for equipment and furnishing, $10,500 for personnel for three years and $5000 for expenses of the committee on museums. The committee will send Dr. Bumpus to the park this summer to study the range of the exhibits.

The new museum will replace the old frame building now being used on the grounds. The Rockefeller gifts the consummation of years of work and means that Yosemite National Park strengthens its leadership in educational work and will probably become one of the foremost places in the world for popular natural history study.

The new museum will not only house exhibits but will also be headquarters for the Nature Guide Service, for lectures under the auspices of the Extension Division of the University of California and for all other free educational activities provided for park visitors. Records show that tens of thousands of visitors to the park attend the lectures, indicating the need for the new museum.

HE KNEW A GOOD SHOW

He had just comfortably settled himself in the parlor with his arm around his sweetheart when her little brother came into the room and sat down.

"Here's a dime," he said to the boy. "Get yourself some candy."

"Don't want any candy," retorted the brother.

"Then here's a quarter; chase yourself."

"Don't want a quarter, either."

"Don't want to go to the show."

"Well, for cat's sake, what do you want?"

CONDUCTOR HAS FORCED VOYAGE

NEW YORK, July 21.—It came about partly through Lu dropping of the first syllable of his name and partly through the friendship and irresistible hospitality of a merry crew of Irishmen, bound from Chicago to Queenstown for a visit to the old folks at home. Lucasey hadn't the least idea of letting friendship go so far, but, as a matter of fact, he made the excursion with them; that is, he did and he didn't. Here's the yarn:

Lucasey, who is John L., lives at 3936 West Polk street, Chicago, is a Pullman conductor. He was in charge of a special train on the Wabash line which arrived in New York on June 11 with a party of Irishmen. On the way eastward he made numerous friends among the home-faring excursionists, chief among them being Felix McConville.

When the latter learned the conductor's name, he said, "Drop the Lu part of it and become 'Casey,' then you'll be one of us, see?"

BECAME CASEY

So from that time the conductor became "Casey," and the friendships ripened at once. So tied did this aggregation of friendships become that the party would not hear of "Casey" going back to Chicago, deserting all hands that way when he could just as well go with them aboard the White Star liner Baltic and have the last farewells said on her deck.

"Casey" listened to the voice of the tempter and went to the ship. He knew he'd have time enough before the hour came for the return run to Chicago. But there was so much handshaking to do, so many pledges of eternal friendship to be exchanged that when "Casey" looked over his shoulder he and the Irishmen and the Baltic were in the Lower Bay. "Casey" had only $7.

The only balm for that unhappy moment was poured by McConville, who said, "Well, here you are, 'Casey,' and here we are, and why don't you go over with us?"

As the Baltic was making a lot of knots just then "Casey" could only look over the side and see New York slipping into the distance. So, over he went. And, headed by McConville, the party took up a collection and got him a cabin.

TROUBLE BEGINS

However, he sent a wireless to his family and to the Pullman Company, explaining that he had been carried off with no intent of his own, shanghaied, he called it, and then set about making the best of the voyage.

A happy time was had by all during the run to Queenstown, but there "Casey's" troubles began. He had no passport, so he was not permitted to land. This caused a tearful parting from the Irishmen, who swore they hated to be bereft of him, but all would come out well at Liverpool.

But it didn't. The lack of a passport arose again to a barrier to his landing. He could stay on board the Baltic, of course, but go ashore?—not a bit of it.

However, a White Star official learned of "Casey's" plight and took him ashore and domiciled him in a company hotel. But close watch was kept on him, because he had to be returned right side up and in good order or the company would get into trouble. So he stayed until the Baltic put out once again for America. "Casey" was put aboard all snug and he reached New York again. All he said was, "Just wait till I get hold of that fellow McConville."

But he said it with a smile.

FILES SUIT ON ARREST COMPLAINT

Bertie H. Godfrey Sues J. H. Godfrey Charging Malicious Prosecution

Another chapter in the domestic affairs of Bertie H. Godfrey and John Phillips Godfrey of Beverly Hills was begun yesterday in Superior Court when Mrs. Godfrey brought suit against Godfrey for $30,000 damages for alleged malicious prosecution.

Mrs. Godfrey, who is now separated from the defendant by an interlocutory decree of divorce, accused her husband of having filed a complaint before Justice of Cahuenga township charging her with disturbing the peace at the Godfrey home on Drive. She declared the complaint was later dismissed. Godfrey named Mary Ayer as co-defendant in the suit.

Another angle of the strained relations of the couple was reflected in a suit for $50,000 damages Mrs. Godfrey filed against C. W. Jackson for alleged slander. She declared Jackson produced documents purporting Hedley of Beverly Hills and intended to cast discredit on her name. Hedley is alleged to have produced the documents at a time when action was pending charging Godfrey with assault and battery on his wife, and filed before Justice Hedley, in which actions were prepared by Attorney William J. Clark.

FAMED ARTIST FINDS PERFECT FIGURE

Nicola Michailow and His New Subject [P. & A. Photo]

NEW YORK, July 21.—Nicola Michailow, wizard of the brush, court painter of Bulgaria, who has painted many of the beauties of Europe, the United States and South America, paused in the midst of a flaring, comet-like journey of his magic hand as he swept an outline of the Countess Morner, formerly Peggy Hopkins Joyce.

"The most beautiful woman in the world," he said.

He is a study, this painter of beauties. He sketches no outline in advance. He poises his palette, dips his brush, gives a fast mental measurement to his outline and then sweeps the entire length of a figure in one bold, exact transference of the snapshot he has in his mind to the canvas before him.

PAINTED COURT LADIES

The court ladies of the Old World have been his models. He has preserved society so that the day of the wrinkle and the halting step may lose itself in retrospection.

"I have never found a figure in Europe to compare with this," he said, viewing his model with the air of one who discusses abstract questions and not personalities. "Ah, the slimness, the grace, the lines! Only in North America does one find the exquisite combination. It is typical of the loveliest American girls. In South America there are many pretty women. But they are too short for their weight and size. The European figures are usually exaggerated."

The Countess poses—and it will require six sittings to complete the work—in a pearl-gray chiffon velvet evening gown. The dress is a work of art in itself. It is designed on long straight lines which accentuate the slender outlines of her figure. The ensemble gives the impression of more altitude than she really possesses. There are delicate decorations of jade and crystal embroidery, with a wide band of fox fur encircling the bottom of the skirt.

Not a jewel from the collection of a woman who owns enough to supply a king's ransom has place in the entire picture.

FORM MEASUREMENTS

And Michailow, viewing his art as a thing apart from persons, unfolds a few of the measurements that have appealed to him as making the perfect picture of grace and beauty. Here they are:

Neck, 11½ inches.
Wrist, 5½ inches.
Upper arm, 9 inches.
Arm below elbow, 8 inches.
Waist, 24½ inches.
Hips, 37 inches.
Ankles, 7½ inches.
Head, 21 inches in circumference.
Height, 5 feet 3½ inches.

So there you are, Mme. and Mlle. New York, if you want to know just what sort of proportions can turn the head of a man who has viewed hundreds of beauties with the cold eye of an expert.

Michailow has painted distinguished men as well as women, including heads that wear crowns and some that once wore them. In the latter class come the former Kaiser, King Boris of Bulgaria, Mrs. Robert H. Montgomery of New York, Frank A. Vanderlip banker and publicist, and princes and princesses of Europe, along with the presidents of several South American republics, have all been his subjects.

He was born at Schumla, East Bulgaria, January 30, 1876. The academies of Munich and Paris claimed him, and when his genius developed King Ferdinand of Bulgaria became his patron. Under the kingly guidance he made his way to the top, capturing many high honors.

And now—

The man who sought for the magic woman who might inspire his brush in every center of the Old World confesses that she came to him in New York and will be his next exhibition.

ENTERS MEXICO AFTER SON

Mother Tells of International Contest Over Custody of Child in Divorce Case Trial

Details of an international contest on the part of a mother to recover the custody of her 5-year-old son were revealed in Judge Burnell's court yesterday where Mrs. Esther B. Parmalee, 523 East Ninth street, Dallas, Tex., appeared in a proceeding to have the court grant her a final decree of divorce from Charles R. Parmalee.

Mrs. Parmalee told how she followed her husband into Mexico in pursuit of her baby; how she stayed nine months in an orphan asylum and, following that, how her mate compelled her to sign a document in which she relinquished her independence in an effort to have her son returned to her. Finally, she said, she gained possession of the boy and escaped to the United States with the aid of an American Consul.

AIDED BY MOTHER

Parmalee, who is said to be now in Mexico City, resisted the granting of the decree in affidavits he filed in connection with the case. In these affidavits he asserted he and his wife had become reconciled and he was supported in these statements by the testimony of Mrs. Dora C. Parmalee, his mother. Parmalee opposed the granting of a decree on the ground that the asserted reconciliation would make further action in the divorce case illegal.

Parmalee's mother told the court her son and daughter-in-law were on amiable terms and that she had seen them in each other's arms.

The wife denied that such was the case and stated she had been compelled to be friendly with her husband on threat of losing her son. She said she also had been forced to sign a paper written in Spanish and which she declared she did not understand. After signing this document, she said, Parmalee refused to give up the baby unless she made her home with him and his mother.

CHOSE HER HUSBAND

In reply to the elder Mrs. Parmalee's testimony that she had seen the Parmalees in "each other's arms," the wife said there were only two beds in the house and she was compelled to choose between sleeping with her husband or her mother-in-law. She chose the husband, she testified.

Mrs. Parmalee also declared her mother-in-law took her son's part in domestic troubles arising between the couple.

The wife is represented by Attorneys Milton M. Cohen and E. L. Davin, while Parmalee made his appearance through the law firm of Stutzman & Stutzman. The hearing was continued until this morning when two witnesses, who are said to have lived with the Parmalees in Mexico City, will be heard. The wife and her mother-in-law are living temporarily in Long Beach.

BANDITS GAG EMPLOYEES; LOOT STORE

Two Youths at Closing Time Take Clothing and Cash from Place

Two youths entered the clothing store of St. Pierre Brothers, 413 South Spring street, at closing time last night and, after using neckties to bind and gag three employees, escaped with two outfits of clothing and $45 in cash.

The hold-up was reported to police by B. Sutton, manager, of 232 Hill street, Walnut Park, who with M. N. Pond, cashier, 5115 Alamaden Drive, and William Hidder, clerk, 5413 Harold Way, were victims.

According to Sutton, the youths, one an American, about 24 years of age, and the other a Mexican, about 26, asked to see two suits they had looked at earlier in the day. While the clerk was waiting on them, Sutton closed and locked the front door.

Both youths produced pistols and lined up the three employees in a rear room used for a dressing-room. One bandit obtained neckties with which he tied and gagged the trio.

The gunmen then sauntered to the front of the store where they obtained two suitcases. They picked out the two suits they had selected. Then each got from the stock a number of other articles. The pair unlocked the front door and walked out.

In a few minutes the employees had broken their bonds and called the police. Detectives Wilde and Frost are investigating.

OIL STOCK MEN NOW IN MEXICO

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

EL PASO (Tex.) July 21.—Oil-stock slickers, mining-share merchants and peddlers of pretty lithographed stock certificates which are fine to put under carpets and paper summer kitchens have moved to Mexico, multigraphs, sucker lists and form follow-up letters included.

After several residents of East Texas were personally conducted to Leavenworth prison to spend an extended visit of from two to ten years there was an exodus from Fort Worth, Dallas and the other centers of office-building oil companies. Texas was no bueno for promoting the sale of gold dollars at 60 cents per. The slickers admitted they had overplayed their hands and some overstayed their time and are now promoting rock piles at the Federal prison.

Mexico! That's the place. Plenty of romance to weave into the scenarios showing shoestrings run up to stone-front palaces, enough natural wealth to base any kind of claim upon and no snooping Federal dicks to interfere and serve summons on them. So it was Mexico for the wise boys with the black-ribbon glasses, the pepper-and-salt suits and the general air of hair tonic and prosperity.

SAENZ GIVES ORDERS

Enter Senor Aaron Saenz, Mexican Foreign Minister. Saenz knows the avis Americano slickerino as well as the United States postal authorities. He has ordered the Mexican Federal police to get busy and bird-dog these fakers wherever they may be found. Already six have been arrested and formal charges will be made against these pirates of the mails. One nest of these 300 per cent profit boys has been discovered in Guadalajara, from which city they have been sending out glowing accounts of the natural resources of that section. Not that Guadalajara and the State of Jalisco have not the goods. It is one of the richest sections in Mexico. But the asserted promoters have nothing to sell but their souls and a number have been investigated and found to own no other property but their shirts and an extra soft collar apiece.

At the same time the United States postoffice officials have taken a hand and issued fraud orders against a number of these oil and mining millionaires (on paper) who have been flooding the mails from Mexico. El Pasoans on the sucker lists have been deluged with poorly printed and crudely mailed come-ons for various promotion schemes in the republic.

MAIL HELD UP

Postmaster J. J. Ormsbee has held up mail addressed to these so-called promoters who are on the fraud-order list, but he has no way of stopping the flood of fake advertising from Mexico. Twelve individuals and firms have been placed on this fraud-order list in Mexico and placed on this fraud-order list and cannot receive mail addressed to them from the United States. But they send out their glowing word pictures under assumed names or high-sounding titles and get by.

Ambassador Warren has taken a hand in Mexico City and has requested the arrest of six American fugitives, some of whom are on the Postoffice Department fraud-order list. Co-operating with the Mexican Postoffice and Foreign Affairs departments, the American Ambassador hopes to break up these bands of mail highwaymen, who are said to be getting a golden shower of money from the United States from persons who believe their bunk about Mexico being the end of the rainbow. There is no doubt about the pot of gold being there. But the trouble is these birds are no nearer its location than the nearest cantina to their second-class hotel.

The Skilled Surgeon

In an attempt to avoid a street car last night a man was struck by an automobile and hurled beneath a street car. His skull was fractured. At Bay View Hospital physicians amputated his left leg. —[Baltimore Sun.

REAL MONEY IN CHINA

Under the direction of American experts, China is building what will be one of the largest mints in the world. It will be able to convert fourteen tons of silver into coin in a single day. Although printing began in China, it is worthy of note that Chinese are not installing a printing press to increase their supply of money. —[Washington Star.

Made a Great Splash

In 1842 when Adam Thompson made the first bathtub for his own comfort, he certainly made a great splash, for they have been turned out with great energy ever since. The first one was made of solid mahogany and the habit of bathing was severely criticised. It was predicted that the race would be wiped out by the great number of diseases which would follow in the wake of the bathtub. Three years after that municipal regulations were passed in Boston making it impossible or difficult for persons to use bathtubs.

News of Ships and Sailings at Pacific Ports

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN FRANCISCO, July 21.—Seven bids were opened today, ranging from $39,975 to $58,720, for converting the United States army transport Dix from a coal to an oil burner. Award will be made later. The $39,975 bid was by the Moore Dry Dock Company of Oakland.

In tow of the tug Santa Ines, the steamer Vanguard, owned and operated by the Richardson Company, arrived today from Los Angeles. The Vanguard damaged its hull on an unseen object while leaving Westport. It was towed to Los Angeles to discharge cargo, and brought here for repairs.

The Pacific Mail steamers will sail from this port tomorrow with passengers and freight. The Ecuador will leave for New York by way of Central American ports, and the President Wilson will leave for the Far East.

SEATTLE, July 21.—After a fast voyage from the Orient, the steamship President Grant of the Admiral Oriental Line arrived yesterday with a large list of overseas travelers and a cargo valued at more than $5,000,000, including silk.

Six hundred and forty-six passengers arrived on the steamships Izmeda and Jefferson of the Alaska Steamship Company and the Queen of the Pacific Steamship Company, today and last night, from Southeastern Alaska. Among the passengers was a party of 226 Knights of Columbus, members of the La Salle Assembly, Chicago, who will return East via the Canadian Pacific Railway.

The steamship H. F. Alexander of the Pacific Steamship Company arrived with a full cargo and 400 passengers.

Frederick Allegree Beck, 73 years of age, for sixteen years connected with the insurance department of Alexander & Baldwin, Ltd., general agents on Puget Sound for the Matson Navigation Company, died last night at the home of his daughter here, Mrs. E. R. Adams. He was born in Boston and came West to Portland in 1879.

In the intercoastal service of the Munson-McCormick Line, the steamship Mundelta arrived tonight. She will shift to Tacoma to load lumber.

The marine department of the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce announced today the appointment of Abe Marks as manager of the Merchants' Exchange of that body, to succeed the late Jerry Daily.

PORTLAND (Or.) July 21.—The steam schooner Avalon is expected here this week from San Francisco to load a cargo of wheat for the California port, according to word received here today. On account of the heavy demand for wheat from California points, it is thought probable that a considerable movement of full cargo lots by steam schooner will occur this summer.

Flour and feedstuffs will likely move in more than normal quantities, beginning in September, according to local operators. The demand in Oregon is so strong at this time that there is very little mill stuff moving southward. With the start of milling on the new crop, this business will increase immediately, according to local steamship men.

The motorship Patterson, which the West Coast Navigation Company will place on the Portland (Or.) coast points service shortly, is expected to be ready for operation in about two weeks. New engines are being installed in the vessel on Puget Sound.

A survey crew, under direction of Maj. Richard Park, in charge of the Second Portland District of the Army Engineer Corps, is checking up on depths over what remains of the after section of the steamer Welsh Prince, lying in the channel off Altoona, Wash. It is said that the wreck has been cleared away to the specific depth of thirty-five feet.

ASTORIA, July 21.—The steam schooner Multnomah is due from San Francisco, and after taking on 125,000 feet of lumber at Wauna, will shift to St. Helens to complete her cargo.

Receipts of wheat at the local terminals are light just at the present time and no consignments of any size are expected from the interior until the new crop begins to move. Accordingly, the shipments from the docks during the coming few weeks will consist principally of lumber and salmon, although some flour is expected to move about the first of the coming month.

The German steamer Akirich is to load 5000 barrels of flour and 30,000 feet of spruce lumber here this week for the United Kingdom. Other crafts listed to take on freight at the Astoria terminals within the coming few days include the British motorship Loch Goil, 100,000 feet of lumber for the United Kingdom; the steamer Dakotan, 16,000 cases of canned salmon for New York; the steamer K. I. Luckenbach, 3000 cases of canned salmon for New York, and the steamer Robin Gray, 100,000 feet of lumber for New York. The Norwegian steamer Erviken, en route from the Orient, is bringing 800 tons of oriental cargo to be discharged here, and the British steamer Canadian Trooper is due this week from Ocean Falls, B. C., with 650 tons of Kraft pulp for Astoria.

TACOMA, July 21.—The Williams Line steamer Willsolo berthed here this morning from New York and is discharging general freight. The vessel will load 1,400,000 feet of lumber.

To load ties for Egypt, the British steamship Atlantic City arrived here Sunday afternoon from the Far East, via Victoria, B. C. The vessel will load about 1,000,000 feet of ties here. She is expected to sail tomorrow night.

The Brookdale is due Tuesday morning at the ocean dock to discharge general cargo from California and later will load grain for California.

The motorship Loch Goil was expected to sail tonight for European ports. The vessel is taking [illegible] lumber and [illegible] bark and this voyage.

The Admiral-Oriental liner [illegible] is due tomorrow to load flour for China. The President Grant is due Wednesday in the Admiral-Oriental service to load at the Tacoma grain dock and the smelter.

VANCOUVER (B. C.) July 21.—Averaging 20.2 knots with a high day average of 20.65 knots, the liner Empress of Asia arrived here at 6:30 p.m. yesterday, breaking the records of herself and her sister ship the Empress of Russia, and coming within four hours of the best time of the Empress of Canada, speed queen of the Pacific.

Tuesday the Pacific westbound passenger conference will meet here, the first time the meeting has ever been held here since the conference was formed two years ago, the meetings usually being held in San Francisco.

The conference will deal with the interchange of passengers, handling of traffic and betterment of accommodations and service.

Taken from Services When Woman Charges Him With Two-Year-Old Fraud

NEW YORK, July 21.—Wallace A. Curtis, 48 years of age, of 331 West Forty-eighth street, has been beating the big bass drum in the Salvation Army Hall at 306 West Forty-eighth street, and now he is in the Tombs.

Curtis was pounding the drum at services when Grace Baumhol of 117 West Fifty-seventh street entered to worship. She got a good look at Curtis and then hurried outside, returning in a few minutes with Detective George A. Ferguson of the West Forty-seventh street station.

"There's the man," she cried above the beating of the drum and the singing voices, in which Curtis was leading, and she pointed to Curtis.

Ferguson arrested him, interrupting the drum beating and the service, and in the Centre street Court Miss Baumhol charged that two years ago, under the name of Richard Bays, Curtis sold her for $300 two lots on Staten Island which he did not own. Curtis was held in $2500 bail by Magistrate Ryttenberg.

Bobbed-Hair Wife, Rebuked, Quits With Boy

ATLANTIC (Iowa) July 21.—She bobbed her hair and he was 30.

So, in a huff about it, he left his home and young wife to go out of town but he didn't expect to find her gone completely when he returned.

He asserts that a slick solicitor for alms for a home for indigent children talked her away from his home after their quarrel, influencing her by displaying two silk dresses purchased at an Anita store.

"I don't blame her much for preferring the handsome young chap," said Speer. "And our quarrel wasn't altogether about her bobbing her hair. She overdrew her house allowance of $25 a month."

CLEVELAND (O.) Feb. 22, 1924.
Mr. S. E. Strong,
Care Strong, Cobb & Co.,
Cleveland, O.

Dear Mr. Strong:—

Your Noburn is certainly a marvelous product. Mrs. Davis and I have used it for the last three or four years, both on summer and winter vacations. We both burn very badly from the sun and wind, but since we have used Noburn our troubles from that source are a thing of the past.

I know no place where one burns so badly as ocean fishing on the Florida coast, yet last winter on several occasions I was out on the ocean all day in an open motorboat with a cloudless sky and suffered no inconvenience from sunburn, having, of course, applied Noburn to my face before starting.

Yours very truly,
EDWARD L. DAVIS,
Vice-President.

Just one application of "Noburn" applied before each exposure and you are sunburn proof. You get the tan, but not the burn. An invisible, odorless, harmless liquid, quickly applied, easily washed off.

Made and guaranteed by Strong, Cobb Co. of Cleveland, who have been in business for ninety years. "Noburn" sold at all good drug stores.—[Advertisement.

OIL INJUNCTION TRIAL DATE SET

Naval Reserve Case Hearing to be October 20

Government Loses Effort to Speed Proceedings

Judge Orders Receivers to Finish Offset Wells

Judge McCormick in the United States District Court yesterday set October 20 as a tentative date for trial of the injunction and receivership proceedings brought by the United States on March 17, last, against the Pan-American Petroleum and Transport Company and the Pan-American Petroleum Company. The suit involves disposition of leases awarded to Edward L. Doheny for the handling of oil in the Elk Hills naval petroleum reserve No. 1.

Wells drilled on the reserve now are being operated by Rear-Admiral Harry J. Rousseau and J. Crampton Anderson, receivers appointed by Judge McCormick.

Setting of the trial date was made after lengthy arguments by Atlee Pomerene, special counsel for the government, and Frank J. Hogan of Washington, and Charles Wellborn of Los Angeles, counsel for the defense. The hearing was on a motion of the government asking that trial of the case be set for September 2.

Before presenting his arguments on the motion, Mr. Pomerene notified the court that the government contemplates filing a somewhat similar action against the Belridge Oil Company, which is operating wells under a lease to a portion of the naval petroleum reserve No. 1, adjoining that portion leased to the Doheny interests. In view of that announcement, Mr. Hogan said, the defendants in the pending action would withdraw a motion that six offset wells be drilled to prevent drainage of the Doheny leases by Belridge wells.

OFFSETS ORDERED

In conformity with a report of Dr. E. A. Starke of Los Angeles and Carl H. Beal of San Francisco, experts named to study the drainage conditions, Judge McCormick has ordered the receivers to complete wells Nos. 3 and 15, which were started as offset wells by the Pan-American companies prior to the appointment of the receivers.

Relative to the theory that wells drilled on land adjoining naval petroleum reserves were enabling private concerns to obtain possession of oil in the reserves, Mr. Hogan declared that whereas it may have been the policy of the government prior to June 4, 1920, to keep the naval reserve supply of crude oil in the ground, after that date the policy was changed in view of the fact that other oil companies were draining off immense quantities of the reserve oil through wells drilled on adjoining land.

Referring to the contracts whereby the Pan-American companies agreed to provide fuel oil and storage facilities for the government at Pearl Harbor, Hawaii, in exchange for royalty crude oil from the naval reserve, Mr. Hogan declared the Pearl Harbor facilities will some day stand as great a monument to the patriotism of Edward L. Doheny as the Panama Canal stands as a monument to the patriotism of Theodore Roosevelt. What Mr. Doheny has indicated his willingness to do in Hawaii, at his own expense, if necessary, will protect the west coast of America against the attack of enemies, Mr. Hogan said.

REFERS TO INDICTMENTS

Referring also to the criminal indictments returned by a special grand jury in the District of Columbia against Mr. Doheny, his son, and Albert B. Fall, former Secretary of the Interior, by whose authority the naval petroleum reserve leases were awarded to the Doheny interests, Mr. Hogan said Mr. Doheny might well consider those indictments as dear to him as would be a distinguished service medal pinned to his breast as a token of patriotic service.

"It has become popular recently in my part of the country to bring indictments against persons who do a public service," he added.

In support of the motion to have the action against the Pan-American companies set for trial September 2, Mr. Pomerene argued that an early trial date was necessary in view of the great value of the property involved. He referred to the fact that Mr. Doheny is said to have made the statement that he expected to make $100,000,000 out of the leases granted to him. The policy of the government had been to conserve the naval oil reserve in the ground, he said, until June 4, 1920, when control of the reserves passed from the Secretary of the Navy to the Secretary of the Interior. After that date, Mr. Pomerene declared, the controlling policy was not one of conservation, but rather one of exploitation.

"The contracts granted by the Secretary of the Interior," Mr. Pomerene said, "were not made to protect the reserves against drainage, but rather to give 300,000 acres of oil land to private interests for exploitation."

CHARGES FRAUD

It was argued that the government never had treated the naval reserves as a commercial proposition, and that an early trial of the case involving the Pan-American leases was necessary to conserve the oil supply in the ground as the government intended it should be conserved. The issue, Mr. Pomerene explained, involves a charge that the lease contracts were not authorized by law, and that they were fraudulently obtained.

The burden of Mr. Hogan's argument was that the civil action should be set for trial after the criminal action, which involves the same defendants and which is expected to be tried at Washington in October, because the testimony of defendants in the civil case could otherwise be read into the government's evidence in the criminal action. Common law procedure and court decisions, he argued, set a precedent for trying criminal actions first when both criminal and civil actions grew out of the same set of circumstances.

Mr. Wellborn argued for a later trial date as being necessary because of the large amount of work required in preparation of the defense. He said the government is preparing airplane photographs of the naval reserve as exhibits in the case. Relief maps and other data being prepared by the defense, he said, could not be completed by September 2. He suggested the case take its regular course which would result in its being continued until November for setting.

JUDGE'S STAND

Judge McCormick explained he must consider the case as being no different than other pending civil cases. Nothing in the record, he said, placed it before him in the light of a criminal action against the same defendants. October 20 finally was set as a tentative trial date, however, in order to accommodate government counsel who will appear in a similar action in Cheyenne, Wyo., involving naval petroleum leases to the Sinclair oil interests.

It was announced by Mrs. Pomerene that the case at Cheyenne had been set for trial on October 7. Mr. Hogan announced he had been notified by defense counsel that a motion for a continuance would be filed in that case.

Mr. Pomerene was assisted yesterday by U. S. Atty. Joseph Burke and Assistant United States Attorney Camarillo.

He was a member of the San Pedro Lodge of Odd Fellows and the Pioneers of California.

He is survived by a widow, Mrs. Sarah P. Weston, and one son, Benjamin P. Weston of Los Angeles. Funeral services will be conducted Thursday at 10:30 a.m. in Garrett Brothers Chapel, burial will be in Inglewood Park Cemetery.

"SLICKER BANDIT'S" PAL LOSES APPEAL

CONVICTION OF MAN ACCUSED AS AIDE IN HOLD-UP SUSTAINED

John Gianello, who was convicted in Superior Judge Moncur's court of aiding Jesse Taylor, the "slicker bandit," in robbing the Huntington Park Creamery on February 5, 1923, lost his appeal to the Second District Court of Appeal, Division Two, yesterday, where the trial court's judgment against Gianello was affirmed.

Attorneys for Gianello petitioned the Appellate Court for a reversal of the judgment on the grounds that there was no evidence to show that Gianello had aided Taylor despite the fact that at his trial witnesses testified that they had seen Gianello, accompanied by Taylor, drive into the neighborhood of the creamery in a small car and later drive away together after Taylor had robbed the store of money, butter and eggs.

Justice Works of the Appellate Court, who wrote the decision, found no merit in Gianello's appeal and ordered the trial court's judgment affirmed. His decision was concurred in by Justices Finlayson and Craig.

EX-WIFE LOSES BALM

Former Husband Sued for Failure to Keep Marriage Pact

The suit of Mary Flavel against her former husband, Harry W. Signor, for $7500 damages because he did not remarry her after an asserted promise to do so, was dismissed by Judge Thompson when she failed to appear when the case was called for trial.

Signor admitted there had been an agreement to remarry, entered into shortly after their divorce. He said he had told her to come out here from Michigan for their second nuptials immediately, but that she delayed her coming, whereupon he felt free to go ahead and marry someone else, which he did. The plaintiff had represented that her delay arose from the necessity of selling Michigan property.

Her claim for damages was based on asserted loss in forcing the sale of this property that she might comply with the demand of her former husband, she said.

ESCAPE AIDES GUILTY

Verdict Against Man Who Fled Camp, and Two Accomplices

A jury in Judge Burks's department of Superior Court yesterday, after short deliberation, found C. V. Clark guilty of escaping from Sheriff Traeger's road camp in Swarthout Canyon and found Henry and Louis M. Dischner guilty of aiding him in the escape. William Vasilear was acquitted by the jury of a charge of aiding the escaped prisoner.

Clark escaped from the camp on April 6, last. He had been convicted of a felony, but sentence had been suspended by the court and he had been sent to the detention camp. Attorneys Blathazar and Judd, defending Clark, indicated they would appeal the case on the ground that Judge Burks lacked jurisdiction since he had once suspended sentence on their client.

WIFE SAYS HUSBAND PROVED A LIABILITY
